Knights Templar Make a Fine Showing in Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Although today's parade of Knights Templar, composed of 30,000 uniformed men and covering 43 blocks, was scheduled to last from 10 a. m. till 3 p. m., none of the knights were in danger of having to forego luncheon, thanks to 100,000 ham sandwiches made last night by 100 men and women for distribution early today. Twenty-five commissary wagons were employed to distribute the sandwiches. Before the sandwiches were loaded on the wagons they were thoroughly inspected by Knight W. W. Evans, city health commissioner.

Parade Starts

A trumpet blazed, a thousand orders were shouted as one out of acres of waving, glistening white plumes, a steady, broad ribbon of gleaming white poured itself out into Michigan boulevard with banners bearing heraldic devices and with cross-hilted swords at shoulder, and there began in Chicago today the greatest parade of Knights Templar ever witnessed in the history of the order. Every knight attending the thirty-first triennial convocation could get into line was there a part of the seemingly endless stream of white-clad, solemnly attired knights, nor did the stream stop at a given point for three hours.

The Right Honorable Henry James, Earl of Easton, cousin of King George of England and most eminent supreme pro-grand master of the great priory of England and Wales, waited beside the line attired in his full regalia as head of the British templary to review the followers of the red cross. Farther on Mayor Busse was saluted and still further Gov. Deneen acknowledged the tribute of flashing steam.

This was the big day of the convocation. Later will come drilling for prizes in which the flower of the knighthood will join in pastime but this day was that on which a half-million spectators stood beside the winding streets while the thousands of knights were on parade. Sixteen grand divisions swept down the line of march, then broke to reconvene in the afternoon in the music hall where the convocation was to be opened, where addresses of welcome were to be delivered by Right Honorable Sir Cleveland, grand commander of Knights Templar of Illinois; by Mayor Busse and Governor Deneen.

Tonight the Earl of Easton will receive invited guests at the headquarters hotel and the different state grand commanderies will hold open house at their various headquarters.

SHOT

Assailant Captured and Gave the Name of Jules James Gallagher---He is a Former
New York City Employee

MAYOR WILLIAM J. GAYNOR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mayor W. J. Gaynor of New York city was shot and probably fatally wounded on board the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Gross as he was sailing for Europe today.

His assailant, was arrested and gave the name of Jules James Gallagher, and his residence as 440 Third avenue, Manhattan.

'At the time of the shooting the mayor was standing on the upper deck talking with Commissioner Thompson.

Mayor Gaynor was carried from the ship on a stretcher and placed in the ambulance of Volk which had been summoned by the police. He was carried to St. Mary's hospital in Willow avenue, Hoboken. When he reached the hospital he was still conscious. He was immediately taken to the operating room.

Three shots were fired, two of which were missed. One struck him in the neck.

When asked why he had shot the Mayor, Gallagher said:

"He deprived me of my bread and butter." Gallagher was taken to the adjacent police station and arraigned.

It is ascertained that Gallagher was employed as a watchman in the department of docks up to June 1st.

Bullet Entered Head

The bullet entered the head just behind the left ear and apparently ploughed its way straight in. The mayor was bareheaded at the time and was standing on the fore part of the cabin deck bidding good bye to friends. The assailant appeared to be ## demented.

According to one report the shot fired struck Mayor Gaynor in the mouth. He was walking on the promenade deck of the steamer when the shot was fired. Detectives were immediately rushed in numbers from Manhattan headquarters to the scene of the tragedy at the Hoboken steamship pier.

Mayor Gaynor and some city officials were standing in a group about to have their photographs taken when the shooting began. Blood spurted from the wound in the neck as the mayor

THE SONDER RACES

Conditions Were Dubious for the Events Today

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 9.—Somebody threw a thick blanket of fog over the sonder aspirants for Spanish-American yachting honors about dawn today and at 8 a. m. it looked as if the yachtsmen would spend the day on the clubhouse veranda instead of at sea. Baker's island foghorn belted out dolefully and off shore was heard the low growl of the coasting steamers. A light easterly breeze kept up the supply of mist from the big fog factory somewhere off Cape Ann and early conditions were particularly dubious for the continuation of the elimination trials.

Yachtsmen spent the hours awaiting for the mist to rise in discussing the results of yesterday's racing in which the Harpoon, owned by C. F. Adams and the Chim, owned by Guy Lowell, finished the two races at the head of their respective divisions and prepared for today's contests with clean sheets. It was rumored here today that the committee might see fit to change the divisions before the eliminations began on Thursday night but the members of the committee were particularly reticent about the matter and no authoritative statement could be obtained.

Both of yesterday's winners are this year's production, as is the Beaver, which finished second in the second division. But the Lady, which was second boat with the Harpoon in the first division, is a 1907 boat and did not even reach the semi-finals in last year's trial races.

"Dick" Boardman, her owner, however, has made slight changes in his boat and now the Lady is looked upon as a dangerous rival, especially as she made a better showing yesterday than the Beaver.

The standing of the yachts before today's race, according to the point score, was as follows:

Chim	0
Lady	1
Beaver	1
Demol	2
Ellen	2
Donive	2
Sally XI	2
Joyette	2

STRUCK BY AUTO

Man Nearly Blind Was Injured

Patrick Flynn, an elderly man who is nearly blind, was struck and knocked down by a big automobile at the corner of Gorham and Appleton streets shortly before six o'clock last night. Owing to the fact that the machine was traveling at a slow rate of speed Flynn escaped with minor bruises and a slight cut on the left temple.

The automobile is a big Packard touring car, belonging to Lyman E. Gordon of Grafton, Mass., and was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and a chauffeur. The machine was coming through Appleton street and just about to turn into Gorham street when Flynn stepped off the curb directly in front of the auto. The chauffeur applied the emergency brake at once but the action of Flynn was so sudden that the machine could not be brought to a stop before it struck the old man and knocked him down.

The occupants of the car got out and carried the man into Moore's drug store, where an examination showed that he was suffering from a slight cut over the left temple and had minor bruises. The cut was bandaged and later he was removed to his home.

The occupants of the car, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and a chauffeur, as once reported to the police station but were not held.

FUNERALS

BADMINGTON—The funeral services of the late Amos Badmington were held yesterday afternoon from his home, 35 Inland street, and were largely attended. Rev. John T. Udon, pastor of the Lawrence Street Primitive Methodist church, officiated. Mrs. John William sang "The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The floral offerings were profuse, including a pillow inscribed "Father" from the family; spray of asters from Mr. and Mrs. David William; spray of asters and sweetpeas from Mr. and Mrs. Emil Woessner; spray of white asters and plums from Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey; spray of lavender and white asters from Elmer P. Mooney; spray of sweetpeas and asters from Mr. and Mrs. Perry Mooney; spray of plums and sweet peas from Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brown; spray of plums and sweetpeas from C. H. Howell; spray of sweetpeas from Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stoughton, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Buckley and Miss Ellen Berry. The bearers were Messrs. David William, Emil Woessner, Perry Mooney and John D. William. Burial took place in the family lot in the Edison cemetery, where the committal service was read by the Rev. Mr. Udon. Undertaker William H. Saunders had charge of the funeral arrangements.

WELCH—The funeral of Mary Elizabeth Welch took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, George P. and Catherine Welch, 43 Cross street. There were sprays of flowers from Mr. and Mrs. Michael Welch. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertaker Peter H. Savage.

WILSON—The funeral of Daniel E. Wilson took place yesterday morning from the rooms of Undertaker Peter H. Savage. Burial was in the Edison cemetery.

"JOKER" IN BILL

Law Grants Delay in the Big Land Cases

REVERLY, Aug. 9.—A vigorous prosecution to reclaim title to a vast amount of Indian land in Oklahoma is being planned by the department of justice for the coming autumn.

One of the principal actions in prospect is to overcome the effect of an ingenious "joker," which was written into the Indian appropriation bill just before that measure was handed to the president for his signature.

The "joker" was discovered by Solicitor General Bowers, but it was agreed between the president and Mr. Bowers that it was too late to send the bill back to congress and that a means of offsetting the joker could be devised.

This "joker," which is now a law, granted the right of appeal to the U. S. supreme court in a case involving more than 20,000 Indian contracts, which had been decided in favor of the government by the court of appeals of the eighth circuit.

As the matter had been taken into the circuit court on a demurrer the defendants had no right to appeal to the U. S. supreme court.

Delay Means Millions

It is the belief of the government officials that the authority to appeal was sought not with any idea that the case might be won in the court of final resort, but simply to gain a delay of a year or 18 months.

This belief is based on the fact that the lands involved are practically all coal and oil lands and every day that passes they are being stripped of these natural resources as fast as the coal can be mined and oil pumped.

A year and a half delay means millions to the claimants.

The plan to offset this move by the possessors of the land is to apply to the U. S. court in Oklahoma for a receiver for the lands just as soon as the autumn term begins. In this way the court will exercise full control over all the operations and secure the benefits to the final successful litigants.

Prominent Persons Involved

Investigating the contracts by which it is claimed the Indians have been defrauded of lands granted to them by the government, it is said, that the department of justice officers have unearthed a startling condition of affairs involving many well known persons, which will come out fully when the cases are heard.

The government is fighting the case for the Indians and once they are reclaimed it is proposed to throw further protection out to them if congress can be prevailed upon to do so.

The defendants in some of the actions that are pending have offered untold millions to be paid by the government.

In the first place they claim that having granted the land to the Indians, the government has no constitutional right to restrict this land. The court of appeals decided against this claim, however.

Knows Sherman's Views

It is now claimed in another case that the Indians have been granted citizenship and have become citizens of the state and congress has no right to act respecting them.

The government is preparing a novel answer. It will be claimed that while Indians may have been granted the right of citizenship under the United States they do not become citizens under the 14th amendment, which will make them citizens of states, and therefore congress still has authority over them.

The 14th amendment provided that

POPE'S EFFORTS STAY HAND OF CATHOLICS AND THREATENED "UPRISING" IS AVERTED

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 9.—

Despite the threats of the Carlists the troops have been able to maintain order here, and, while many arrests have been made, the worst of the trouble is believed to be over. Catholics are extremely indignant at the government's repressive measures, as they claim that the demonstrations planned were not Carlist uprisings, but were arranged to show the disapproval of the people to the orders of Premier Canalejas, who so far has had the closest support of King Alfonso. General Weyler's assignment to command of the troops in this district is taken to mean that the government does not intend to allow the uprising to succeed. The Catholics here believe that the efforts of the pope to settle the entire matter will prove successful and that the end of the controversy is in sight.

AUTO HITS CAR

Three Injured in the Accident

STOCKBRIDGE, Aug. 9.—An automobile driven by Dr. H. W. Luchinsger of Housatonic and containing Charles M. Hayden of Housatonic and three children, Helen and Caroline Luchinsger, the doctor's daughters, and Jack Cook, a daughter of S. A. Cook of Glendale, ran into a northbound Berkshire trolley car at the McBurney crossing at 11:50 o'clock yesterday morning.

All the occupants were thrown out of the automobile, the three girls being tossed 15 feet over a high fence upon a putting green of the Stockbridge golf course. Hayden received a probable concussion of the brain. Dr. Luchinsger's hip was sprained and he was cut on the head and body. None of the children was badly hurt, although all three received bruises.

The auto struck the forward end of the trolley car with such force that the car fender was carried away. The automobile was ruined. Motorman Fred Finney and Conductor Harry Hawkins were in charge of the car. Mrs. Albert Daniels, a passenger on the car, jumped off when she heard the crash and her back was injured. The car took fire from the gasoline. A bucket brigade was formed and saved the car.

SENT TO PRISON

Man Found Guilty of Robbery

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—On the charge of robbing Dr. Antonio Vranos, a physician of Grace hospital, of $12 in the Fenway on the night of June 24, James P. Crombie, 22 years old, of Brookline, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Sanderson to the state prison for a term of from 10 to 12 years.

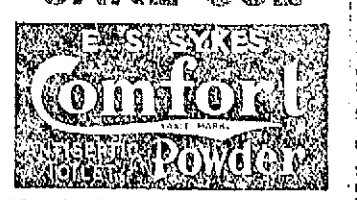

Dr. Vranos was sitting on one of the seats in the Fenway with a young woman named Margaret Gavin when two men approached and assaulted him, taking the money from him. He at once went to the street, and hearing a car went to station 12 and made complaint.

When his return to the Fenway Patrolman Flaherty accompanied him and other officers followed in the patrol wagon. In the meantime Crombie's associate made his escape. When Flaherty reached the spot he called upon Crombie to stop, and after he had fired several shots, Crombie stopped and was overhauled.

He was indicted for robbery and also for assault with serious intent, but the latter charge was placed on file and on the robbery charge, to which he pleaded guilty, he was given the sentence announced above.

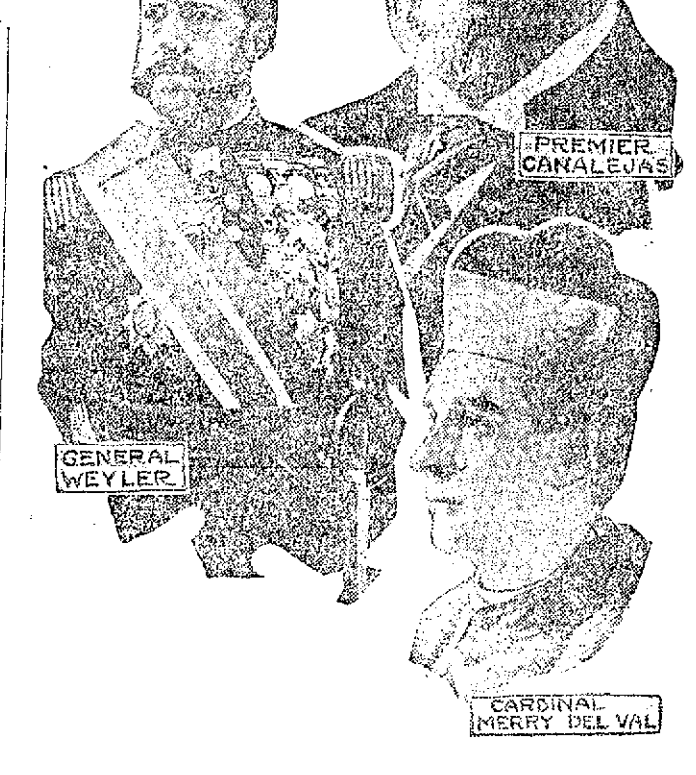

This court also sentenced his offense to the fact that he was in bad company. Judge Sanderson said there was no theory that would justify him in looking upon it as anything but a serious case.

FIGHT WITH SHARK

Man Engaged in Battle for Six Hours

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—After swimming for six hours in the hot sea fighting with a sharp-pointed dirk he carried in his belt, a fisherman, a local fisherman on the Buckham line-ship Kabinaga, was rescued by the British steamer Trafalgar Hall and returned to his vessel at noon.

Carried by the boat of the engine room or by a notice drum, which is used by the fisherman, the man found himself over the side at midnight on night. Capt. Smith ordered the engine stopped and a search was made for the man, but without avail. He was then up for help and the steamer proceeded to his aid.

At 6 a.m. the following day the captain of the Trafalgar Hall had his attention called to a disturbance in the water directly ahead of his vessel. His marine glass showed a shark fighting a man on the surface.

The shark was seen first in the direction of the man and soon had him on board, the shark swimming away as the steamer approached. Syed had been in the water six hours, and he was almost exhausted, although he was able to keep off the shark by jabbing him with the side of his dirk.

The Kabinga ran through the worst monsoon her officers ever experienced with the Arabian sea. For five days she was in the grip of the worst storm, and was nearly sunk in heavy storage way. Her decks were constantly flooded, and some of the deck fittings were smashed. Capt. Smith said that by a half-inch coating of salt where the waves broke all over the ship.

Syed was asked today about his experience, but he only shook his head. The seaman, who is in charge of the fisherman, said he couldn't speak English.

POSTAL SERVICE

SUBJECT OF CONFERENCE OF ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Twelve men who have much to do with the administration of the postoffice of the country were yesterday engaged here in discussing possible improvements in their branches of the postal service.

They are the assistant superintendents of the divisions of salaries and allowances and come from various parts of the country. Their work requires them to travel over the country and investigate the workings of postoffice with a view to improving their administration.

This is the first time these officials have been brought together here in annual convention. Postmaster General Hitchcock, called the conference to discuss with his policy of having the men engaged in the same line of postoffice administration work exchange ideas.

Mr. Hitchcock proposes to have conferences of this nature among the higher officials of the department at least once a year.

Financed for Selling Cocaine

Remington is a native of Woburn and has been employed on newspapers as a linotype operator. Five years ago he began to use drugs, according to the statements he made to the police. Now, he says, he is unable to get along without them. His body is a mass of perforations as a result of many morphine injections.

In November of last year he was arrested on the complaint of agents of the Watch and Ward society for selling cocaine. A municipal court justice fined him $50, and being unable to pay he was forced to remain in jail for three months. His health improved while he was in custody and he left the jail weighing 140 pounds. Yesterday he weighed but 107 pounds and is but a shadow of his former self.

Associate Medical Examiner Watters and Chief Dugan one week ago both finally declared that Sorokian was a suicide. Yesterday Chief Dugan, figuring the state charge might be wishing to get into the limelight through the press, questioned him concerning what he had read relative to the Harrison avenue mystery. The police could not shake the story of Remington.

Remington lived at 20 Ash street, a short distance from the store of the man he claims to have killed. He was a photographer and measured at police headquarters yesterday afternoon and his life. He had no quarrel with Sorokian, he declared. He went to his shop to sell a revolver that he might secure money to purchase drugs. He said and while there the revolver, which he was exhibiting, was discharged several times.

Remington and his police guard arrived at the North terminal station in Boston at 1:15. Desiring to experiment with a new camera, he took the scene of the tragedy, which the police heretofore have claimed was a suicide, but which the relatives of the dead man have insisted was a murder.

When the party was within a block of Sorokian's little shop Dugan asked Remington if he knew where the store was and the latter walked ahead of him, pointing it out.

Entering the store Remington calmly re-enacted with a "dummy" pistol the scenes of nine days ago that ended in the death of the storekeeper. The man, who insists that he is a murderer, recalled his conversation with the storekeeper, indicated where Sorokian stood when he shot him and the position he took himself when he exhibited the gun and when he shot.

Dugan and Mitchell stood by absolutely silent as Remington reviewed the incidents that have caused him great mental pain and after he had described to them the type of revolver which he used his description tallied with that of the weapon found in the store after the shooting of Sorokian was discovered, he was taken to police headquarters and formally placed under arrest.

Certain statements that Remington made will be investigated, Chief Dugan said, for purposes of corroboration. There are several persons, including a boy named Charles Grederick, who saw a man running away from the store of Sorokian immediately after the shooting, who will be asked to look at the man in custody.

WOMAN IS HELD

Larceny Case Puzzles the Manchester Police

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 9.—The Myrtle street $1700 larceny case took on new proportions yesterday, when, following the arraignment of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berry and their being held in $3500 each for the grand jury, a third party, the mother of Mr. Berry, was locked up on suspicion of being an accessory after the fact.

Another sensation came in the revelation that the reason for Mrs. Mary Atwood's possession of $1700 hidden in her sleeping apartment was her desire to take one-half of the government pension from her soldier husband on the understanding that she was entirely dependent upon him for her support. The case is one of the most complicated the police have handled in a long time.

Henry Berry and his wife, Angeline, were arraigned charged with larceny of $1700 from Mrs. Atwood, and through this counsel entered a plea of not guilty and waived examination. Bail was fixed at $2500 each, and when no sureties were forthcoming, they were booked for jail to await the sitting of the September grand jury.

Meanwhile, Berry's mother, Mrs. Mary Jennie Berry, of 42 Church street, had been brought to the station on suspicion. After Berry's alleged confession he took Detectives O'Dowd and Hampton to his mother's home on Church street to show them where the money was hidden, and after burrowing in the sand in the cellar bottom, procured a bundle amounting to $500 in $10-bills. Later the police found $40 at a place designated on the west side and another $10 in the Church street place, but $150 of the amount Mrs. Atwood claims was stolen is still missing.

THE STATE CENSUS

Supt. Gettemy Expects Work to End On Sept. 1

Charles F. Gettemy, supervisor of the Massachusetts census, last evening issued the following statement explaining the delay in making public the Massachusetts figures as told in a Washington dispatch in yesterday morning's paper. Supervisor Gettemy's explanation is as follows:

"The statement in the Washington dispatch to the effect that the Massachusetts figures are being withheld to accommodate the state in some of its own statistical work, means only that the census office has wisely allowed the supervisor of Massachusetts to adopt such methods in checking up the work of the enumerators as the experience of our state census has demonstrated to be desirable.

"The Massachusetts district is the largest district in the whole country under the jurisdiction of one supervisor, which means that the supervisor of this state is responsible for more population and the supervision of a larger number of enumerators than any of the other 330 supervisors in the United States, and is obviously impossible to complete a large job as quickly as a small one.

"The census figures for Rhode Island, for example, which were announced some time ago, were based upon the work of, I believe, about 312 enumerators in that state, whereas we had more than 400 in Boston alone and a total of over 1800 in the state.

"The majority of supervisors throughout the country, indeed, I believe, have had not more than between 200 and 300 enumerators under them. Probably at the time the census figures were announced for Rhode Island the examinations of the work of a corresponding number of enumerators, or more, in Massachusetts had been completed, but they were for districts scattered all over the state.

WAY TO CHECK IT WITHOUT USE OF KNIFE

Previously cured of a cancerous growth I have been chosen to do my share to help stamp out this awful disease.

I have been given some little books by the one who cured me and told to distribute these books to all needy persons who are looking for the means of checking any cancerous growth.

I have nothing to sell—simply know what has been done for me, and how sincere and honest an effort is being made to reach those now suffering from cancer.

When you write me I will send you without cost one of these books. It shall make no further effort to interest you simply letting it rest with you after reading this book whether you want to investigate the means of reaching good health and escape the surgeon's knife. I feel that an appeal such as I am making today will do more than thousands of dollars spent in fating advertisements. I believe you will help show me I am right by communicating with me.

many cases by further comparison with assessors' lists and in Boston with the police lists. There are, furthermore, about 200 officially listed institutions of various kinds in the commonwealth—hospitals, jails, insane asylums, etc., which must be properly checked up, and this particular branch of the work has involved numerous complications which had to be straitened out, due to the fact that in some cases enumerators did not understand that they were to count the population of these institutions; and this, of course, had to be obtained before the population of a given district could be regarded as complete.

Expects to Finish Sept. 1

"If all the supervisors had to do was to forward the schedules to Washington as rapidly as the enumerators sent them in upon the normal completion of their field work and only a count of the names as actually returned were involved, the announcement of results would be a very simple matter and could be made almost immediately; but the supplementary field and clerical work necessary to make sure that the enumeration has been complete as possible, and the incidental clerical work necessary to putting the schedules into proper shape for tabulation before being shipped to Washington is, it will be seen, if carefully and conscientiously performed for the more than 1900 enumeration districts of the 33 cities and 331 towns of Massachusetts, something of a job.

"About 70 clerks have been pushing this work forward to completion as rapidly as possible, under the supervision of trained experts in census work. The heaviest part of this is now over; most of the portfolios have been shipped to Washington, but there still remains a considerable amount in the aggregate of cleaning-up work to be done here and there.

"In every census there is always a certain number of districts in which peculiar difficulties have arisen which must be straightened out before the work is in condition to be finally accepted, and while the great bulk of work in Massachusetts, so far as the supervisor is concerned, has been completed, it is obvious that so long as the portfolio of a single district in any given city or town is not in condition to forward, the population total for that city or town cannot be given out at the census office. The work is thus of such a character that while there are numerous unavoidable delays which temporarily impede its progress, it reaches a culmination very quickly, making it possible to complete the totals for a very large number of communities almost simultaneously.

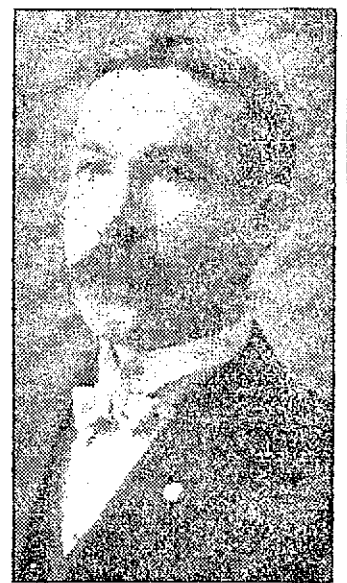

"If I can get the last of the few remaining portfolios of the 1936 Massachusetts districts sent to Washington by Sept. 1 I shall be very well satisfied. This, I believe, will mark the completion of this stage of the census work in Massachusetts at a much earlier date than has usually been the case in the past, which has generally not been until late in the autumn or winter following the actual enumeration."

JOHN C. ROURKE

Honored by Members of Div. S, A. O. H.

Division S, A. O. H., held an interesting smoke talk and social in Hibernian hall last night in honor of their president, John C. Rourke, who has returned as a delegate from the national A. O. H. convention which was held in Portland, Oregon. There was a large attendance and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner.

One of the features of the evening was the presentation to President Rourke of a substantial purse of money showing the esteem in which he is held by the members of the division. The presentation speech was made by John W. McEvoy and President Rourke responded with appropriate remarks, thanking his brethren for their kindness.

Other presentations were made during the evening. Miss Della Conway, of the Ladies' Aux. to the A. O. H., who was one of the most energetic workers during the recent bazaar given by the division, was presented a gold ring and Mrs. Patrick Sheridan, who also rendered valuable assistance at the bazaar, was presented a gold locket and chain.

After the presentations there were several addresses, among the speakers being Hon. James B. Casey and James O'Sullivan of this city; William J. Burke of Somerville, and Mrs. William J. Burke, state president of the A. O. H. Ladies' Auxiliary.

President Rourke gave a most interesting account of the national convention, which, he said, besides being most enjoyable, was productive of many excellent results.

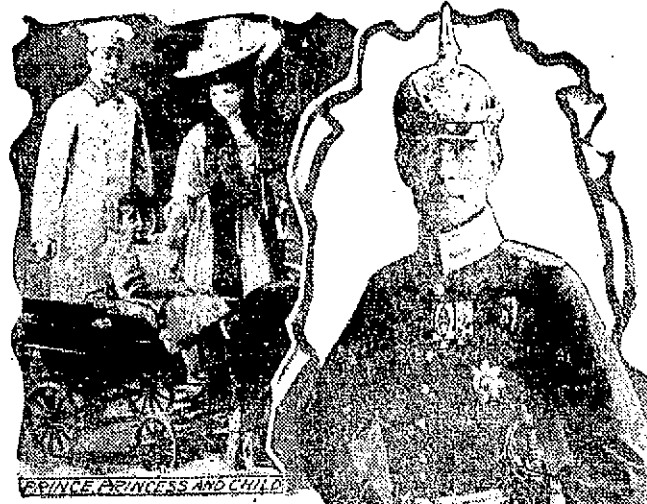

In the business session, presided over by Daniel F. Reilly, vice president, arrangements were made for the coming state bazaar and convention.

GERMANY'S NEXT EMPEROR PLANS TOUR OF THE WORLD SOON

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Crown Prince Frederick William is to soon start on an official tour of the world, going first to India, China and Japan, as the personal representative of his father, Emperor William. Arrangements have been made for the receipt of the heir to Germany's throne in India through port and visit all important parts of the British foreign office. The complete program for the royal trip has, will not accompany him, it is now said, not been made up, but it is practically the mode of travel, whether it be by sea or land, that Prince William will enter war vessel or regular passenger steamship, the United States from a Pacific coast port, has not been announced.

CANNOT ENTER SALOONS

DENVER, Aug. 9.—An order was issued yesterday by the local fire and police boards prohibiting Salvation Army women entering saloons to solicit aid and sell their literature. The order is based on the theory that the practice is demoralizing as the girls are thrown into temptation.

GILLIS AFTER THE RECORD

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—John Gillis, a policeman of Vancouver, B. C., who is to take part in the national all-round athletic championships at Marshall field next Saturday, arrived yesterday much disappointed at Martin Sheridan's failure to enter as it was reported in Vancouver that the eastern star would participate.

Gillis is six feet four inches tall, weighs 170 pounds and is 26 years old. He is the tallest athlete entered. In a recent trial of ten events Gillis came within a few points of the record.

STATUE OF REED

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 9.—The pedestal on which will be placed the statue of former Speaker Reed is now in position on the western promenade and in a short time the bronze statue will be placed on it. In a few days the final details for the unveiling of this memorial on August 31 will be completed. The officers of the Memorial association are quite sure President Taft will be present but he has not as yet formally accepted the invitation.

James Thatcher, who plays the role of "the westerner," pleased, as did Florence Farr, who also had a good part. Other members of the company who were good were Dan Harold, Jack Rowe, Ben Johnson, Bob Lee, Francis Williams and Mrs. Dan Harold. Matinees are given every day except Monday at 2:30; evenings at 8:15. Seats in advance can be secured at Carter and Sherburne's drug store.

CHELMSFORD

The residence of R. B. Barbour in High street, Chelmsford Centre, was entered by a burglar some time Sunday night, but so far as can be learned nothing was taken. The visitor apparently being in search of money, for silver and articles of value lying about were left untouched.

The contents of drawers and desks were overhauled and papers disarranged in the search. The occupants of the house heard unusual noises during the night, but the cause was not learned until morning.

NORWOOD CLUB RAIDED

LYNN, Aug. 9.—After watching the rooms of the Norwood club at 89 Willow street for a long time from the roofs of neighboring blocks, Officers Crowley and Sears of the Lynn police last night jumped open a rear door and arrested ten men on a charge of being present where gambling implements were. One man, who said he would jump out of the window, was persuaded to change his mind by the officers.

The apartment, which is in reality a flat, was stripped of its pool tables and all its furniture, valued at about $500. The raid was made at 9 o'clock, and up to a late hour friends of the arrested men were trying in all ways to get bail for them.

RAINFALL CAUSED FLOODS

TOKIO, Aug. 9.—A torrential rainfall that continued today has caused devastating floods principally in Shizuoka province on the southern coast. Hundreds of houses have been submerged and one occupied by a number of students in the province of Shizuoka was buried with its tenants beneath a landslide.

Washouts along the railway lines are reported and several trains have been derailed as a consequence.

NOTORIOUS BURGLAR ESCAPED

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 9.—An automobile was heard to pass the county jail just before midnight last night and Sheriff Dowey entertains the belief that this was the vehicle used in aiding the escape of Timothy A. Shedy, the notorious burglar. The prisoner was under a thirty years' sentence, but as there is no room for more prisoners in the state prison he was being held in the county jail. Shedy cut the steel bars of his cell, made his way through the corridor toward the north end of the prison and then passed through the hospital. There James Carroll, a short term prisoner, had sawed the bars from a window and both between the rounds of the watchman made their escape. Before the street was reached a ten-foot fence was scaled. Shedy is a very dangerous man and had served long terms in various prisons. He was armed with an automatic revolver when arrested here.

THREE OF THE LEADING CARS MEN ENTERED IN NATIONAL EVENT

Some of the choice races appears to be a foregone conclusion here. Shepherd and Fuesed of the Harlem Rowing club will row in the senior double scull and at present are the favorites for the event. It is also said that they will compete in the senior single scull race. The other races will be won by the same men in action in the winter. He has just returned from Italy, where he was defeated in a mighty close race for the international diamond sculls. Durando Miller of the N. Y. A. C. has also entered, and O'Neill of Halifax, N. S., will row. The Argonauts, the head- ing boat club of the Dominion, will be represented by the Vespera of Philadelphia and the Potomac of this city. Fall River did great work all things considered. Butler is out of the game with a bad hand and the team is otherwise crippled. With Tommy Devine an outfielder on third base and M-Lutye, a pitcher on first base, they gave Lowell two of the best games of the season.

That first game was as pretty a pitchers' battle as one would care to see. After a couple of bad innings in which Tyler got down to business and pitched right edged ball. On the other hand Harry Wornwood never appeared to better advantage than he did yesterday. He cut out the middle innings and delivered the goods and the winning record of 10 chances without a run, a walk, a hit, a strike-out.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reid, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary PublicThis is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.The directors of savings banks are becoming more and more watchful of their clerks, tellers and treasurers. There is a reason. This belated vigilance will do no harm.To throw a man out of work, or to refuse him employment, simply because he is a member of a labor union is a form of tyranny that is only equalled by the tyranny which would prevent a man from earning a living because he refuses to join a union and pay tribute to the same. One is as bad as the other, look at it whichever way you please.

CONDEMN THE FIRE TRAPS

There are a number of buildings on our principal streets that should be torn down and rebuilt because of their unsightliness if for no other reason. But the cost of construction is yet too high to justify any very extensive rebuilding except where old structures have become unsafe for habitation and are a menace to adjoining property. When building material reaches a lower level we look for very extensive building alterations in our principal thoroughfares which will follow as a matter of investment. But there are a few tumbled down, rotting, ramshackle structures right in the very heart of the city that should be condemned.
Not only are they unsightly, but they are dangerous; and they are saturated with filth and disease germs. They are little better than nuisances, because of the odors emanating from them, and worst of all, they are fire traps that threaten good property in their immediate vicinity.

These eye sores are well known, and no one knows them better than the superintendent of public buildings, who has power to condemn them.
We would not for a moment suppose that our worthy superintendent of buildings is influenced in the least in the discharge of his duty by the fact that most of these tumbled down, ill-nerving, ramshackle fire traps are owned by men of wealth and influence. Not at all. He is simply waiting for time to get around to a proper consideration of these cases, and then we have no doubt he will issue an order to either put these ramshackles into modern and habitable condition, or tear them down as menaces to health and adjoining property. But we do hope he will see the point before it is too late.

THE GRAND OLD CITY OF SPINDLES

After all Lowell is a good place in which to live. We may lack some of the wonderful things that other cities in the world possess, but we still have a great deal to be proud of. If the men who persist in saying that Lowell is played out; that she has seen her best days; that she is all in, would stop and think a little they would change their tune. Instead of belittling their city they should start in to sing her praises.

Lowell is a good place for business. Store rents are extremely low considering the size and population of the city, and people are noted for paying their bills in Lowell as a rule. We have fewer of the so-called dead beats in Lowell than you will find in any other manufacturing city in the country. Then Lowell is a good labor market. Our employees are intelligent law-abiding, of good average morals, and generally willing to work for fair wages. Furthermore, we are comparatively free from needless labor troubles.

No city in the country has a better system of drainage than we have right here in Lowell. This is made possible by our excellent system of canals, and the proximity of two big rivers. Our drinking water taken from driven wells is pure and wholesome. We have good fire protection, as our fire department has been considered for years one of the models of New England. Food is cheap and good in Lowell. In fact one can live cheaper in Lowell than in any city of its size in the country. We have some good public parks already, and our park system is developing at a rapid rate.
No city in the world has a better trolley system than we have and few cities equal it. The fares are cheap, the rides are long, and the service is good. Lowell is an excellent railway centre. Goods can be shipped from this city without breaking bulk to any part of the United States. The suburbs of Lowell are beautiful. Within five minutes' ride or fifteen minutes' walk from Merrimack square, in almost any direction one finds himself in the midst of the most beautiful country scenery. Two grand rivers meet in the center of Lowell. Both are beautiful and historical, while one has an industrial record in its trip from the mountains to the sea that is hardly equalled by any other river in the world.

Our schools are the equal of any in the country. We have a police department that compares with the best of its class anywhere. The city is healthy, it is clean, and its people enjoy a reputation for intelligence, culture, good morals and obedience to the laws. We never suffer from the serious industrial depressions that come to many other cities. Although we are confined to but few industries yet the products of Lowell find a ready market because of their world-wide reputation. When newer and less experienced localities find it hard to secure orders, Lowell sells her entire output in the markets and employment is generally steady for all who want to work.

We have fine churches and public buildings, wide awake merchants, public spirited men, and the loveliest women in all the world. Last but not least we have the best newspapers of any city of its size in the country.

Then why should men go out of their way to say an unkind word of the grand old spindle city?

Young men stop and ponder. Before concluding to take a chance in green fields far away, don't shut your eyes to the prospect of success which the city of spindles offers to every well disposed man who is willing to work and to make the most of his opportunities. Lowell is not in the experimental stage, neither is she in a state of decline. She will be flourishing and famous when some of the boom cities of which we now hear so much are gone to decay. She was great before they were thought of, and she will be greater still after they are forgotten.

SEEN AND HEARD

Did you ever observe how many little incidents of the street may be applied as examples of the larger scope of life?
Here is an example and the application to the more important things of life is so obvious that it needs no explanation.
Only a day or two ago the pedestrians on Merrimack street were amused to see two dogs running down the street.
Ordinarily there is nothing unusual or amusing in such a common incident, but the circumstances in this case were peculiar. One of the dogs was a Great Dane of almost gigantic size, and he was trotting very quietly down the street, apparently with his mind fixed on some destination, and untroubled by anything that was going on around him. Close behind the big dog ran a little one, whose size was in about the same ratio to that of the Great Dane as the extent of a South American Republic to that of the United States. The smaller dog was barking furiously at his gigantic friend, and evidently on the idea that he was driving him before him in an ignominious flight. But he found out this mistake when the big fellow met a man he knew and then apparently nothing for the first time that the little one was trying to worry him, with a gentle push of his head sent the piny dog rolling across the pavement. That ended the pursuit then and there, and the barking for the small dog had found his real place, as many a man and nation has done before him.

Eleonor, aged six, had been going to school only a few weeks. She had learned to raise her hand if she wanted anything. One day she put this into effect when she was sent to the chicken house to get the eggs.

Just as she reached the chicken house door her mother heard her say,
"All you chickens that have laid an egg, raise your hands."—The Delinquent.

"Joseph," said his mother, reprovingly, "I should think you'd be ashamed to be in the same class with boys so much smaller than yourself."

"Well, mother," replied Joe, "I look upon the matter a different way. I gather. It makes me feel fine to see how proud the small boys are to be in the class with a big boy like me."

Considerate Mother—"I'm awfully sorry I knocked you down—hope you aren't hurt. Now, what can I give you?"

"Yukel—Well, um, how much do we generally give?"—The Elite.

"THE HAND THAT SAUTES"
They say this world is round, and yet
I often think it square;

So many little hurts we get
From corners, here and there.

But one great truth in life I've found.

While journeying to the west—
The only folks who really would Love these who love the best.

Love does not grow on every tree.
Nor true hearts yearly bloom.
Alas, for those who only see
This truth across the loam!

But soon or late, the fact grows plain.
To all, through Sorrows' test,
The only folks that give us pain
Are those we love the best!

Two young ladies boarded a crowded trolley and were obliged to stand.
One of them, a steady herself, took hold of what she supposed was her friend's hand. They had stood thus for some time, when, on looking down, she discovered that she was holding a man's hand. Greatly embarrassed, she exclaimed:

"Oh, I've got the wrong hand!"
Whereupon the man, with a smile, stretched forth his other hand, saying:

"Here is the other one, miss."

BURGLARS BUSY

Home of Ex-Rep. Luce
Ransacked

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—Patrolman Taylor while going his rounds last night discovered that the house of ex-representative Robert Luce at 110 Highland avenue, Somerville, had been broken into and ransacked and robbed.

Ex-representative and Mrs. Luce have been away a week on a vacation and as the police do not know where they are they were unable last night to communicate with them.

It is feared that the burglary is an extensive one, for there was much of value in the house. The thief gained an entrance by forcing open a cellar door and then after getting into the cellar he went to the kitchen door, saved on a panel and turned the key and opened the door.

The burglar evidently took his time and ransacked the rooms, closets, trunks and sideboard.

Patrolman Taylor sent word to the police station and Lieut. Carter and Sergeant Ray joined him and together they went through the house and found it in a disordered condition.

The police were unable to determine what had been taken, but they feared that the burglary must have been an extensive one and they made the house secure and sent an officer to guard it.

An effort will be made to communicate with Mr. Luce and have him return and furnish the police a list of the property that is missing.

FORGERY CHARGE
Made Against 19 Year Old Youth

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 9.—After two weeks of high living in the red light district of Bangor, Adello Smart, 19 years old, of Bangor, Maine, was arrested last night on the charge of forgery.

The police say that they have evidence that Smart passed at least four checks, negotiating about $100, his method being to make a small purchase and present a check, taking the balance in cash.

Smart confessed to two complaints and said that he was ready to "take his medicine." The checks were all on the Millinocket Trust company and purported to be signed by Ruth Bros., a well known Millinocket business house.

Smart came to Bangor on one of the checks which was signed by Ruth Bros.
& Arostook, a Bangor merchant who is one of the complainants. Smart says that he spent the money in having a good time. Upon his person was found a check made out like the others.

HE WAS HELD UP
Man Says He Lost Money and Watch

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—A. W. O'Brien, a member of the New York athletic club, with R. L. Griffin, one of his employees, was returning from a trip to Providence by automobile last night.

"We had just reached the top of the hill on the outskirts of Troy," said Mr.
Griffin yesterday, "when a man appeared in the middle of the road waiting a lantern to lead me. I stopped while the chauffeur brought the car to a stop."

"Stop, gentlemen, you will greatly oblige us by stepping down and handing us your money," was the startling invitation that came to us from behind the only looking revolvers, so we started to step down. That is what Mr.
O'Brien did. The chauffeur made a daring leap for one of the highwaymen and rolled over to the side of the road with him and succeeded in wresting his gun from the hand, but he took to the woods. Mr. O'Brien also ran for help.

"I was left alone with the highwayman. They took my pocketbook, which contained $50, and my dollar watch.
They also took a valuable diamond ring which I had on my finger. After searching me they tried to escape with the automobile, but somehow the car would not work or to me, so they left me and went on a short run down the road and disappeared in the woods. Mr. O'Brien soon arrived with five men and a policeman, but no trace of the robbers could be found."

BILLS HELD UP
Because They Were Not Itemized

Two bills were held up by the committee on accounts at a meeting held last night. Both bills were from the school department. One was on account with G. C. Prince & Son, and called for $115 for kindergarten supplies for twelve schools. The other bill was from P. S. Baldwin and amounted to $224.10. It was for the purchase of curtains in schoolhouses. The bills were held up because they were not itemized and the committee returned them asking that they be itemized before being again presented.

RECEIVERS ARE NAMED
TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 9.—Upon application of Louis K. Amy, Ernest J. G.
Amy and the Continental Trust company, all of New York, Judge C. G. in the United States district court here yesterday appointed Herman R. Barnham of Trenton and Frank P. McDermott of Jersey City receivers for the American Lumber products company, which the petitioning creditors claim is insolvent.

The concern is a large manufacturer and dealer of lumber and has plants in Illinois, Ohio and Michigan. The petition states that the company has declined in the payment of its interest on its bonded indebtedness in both July and August.

The company was organized in 1905 with a capital of $1,000,000, but was later reorganized and the capital reduced to $500,000.

RESTELLI SUSPECT

Made Good His Escape at St. Georges Bay

QUINCY, Aug. 9.—A good part of yesterday was spent on the Restelli case in an effort to find out "Who is Griffin?"

Griffin appeared in the case Saturday night, when he sent a telegram to Mayor Shea and Chief Inspector Watts of Boston, stating that Restelli was in St. Georges Bay, and was so convinced that escape was impossible, Griffin asked that instructions be wired him.

Mayor Shea sent the telegram to Chief Barrett and the latter wired Griffin to get in touch with the police of Sydney and also wired the police there to cooperate with Griffin.

The police here didn't know who Griffin was, but they weren't taking any chances of letting Restelli get by.

Later additional telegrams were sent to both Griffin and the chief of police, but no answer was received until yesterday. Yesterday morning Griffin replied that the Sydney police would not cooperate with him and that the suspect left Sydney for Port aux Basques on the steamship Bruce at 10:30 Saturday night.

Chief Barrett was not willing to believe that the Sydney police refused to cooperate with Griffin in so important a case as Sydney asking what had been done about the pursuit of Restelli. Yesterday afternoon Chief Duncan McCarruth of Sydney replied:

"No pursuit of Restelli that I know of. No information about him here except Griffin said he was on train with him Friday night."

Just before this telegram came Griffin telegraphed Chief Barrett, saying:

"Sydney fully lost says: 'Someone is having a joke at expense of Canadian and American police.' Later they will find the joke serious. Call up Chief Duncan, Lynn, Mass. Have Chief
Duncan confer with James Connelley as to character.' Respectfully, 'Griffin.'"

Chief Barrett was glad to get the tip as he had been puzzled since Saturday to find out who his correspondent was.
The chief communicated with the Lynn police, and from them learned that Griffin is a Lynn man who had done work in liquor investigations for the department. It is presumed here that Griffin may be on a vacation trip to Quebec and thought he saw Restelli on the train.

The authorities here say it is evident that there is some feeling between Griffin and the Sydney police about the case.

It is also believed, from Griffin's last telegram, that the Sydney papers are criticizing Griffin, and the latter has suggested to Chief Barrett that he look up Griffin's character in Lynn.

The man who was suspected by Griffin got away Saturday night after the Sydney police got the first telegram from Chief Barrett. The steamship Bruce arrived at Port aux Basques, N.
B., at 6:30 Sunday morning. A train from Port aux Basques left at 6 o'clock and arrived at St. Georges Bay at 12:15
p. m., and from there all trace of the man suspected by Griffin was lost.

The U. S. consul at St. John's, N. F., was wired to get the cooperation of the Newfoundland police in an attempt to find out who this suspect is. The police of the larger places in Newfoundland were sent circulars last week containing photographs and a description of Restelli.

No word was received yesterday from Inspector McKay, who has been in New York since Saturday, and it is supposed he is following a clue which he suggested in a telegram Sunday. Inspector McKay is working with the Italian-speaking detective of the New York police and Sunday he believed he was on the right track.

LAWRENCE A BERMEN

Ask Court Aid In Order to Get a Mayor

LAWRENCE, Aug. 9.—One more effort to straighten out the majority situation in this city caused by the conviction of ex-Mayor William P. White to serve three years in the house of correction on a charge of conspiracy to bribe, was taken by the board of aldermen last night when they passed an order asking City Solicitor Daniel J. Murphy to apply for a writ of mandamus compelling acting Mayor Thomas M. Jordan, chairman of the board, to call a session of both branches of the city government for the purpose of electing a mayor.

Jordan has been serving as acting mayor since Mayor White's incarceration and subsequent resignation. Under the circumstances the city government must elect a successor, and a city statute says that no member of that body can be a legal candidate for the mayor.

Jordan has so far failed to call a meeting to elect a successor to ex-Mayor White.

JORDAN TO EXPLAIN

LAWRENCE, Aug. 9.—Acting Mayor Jordan last night declined to give to the board of aldermen his reasons for ignoring the vote requesting him to call a session of the lower branch of the city council to hold a joint convention for the election of a successor as mayor to William P. White, resigned.

Alderman Moss, who raised the question, did not press the subject further than to ask if the acting mayor intended to give his reasons. The latter said that he would when he considered the proper time had arrived.

BROKE THE RECORD

Wonderful Son of Bingen Made Fast Time

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9.—The New England-bred trotter Uhlman made the return of the grand circuit to North Randall a memorable occasion by turning the golden oval yesterday afternoon in 2:01, driven by his owner, C. K. Billings.

The wonderful son of Bingen performed this record-breaking feat in his trial against the wagon record in the open for trotters, which he set at 2:02 1/2 last month. Not only did Uhlman clip a second and three-quarters off the mark for a four-wheel hitch, but he equaled the fastest mile ever made by a trotter not following pace, and served fair notice that before the season is over he will beat two minutes.

The figures tell that the horse, day and track were good, but there have been record miles made under better conditions. The track was very hard, lacking a cushion to make it as fast as it was a year ago, and there was considerable of a breeze when the black flyer hit the backstretch.

It had blown hard all the afternoon, and there was some surprise when Uhlman appeared on the track for his warming up sales. The spectators in the grandstand would not have been disappointed with an announcement that the trial was off. In fact, they rather expected it. But when Doc Tanner stepped his pet through the stretch in 30 seconds at the end of a 200 yard preliminary, everyone settled down for a sensational mile.

Soon after 5 o'clock Tanner brought the champion out for the light against time. He scored him down once, then turned him over to Mr. Billings and took the mount behind the runner that was to act as prompter.

On the first score the word was given with Uhlman out in the middle of the track. Mr. Billings bore over to the rail and at the eighth was as close to the inside as possible. The watches showed 30 1/4 as the sweet moving trotter reached the quarter.

On the backstretch the mare fairly flew, covering the quarter in 29 1/4 and making the half in 59 1/4. He was at the three quarters in 1:30 1/4 and came into the straight for home with the same beautiful stride that he marched away with.

The last end of the mile the clip was fast, but there was no city line up, the new record maker finishing with his legs under him and his neck stiff.

The time by quarters—30 1/4, 29 1/4, 30 1/4, 30 1/4—tells that it was a well rated mile and Mr. Billings was congratulated as much for his driving as for owning such a grand trotter.

The Uhlman that the public saw yesterday is not the Uhlman they knew a year ago. Age has brought much beauty, and now there are no unsightly elbow joints or leg protection of any sort, excepting a pair of light quarter boots forward.

A perfect type of the American trotter is what Uhlman is now, and there is hardly a man who witnessed his fast yesterday afternoon that will dispute the assertion that he is the fastest trotter that has yet appeared.

Uhlman is the 6 year old gelding by Bingen, 2:06 1/4, out of Blonde, by Sir Walter Jr., 2:18 1/4, bred by Arthur H. Parker, Shawheen River farm, Bedford, Mass. As a 3 year old he was sold to his breeder, Charles Sanders of Salem, Mass. Last September Mr. Sanders sold him to Mr. Billings for $35,000.

He was broken and developed into a faster than 2:15 3 year old by his breeder and Eddie McGrath, trainer at Shawheen River farm. With McGrath he won the 2 year old fall, making him in 2:07 1/4 as a 3 year old and in 2:03 1/4 as a 4 year old. Since the first of last October he has been in the hands of Charles ("Doc") Tanner.

The racing, which turned out to be much more interesting than expected, had a New England flavor. Walter Cox winning the slow trot with Vezora, a grandchild of Keweenaw, bred and owned by W. B. Lockwood of Sharon, Mass.

Vezora won in 2:15 1/4, 2:13 1/4, 2:12 1/4, making the last quarter of the mile in 2:14 1/4. The New York mare had a poor lot of grand circuit years to turn, a trip and repeat in 2:14 1/4 making them look common.

Ross K, the grandson of the former New England sire, Constantine, that went such a flashy race at Detroit, came very near to going down yesterday before the king of the trotters, Maj. Mahan. McMahon's champion was a top-heavy favorite and he gave his followers the chills twice in the race, first by losing the first heat in 2:02 1/2 to the Major, and then in the third by having to come to a hard drive to stand off his rival's rush at the finish.

The talent received a real sound thrashing when Nancy Royce failed to land the 2:10 trot, which Tassel, owned by Harry K. Devereux, president of the association and the man responsible for the new track, won in the splendid time of 2:06 1/2, 2:06 1/4, 2:07 1/4.

This was a pretty race to watch, the finishes being close and well driven, and the horses well matched. Before the start Nancy Royce was counted better than a 2:05 trotter, but she has the excuse of too hard a track for her failure to make good.

WOOD ALCOHOL

Said to Have Been Put In Whiskey

PROVINCETOWN, Aug. 9.—Several sailors of the battleship fleet are reported critically ill aboard the hospital ship Solace as a result of having imbibed whiskey containing wood alcohol.

Two persons who are alleged to have said that the liquor have been summoned to court today. The arrests were the result of a raid conducted by Lieut. Sellers of the Michigan, in which 36 quarts of whiskey were seized.

For several days past a large number of men of the fleet have been given shore leave each day and several of them returned to their ships so ill that they required medical attendance and in some cases had to be removed to the hospital ship at once.

The officers of the fleet took the matter in hand and it is said learned that the men had been drinking whiskey, a sample of which they secured and found to contain wood alcohol.

As the town authorities took no action, Lieut. Sellers was dispatched to conduct a raid on a house in the outskirts of the village, where it was said the men got the liquor.

A number of the men are said to be in a critical condition on the hospital ship and may not live.

HAS BEEN LISTED

Marine Recently Fell Heir to $75,000

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 9.—Frank J. Vredenburg, a marine recruit, who fell heir to $75,000 and purchased his discharge a month ago, has been ordered to court today. The charge is that he will be transferred to the marine barracks, Mare Island, Cal.

Private Vredenburg, who is said to represent the ideal type of the American marine, asked that he be transferred to San Francisco to enable him to keep in touch with his property interests there.

He declared that he intends to remain in the marine corps until he is retired on a pension, as he likes the life, which keeps him free from temptations that usually beset the young man who suddenly acquires a fortune.

A month after his discharge, Vredenburg inherited a fortune through the death of his father. He bought his way out of the service to enjoy his fortune, which consisted of real estate near San Diego. One month of idleness sufficed and Vredenburg decided that he could serve his country and also look after his property at the same time.

OBSERVES 92D BIRTHDAY

PITTSFIELD, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Catherine E. Royce of 653 North street observed her 92d birthday yesterday. Mrs. Royce was born in New Ashford and spent her early life there. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kent, who owned and ran one of the largest stock farms in western Massachusetts.

In 1860 she moved to Iowa and married John Royce, later going to Nebraska and lived there 17 years. Her husband died in 1879. Her sight is exceptionally good and she spends most of her time reading. She has two sons, Milton Royce, living in Cleveland, and Charles H. Royce in Wyoming. She now lives with her brother, Henry K. Kent.

QUEER TANGLE

In Democratic Ranks in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 9.—The most remarkable political situation in the history of the democratic party in Texas exists since the result of the recent primaries was made known. O. B. Colquitt, the victor in the primary battle, was named through the activity of the anti-prohibitionists, while a majority of the delegates chosen to the state convention are in favor of state wide prohibition. The question of the platform on this subject makes the situation quite interesting, for the people have voted in favor of Mr. Colquitt, making the action of the state convention delegates almost mandatory. He cannot possibly ignore or run on a platform endorsing prohibition, and yet that is just what the delegates promised to do. It is a situation which has never before arisen in Texas politics.

Developments of a startling nature are not only possible, but, in the opinion of many well informed and close observing people, they are highly probable. Of course some peace-maker who is equal to the momentous occasion may arise and quiet the threatening disturbance before it gets to the point of a volcanic outbreak, but at this time there seems to be little chance of any peaceful solution of the problem.

CRIPPEN'S MAIL

Held Up by the Jail Officials

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.—Letters and telegrams addressed to Dr. Crippen are accumulating at the jail, but he is allowed to receive and answer only the cable messages from Arthur Newton, his London attorney, relating to the preparation of his defense at his approaching trial for murder.

Fully a dozen letters and as many messages have been reached the prisoner, because Jailor Morin had judged them improper to deliver to a man in Crippen's situation.

All are from the United States or Canada, and most of them from attorneys, but at least one or two are enclosed in dainty square envelopes and addressed in distinctly feminine hands.

Inspector Dew returned to Quebec yesterday after a sightseeing trip in central Canada. He visited the jail yesterday afternoon to carry Crippen a cable message, but did not see the prisoner. Like other messages it did not pass the censorship of the jailers and its contents have not been revealed.

During his absence the Scotland Yard inspector was not so successful as he hoped in preserving his incognito and his opinion of American newspapers does not improve. He expressed it freely when he found reporters still on the watch here, but otherwise he was uncommunicative as ever.

For the first time since her arrest, Miss Leneve asked yesterday for something to read. The jailer sent her some magazines. A fresh batch of magazines was also sent to Crippen, who reads omnivorously.

THE TAX RATE

Reduction of 10 Cents in Boston

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The assessors last night officially announced that the tax rate for 1910 was to be $16.40, of which $2.40 will be for the state, $1.10 for the county and $12.90 for the city. Of the $12.90 for the city, $3.64 will be for schools.

The total of the tax warrant was $22,557,610.42, of which $17,514,084.74 will be raised for the city, $1,499,948.92 for the county and $3,543,576.76 for the state.

The total valuation of real estate in the city was $1,115,983,100, which was a gain of $26,337,100 over last year. The total personal was $274,776,323, which was a gain of $15,430,000 over last year.

WOMAN DENIES

THAT SHE STOLE MONEY FROM MAN

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 9.—Miss Minnie White of Roxbury, Mass., young and arrayed in the latest style of summer outing gowns, denied in court yesterday that she had hypnotized Francis Parsay of 13 Pleasant street, Lonsdale, and so stealthily transferred $100 of his cash from his pockets to her own possession that he failed to realize his loss for some time after.

The car was overturned, throwing both men and clear of the car, they escaped with slight bruises. Before either could do anything to prevent the gasoline tank became heated and exploded, and in a flash the car was in flames and quickly destroyed.

An automobile party driving along the road stopped and went to the assistance of the two men and immediately ran their car back to box 563 and sent in an alarm. The firemen had a long run, as the scene is near to the Newton line.

At the point where the accident happened, Ward street makes a rather sharp turn to the right and it is said that instead of taking this turn Mr. Sheehan kept his car straight ahead, with the result that it crossed the road and dashed into the field.

The police, sent in the scene from station 13, did not reach there until after the automobile had been destroyed. The man who was with Sheehan is not known. Both claimed not to have been injured beyond a few bruises.

BALDWIN HELD

Money Order Theft Is Charged

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The Boston post-office inspectors attach a good deal of importance to the arrest of William Baldwin, aged 30, at Greenwich, Conn., where he is charged with the theft of six blank money orders from the post-office at Remford, Conn.

The inspectors say Baldwin has several aliases, including William Walter Clay, Bonner Claudwick and C. W. Wilson.

The inspectors say Baldwin secured the money orders two weeks ago. They say he sent one to Shaver, Crump & Low of Boston, the order being for $100, and directed the firm to send him a gold watch valued at $35, a diamond ring valued at $30 and a watch chain at $15, making a lot of $100.

The goods were sent and according to the inspectors were received by Baldwin. The firm recovered the watch, but the ring had been sold.

According to the inspectors Baldwin sent another order to a large department store on Washington street, Boston, asking that a suit of clothes, a traveling bag, shoes and various other things be sent him, amounting to the total of the order he had sent. The inspectors say Baldwin forged the name of the postmaster at Remford to the orders.

The second order he had sent to him at Stamford, Conn., but by the time the goods arrived the inspectors, whose suspicions had been aroused, were also on hand. Baldwin had gone to Greenwich.

Inspectors Hodel and Gapp were on the lookout for Baldwin. The Boston office was also worked up by inspectors Perkins and H. W. Robinson.

Meanwhile the officers say Baldwin had sent to Daniel Lowe & Co., at Salem, another postoffice order, but the firm misunderstood the order and wrote to the sender for further instructions. Before an answer was received they learned that the order was bogus.

When arrested Baldwin said he had lived at 127 Prospect street, Cambridge, but the inspectors say there is no such number on the street.

Baldwin will either be brought to Boston for arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Hayes, or taken to Hartford and there arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Marvin.

BIG CONVENTION

LOWELL WILL BE REPRESENTED BY DELEGATES

The French-American people of this city are very much enthused over the convention of Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique, which will open on Labor day.

A question which is being talked about, pro and con, is that of the official adoption of the Carillon or Sacred Heart flag to replace the French tricolor in the turning out of the union councils.

The Lowell delegates to the convention are: Joseph A. Pronk for Carillon council; substitute, F. X. Dufort; Pierre A. Brousseau for J. N. Jacques council; substitute, Elphage Beaudet; J. B. Blouin for Laval council; substitute, Omer Forest.

WESTFORD

The members of the Spaulding Light Cavalry association have perfected their plans for their annual reunion and outing which will be held this year at Westford Centre Thursday, Aug. 11.

The Chelmsford band will furnish music for the day, beginning with a concert at 10:30 a. m. The members will hold the annual meeting at the association building on Boston road at 11:30 for the election of officers for the coming year. Dinner will be served at 1:15 p. m., being furnished by the men of the Putnam club.

In the afternoon the committee, on sports has arranged a good program, which will take place on the Whitney playground.

NARROW ESCAPE

Two Men Near Death at West Roxbury

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—James F. Sheehan of 39 Union park street and a man who was riding with him had a narrow escape from serious injury, a death about 9:40 last evening, when Mr. Sheehan's automobile left the roadway on West street, West Roxbury, can over level ground a distance of about 15 feet and then dashed down a decline, finally bringing up against a stone wall.

The car was overturned, throwing both men and clear of the car, they escaped with slight bruises. Before either could do anything to prevent the gasoline tank became heated and exploded, and in a flash the car was in flames and quickly destroyed.

An automobile party driving along the road stopped and went to the assistance of the two men and immediately ran their car back to box 563 and sent in an alarm. The firemen had a

GAYNOR SHOT

fell to the deck. Officer Fitzgerald, one of the guards of the North German Lloyd line, was standing near at the time. He had in his hand a small police club with which he hit the assassin a blow on the head, felling him to the deck. The man was seized by officers. In the scuffle his hat fell off disclosing the initials "H. O. M." Throughout the struggle the man retained a pipe in his hand.

Meantime there was intense excitement on the deck of the steamer. The mayor's secretary lifted the stricken executive to his feet and with the assistance of others carried him to a stateroom.

Later he was conveyed to the hospital.

The revolver used by the assassin was found to contain four empty shells.

Mayor Gaynor's Words

As Mayor Gaynor was being borne by his friends he remarked simply: "Say good-bye to the people."

At the city hall it is believed that Gallagher is the man who had been noticed loitering in city hall party for several weeks, apparently trying to see Mayor Gaynor. The attendants at the city hall however prevented the man reaching the mayor.

Mayor Gaynor's administration, which began on Jan. 1st last, had been so drastic in his reforms and he had condemned so many persons and parties in such strong terms that he became the subject of many threats.

In municipal circles he made many bitter enemies and a number of powerful political organizations were uncompromising against him.

Several months ago an armed visitor at the city hall was found trying to approach Mayor Gaynor and he was removed.

Going on Vacation

Gaynor was sailing on the first vacation he has had since taking office on January first. He has been at work from fourteen to sixteen hours a day and imperatively felt the need of a rest. In order to keep out of reach of the affairs of his office it was his intention to avoid all the European cities and to take a jaunt through the North sea through the coast of Norway. He expected to be absent about one month.

Mayor Gaynor was rather secretive about his preparations for the journey which was so tragically interrupted.

To friends who saw him at his office yesterday afternoon he said his principal object was the sea trip and he had no intention of visiting the continent or stopping in any of the larger English cities.

"I want a rest," he said, "I may go to Sweden and possibly to Denmark." He added that he desired to be as near as much as possible after the hard work of the past seven months and to get himself in condition for many problems that faced him on his return.

EX-PRES. ROOSEVELT IS SHOCKED AND HORRIFIED

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt sent the following telegram to acting Mayor Mitchell as soon as he heard the report of the shooting: "I am shocked and horrified beyond measure. Please send me information." (Signed) "Theodore Roosevelt."

THE MAYOR'S ASSAILANT WAS OF QUIET DISPOSITION

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Sophia Johnson who keeps the rooming house at 110 Third avenue where Gallagher lives, when told today that her boarder had attempted to kill the mayor, exclaimed: "The old fool; what did he do that for?"

Mrs. Johnson described Gallagher as a man of retiring demeanor, over 50 years old. He evidently had employment as a night watchman for it was his custom to go out every night at 10 o'clock and return at half past eight in the morning.

Gallagher, according to Mrs. Johnson, came in at half past six o'clock this morning and went to his room.

HEAD-ON CRASH

Eleven Persons Killed and Twenty Were Injured

IGNACIO, Cal., Aug. 9.—Disobedience of orders, according to railroad officers, on the part of a conductor, was responsible for a head-on collision between a passenger and a work train on the Northwestern Pacific last night that took a known toll of eleven lives and resulted in the injury of about twenty. The unidentified bodies of three others are reported to be under the wreckage.

The smoking car of the passenger train was telescoped by the engine of the freight and aside from those members of the train crews who were hurt all of the killed and injured occupied the smoker. With the exception of 22, whose names have been obtained were Californians, most of them residing in the towns along the railroad upon which the wreck occurred. The most seriously injured of the wreck victims were taken to San Francisco. George Flaherty, conductor of the freight train, who is accused by Gen. Supl. Palmer and other officials of violating telegraph instructions to remain in the Ignacio yards until the passenger train had passed, thus causing the smashup, is in a state of complete collapse today and is unable to make a statement.

The worktrain consisted of a caboose and two flat cars. Coming down a branch from the Santa Rosa valley it was switched to the main line here and continued toward Sausalito whence the passenger train was speeding toward Santa Rosa. Two miles south of Ignacio, on a reverse curve, the two trains crashed together. Shunting the engine of the passenger train aside, the worktrain locomotive plunged into the smoker and baggage, completely telescoping them. The other cars of the passenger were undamaged and their occupants escaped with a vigorous shaking up.

Prightful havoc was done in the smoker. Passengers scrambling out of the rear cars and running forward beheld a fearful spectacle. The headless trunk of a man lay beside the tracks and from the windows of the smoker protruded the useless bodies of two others.

The engineer of the passenger train, Robert Reynolds, jumped from his cab. The baggage car sprawled like a husk atop the smoker, partly enveloping, but through the windows the rescue party could see the shivering injured and the silent dead pinned under overturned seats.

Frank Meyers of Petaluma ran to Ignacio to summon aid. Wrecking trains were sent out and physicians and nurses from various points up and down the line hurried to the scene on special trains and in automobiles. Many of the injured are thought to be overthrown.

Charles Leblanc and Mary Frechette who were arrested in a house in Middlesex street Friday night by Sergt. Clark, Ryan and Patrolman John H. Clark, and who Saturday morning entered a plea of not guilty, changed their plea to guilty this morning and their attorney, Edward Tierney, pleaded with the court for clemency for his clients. The court found the pair guilty and fined them $50 each.

Non-support Case

Donis A. Pendergast, who was arrested yesterday afternoon by Inspector Martin A. Maher for a warrant charging him with neglecting his wife, entered a plea of not guilty after the complaint had been read and said he was ready for trial, but the government was not ready and the case was continued till Thursday.

Drunken Offenders

Joseph Fontaine, charged with being drunk, was sentenced to five months in jail. Thomas Nolan received a sentence to the state farm. Thursday Desmond and Albert W. Traversy were fined $2 each and one first offender was fined $2.

The arrival of a surgeon from New York, who was hastily summoned. Meantime the mayor remained calm. His chief difficulty came from the gathering of blood in his throat.

The attempt to assassinate the mayor caused intense excitement throughout New York. The pronouncement of the city executive in recent months in city affairs and to a growing extent in state and national affairs attracted widespread attention and alarm at this attempt on his life. Everywhere the news was received with evidence of profound regret.

In all public places, the hotels, clubs and saloons, the attempt on the mayor's life was the absorbing topic. One of the first dispatches of condolence came from ex-President Roosevelt expressing horror and indignation at the crime.

MURDER CASE

Against George Genakos Was Continued Until Friday

George Genakos, who is charged with murder, it being alleged that he caused the death of Aristides Georgopoulos by shooting him a week ago Saturday night, in the vicinity of Suffolk and Ford streets, was brought into court this morning for a preliminary hearing, but by agreement of counsel for the defense and the government the hearing was continued till Friday morning. He was remanded to jail without bail.

NIGHT EDITION ONE MAN KILLED

Another Dying in Street Fight in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—One man was killed and another mortally wounded in a street fight in which about fifty shots were fired at Seventh avenue and Twenty-eighth street at 10 o'clock last night.

The dead man was Isaac Cohen. He died on the floor of the West Thirtieth street police station before the police could learn his surname or get any coherent statement from him. Later Herman Cohen, of No. 115 Norfolk street, identified him as his brother.

The injured man is Charles Ledwith, 35, of No. 366 Seventh avenue, a truckman. He was taken to Bellevue hospital, where it was said he probably would not live until morning. Ledwith was shot through the back, the bullet penetrating his lung. In his pockets were found a revolver with every cartridge exploded and twenty-eight other cartridges ready for use.

The cause of the fight could not be learned. It was witnessed by a large crowd, among whom was the Duke de Montperisier, who was being shown about town by Police Lieutenant David Wilbur, of the Central office. Wilbur made the arrest of Ledwith.

The neighborhood was in panic until nearly midnight. Inspector George McClusky took personal charge of the investigation of the affair and sent a detail of policemen to maintain order. McClusky feared there would be another clash.

The police suspect that the fight was over a woman. Ledwith, according to his wife, had been drinking for several days and was in an ugly frame of mind. He went out last night armed, and evidently looking for trouble. With a dozen or more of his friends he went to Seventh avenue and Twenty-eighth street and stood at the southwest corner.

Cohen came along with several friends about 10 o'clock. Ledwith drew his revolver and opened fire. Witnesses declare he never stopped firing until the gun was empty. Then he reloaded several times and kept up the fusillade. Cohen was quick to return the fire. He and his friends drew their guns and blazed away. There was an uproar in the neighborhood. The street was crowded with pedestrians, who rushed wildly for shelter. They dashed into doorways and around corners in a mad scramble to dodge flying bullets.

A running fight was kept up for about ten minutes. Ledwith, though wounded, kept firing, and his friends did likewise. The Ledwith crowd was finally routed, and Ledwith started to run down 28th street toward Eighth avenue. He had gone only a few hundred paces when he ran into the arms of Lieut. Wilbur.

As Wilbur was about to catch Ledwith by the collar the man fell unconscious. His friends scattered. A great crowd gathered and several persons pointed out Cohen to the police. Cohen was making off, but his wound was so serious that he could not run. He was trying his utmost to run away when Central Office Detective Talt placed him under arrest.

Lieut. Wilbur telephoned for the reserves from the West 30th street station. The police took several men to the station as witnesses, though the prisoners stoutly maintained that they knew nothing of the affair.

Ledwith and Cohen were taken in a patrol wagon to the West 30th street station. There Cohen collapsed. Two ambulances were summoned from the New York hospital, and one, with Dr. Baker in charge, from the Bellevue hospital. Dr. Baker made a hasty examination of Cohen and declared it was not worth while taking him to the hospital. Cohen died while his case was being discussed. Dr. Baker then examined Ledwith, and found that his wound was fatal. He took him to the hospital. Besides his wife, Ledwith leaves two small children.

Cohen remained unidentified for about an hour. Then Herman Cohen called at the station house and declared the dead man was his brother Isaac, who kept a billiard parlor somewhere uptown. The address Herman did not know. While Herman Cohen was in the station house he pointed to Charles Dubeller of 307 West 28th street, saying: "That man knows something about this shooting." Dubeller was immediately placed under arrest as a witness.

SECRETLY WED

WALTHAM COUPLE WERE MARRIED IN JUNE

WALTHAM, Aug. 9.—Through the filing with the city clerk here yesterday of a marriage certificate Waltham society learned for the first time of a secret wedding of two popular young people. The marriage occurred on June 22 last and was performed by the Rev. George S. Hamilton, pastor of the First Universalist church in Everett.

The contracting parties were Gertrude Snow Sparrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sparrow of Weston street, and a graduate of the Waltham High school of the class of 1907, and Cedric Grant Chase, a graduate of the Waltham High, class of 1906.

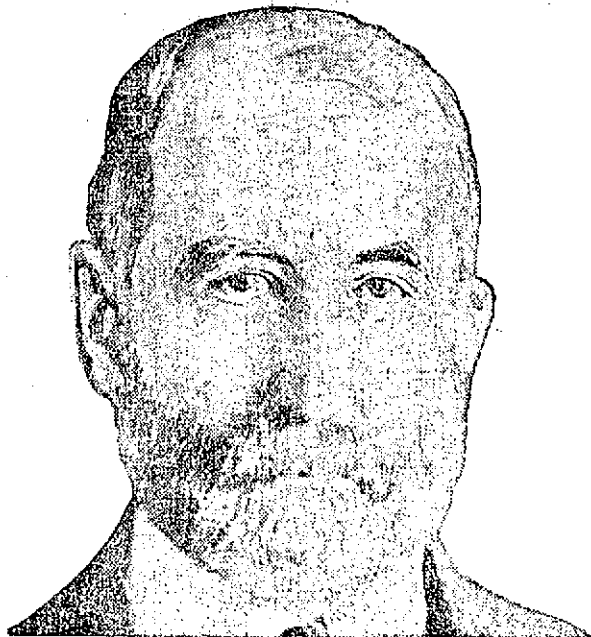

Since the wedding both have been living with their parents. Chase was well known as an athlete during his High school course and is now engaged in the photo-development business here. Mrs. Chase was the class historian at her graduation and the leading lady in the class play, "The Rivals."

SHOT

Assailant Captured and Gave the Name of James Jules Gallagher---He is a Former
New York City Employee

MAYOR WILLIAM J. GAYNOR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mayor W. J. Gaynor of New York city was shot and probably fatally wounded on board the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Gross as he was sailing for Europe today.

His assailant, was arrested and gave the name of James Jules Gallagher, and his residence as 440 Third avenue, Manhattan.

At the time of the shooting the mayor was standing on the upper deck talking with Commissioner Thompson.

Mayor Gaynor was carried from the ship on a stretcher and placed in the ambulance of Volk which had been summoned by the police. He was carried to St. Mary's hospital in Willow avenue, Hoboken. When he reached the hospital he was still conscious. He was immediately taken to the operating room.

Three shots were fired, two of which were missed. One struck him in the neck. When asked why he had shot the Mayor, Gallagher said:

"He deprived me of my bread and butter." Gallagher was taken to the adjacent police station and arraigned.

It is ascertained that Gallagher was employed as a watchman in the department of docks up to June 1st.

Bullet Entered Head

The bullet entered the head just behind the left ear and apparently ploughed its way straight in. The mayor was bashed at the time and was standing on the fore part of the cabin deck bled in good bye to friends. The assailant appeared to be

demented.

According to one report the shot ship pier. Mayor Gaynor and some city officials were standing in a group about to have their photographs taken when the shot was fired. Detectives were immediately rushed in numbers from the Manhattan headquarters to the scene

THE CITY COUNCIL

Meetings of Both Branches to be Held Tonight

Resolution That Lowell Citizens be Given Preference on City Work — Appropriations Committee to Hold a Session This Evening

There will be meetings galore at city hall tonight. Both branches of the city council will meet; the aldermen will hold an adjourned meeting and the council will meet in special session. The special session of the lower board is called for the purpose of cleaning matters up for vacation. Neither of the boards will meet again, perhaps, until September.

Councilman Charles E. Donahue of ward four is a firm believer in the employment of local labor and just for that he will introduce the following resolution at tonight's meeting:

Resolution relating to employment of laborers and mechanics on municipal work.

That it be the sense of the city council that in the employment of laborers and mechanics on any municipal work, heads of departments should give preference to citizens of Lowell, and that in contract work, heads of departments should take every reasonable measure to require, wherever possible, that Lowell citizens be given preference when laborers and mechanics are employed.

Councilman Chapman will probably introduce an order for $10,000 as a starter for the Shedd park. Mr. Chapman believes, with many others, that it is best to start the Shedd park work as soon as possible as it will require years to complete it.

Councilman Chapman will also introduce an ordinance providing for signs on municipal autos. The ordinance will stipulate that the words "City of Lowell" must be worn on the hood, together with the name of the particular department and that the signs must be at all times displayed.

The appropriations committee will meet this evening and it is expected that some action will be taken relative to the proposition for a new pump for the Centralville pumping station, about which so much has been heard within the last few days. It is generally conceded that it is up to the committee on appropriations to do something.

The committee will have before it an order for $10,000 for the rebuilding of the Congress and Billerica street bridges and the $20,000 order for the widening of the portion of Lawrence street near the Wamsut canal and the rebuilding of the bridge over River Meadow brook.

Calls for Assistance

Owing to the fact that most of the mills are on short time, and that a great many are out of work, the calls for aid at the office of the board of charities are on the increase. The drain on the dispensary, however, is not as great as during the hot weather when so many children are ailing. It was stated at the office of the board of health today that Lowell's physical condition is all right. No contagious diseases have been reported for several days.

Marriage Intentions

WORK IS STARTED

On the Lowell-Lawrence State Highway

The vanguard of the workmen who are to build the state highway connecting Lowell with Lawrence has arrived on the scene, consisting of a large crew of Italian laborers, who immediately upon their arrival proceeded to construct rude camps just below Varnum's Landing. The work of clearing away and excavating has begun and the dream of years among the people living along the river between Lowell and lower Methuen is about to be realized.

N. Y. YACHT CLUB

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 9.—The first of the New York Yacht club fleet to arrive at this port today on the annual cruise of the club were the steam yacht "Lowana," A. V. Arpout, and the auxiliary cruiser "Skyhawk." The fleet has fair weather and a fair wind for the run across the bay from Vineyard Haven, and it is anticipated that the whole of the squadron will be at anchor in the harbor here by 2.30 o'clock this afternoon.

The many friends of Mr. John J. Mahoney, known far and near as "Little Isaac," will be pleased to learn that he is convalescing after a severe siege of illness in a Boston hospital and will return to his home in Bowers street within a few days.

6 O'CLOCK GRAND PARADE

Knights Templar Make a Fine Showing in Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Although today's parade of Knights Templar, composed of 30,000 uniformed men and covering 43 blocks, was scheduled to last from 10 a. m. till 3 p. m., none of the knights were in danger of having to forego luncheon, thanks to 100,000 ham sandwiches made last night by 100 men and women for distribution early today. Twenty-five commissary wagons were employed to distribute the sandwiches. Before the sandwiches were loaded on the wagons they were thoroughly inspected by Knight W. W. Evans, city health commissioner.

Parade Starts
A trumpet blazed, a thousand orders were shouted, a one out of scores of waving, glistening white plumes, a steady, broad ribbon of gleaming white poured itself out into Michigan boulevard with banners bearing heraldic devices and with cross-billed swords at shoulder, and there began in Chicago today the greatest parade of Knights Templar ever witnessed in the history of the order. Every knight attending the thirty-first triennial convocation could get into line was there a part of the seemingly endless stream of white-bonneted, solemnly attired knights, nor did the stream stop at a given point for three hours.

The Right Honorable Henry James, Earl of Euston, cousin of King George of England and most eminent supreme pro-grand master of the great priory of England and Wales, waited beside the line attired in his full regalia as head of the British templary to review the followers of the red cross. Farther on Mayor Buse was saluted and still further Governor Deneen acknowledged the tribute of flashing steam.

This was the big day of the convocation. Later will come drilling for prizes in which the flower of the knightlyhood will joust in pastime but this day was that on which a half-million spectators stood beside the winding streets while the thousands of knights were on parade. Sixteen grand divisions swept down the line of march, then broke to reconvene in the afternoon in the music hall where the convocation was to be opened, where addresses of welcome were to be delivered by Right Eminent Sir Cleveland, grand commander of Knights Templar of Illinois; by Mayor Buse and Governor Deneen.

Tonight the Earl of Euston will receive invited guests at the headquarters hotel and the different state grand commanders will hold open house at their various headquarters.

THOSE INDIAN LAND DEALS

MEALESTER, Okla., Aug. 9.—Senator T. P. Gore at the congressional investigation of the Indian land deals today introduced and had read to the investigating committee telegrams in which the names of Vice President Sherman and Senator Curtis of Kansas were mentioned. One of the telegrams read:

"With McMurray there to state your claims, with Mr. Curtis and Mr. Sherman who understand better than anybody what we want and with the assistance of our president, it begins to look like we are coming into our own."

This telegram was dated at Kiuta, May 2 last, and was sent to Richard C. Adams, an attorney at Washington, by George Scott, McMurray's agent among the Indians.

Its relations to Senator Gore's charges of having been offered $25,000 bribe to put through congress the $30,000,000 McMurray Indian land deal was explained by the senator:

"It merely shows the activity of the McMurray interests at Washington," said Senator Gore.

"By offering this evidence I do not wish to reflect either on Mr. Sherman or Mr. Curtis," said the senator.

"Do you mean that as an exoneration from you of Mr. Sherman?" asked Dennis Flynn, attorney for McMurray.

"It is merely to state that if the names of these men were taken in vain at one time they may have been at another," replied Mr. Gore.

Another telegram from McMurray at Washington was read. It ordered that McMurray's agent among the Indians sent fifty telegrams urging congress to approve the contracts allowing $3,000,000, "attorneys' fees."

RECONCILED WIFE

Has Again Sued Her Husband

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The details of a "home-coming party" tendered to Mrs. Marie Schwarz last winter after Supreme Court Justice Newburger had advised her and her husband to become reconciled were related yesterday in the supreme court.

Mrs. Schwarz, through her lawyer, again appeared in court to ask for $50,000 alimony pending a new suit for separation. Her husband, Adolph M. Schwarz, is a lawyer, with offices in several cities.

After Justice Newburger declined last winter to give the handsome wife a separation and advised her and "Dear Adolph" as she used to call her husband, to become reconciled, Mrs. Schwarz neglected the advice and immediately went to her husband's residence at 429 West 122nd street.

When she arrived, she declares, a maid showed her to the library. "This is to be your room, madame," she was told, she alleges.

Mrs. Schwarz, however, decided that her husband's bedroom was a better sleeping room, so she took possession. When Mr. Schwarz came home, the court was told, his wife refused to let him enter his room.

"She dropped a bathon over the transom," Schwarz's lawyer explained. "You mean Schwarz smashed the transom himself when he couldn't get in," the lawyer for Mrs. Schwarz interjected.

After Mrs. Schwarz had finally retired to the library and the curtains had been drawn, there came to the Schwarz residence, it was stated, a party of the husband's friends to celebrate his wife's home-coming. The party was "convivial," the court was told, and some of the guests spent their time telling aside the curtains and giving Mrs. Schwarz "the merry ha, ha."

There was some discussion between the lawyers as to whether Mrs. Schwarz came from Austria or France, and there was considerable debate as to whether Mrs. Schwarz is in receipt of an income of $30,000 a year or one-sixth of that amount. His attorney acserted that his client's business has practically been ruined by his matrimonial troubles.

Mrs. Schwarz declares her life was made miserable at her husband's house by the conduct of the servants and others. Once, she alleges, her coffee was tampered with and she became violently ill. She was laughed at when she complained. At another time, she contends, her husband told her to go to Chicago to live, and then wired her as soon as she arrived to come back to New York, as he had changed his mind.

The climax came, she charges, when her husband choked her and then "kidnaped" their 12-year-old son. As proof of the choking she produced in court a photograph which, her counsel claimed, shows the marks of her husband's fingers. She also submitted to the court letters from her son, who is now in a French school. He was placed there, she says, by her husband, who spirited him out of the jurisdiction of the court against her will and the boy's wishes.

Justice Coffey reserved decision upon the application for alimony and counsel fees.

JERSEY PASTOR

ABANDONS EVENING SERVICE BECAUSE OF SKEETERS

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 9.—The pastor of the Union Methodist church, the Rev. A. Boylan Fitzgerald, has never taken much to the idea of summer vacations. He has been holding services regularly both morning and evening and they have been well attended. But for a while the evening service will be replaced by the vesper service at about 7 o'clock in the afternoon until frost comes and drives away the mosquitoes.

For several weeks each Sunday night the pastor has kept the pastor chipping at them while conducting the service. He provided screens for the doors and windows, but the mosquito of 1910 defies screens.

On Sunday it was announced from the pulpit that hereafter until the mosquito season ends the congregation will stand a march on the balcony and get all the cooling effect of the war before he leaves his haunts at the shades of evening fall.

GAYNOR SHOT

fell to the deck. Officer Fitzgerald, one of the guards of the North German Lloyd line, was standing near at the time. He had in his hand a small police club with which he hit the assassin a blow on the head, felling him to the deck. The man was seized by officers. In the scuffle his hat fell off disclosing the initials "H. O. M." Throughout the struggle the man retained a pipe in his hand.

Meantime there was intense excitement on the deck of the steamer. The mayor's secretary lifted the stricken executive to his feet and with the assistance of others carried him to a stateroom.

Later he was conveyed to the hospital.

The revolver used by the assassin was found to contain four empty shells.

Mayor Gaynor's Words

As Mayor Gaynor was being borne by his friends he remarked simply: "Say good-bye to the people."

At the city hall it is believed that Gallagher is the man who had been noticed loitering in city hall park for several weeks, apparently trying to see Mayor Gaynor. The attendants at the city hall however prevented the man reaching the mayor.

Mayor Gaynor's administration, which began on Jan. 1st last, had been so drastic in its reforms and he had condemned so many persons and parties in such strong terms that he became the subject of many threats.

In municipal circles he made many bitter enemies and a number of powerful political organizations were uncompromising against him.

Several months ago an armed visitor at the city hall was found trying to approach Mayor Gaynor and he was removed.

Going on Vacation
Gaynor was sailing on the first vacation he has had since taking office on January first. He has been at work from fourteen to sixteen hours a day and imperatively felt the need of a rest.

In order to keep out of reach of the affairs of his office it was his intention to avoid all the European cities and to take a jaunt through the North sea through the coast of Norway. He expected to be absent about one month.

Mayor Gaynor was rather secretive about his preparations for the journey which was so tragically interrupted.

To friends who saw him at his office yesterday afternoon he said his principal object was the sea trip and he had no intention of visiting the continent or stopping in any of the larger English cities.

"I want a rest," he said; "I may go to Sweden and possibly to Denmark."

He added that he desired to be at sea as much as possible after the hard work of the past seven months and to get himself in condition for many problems that faced him on his return.

EX-PRES. ROOSEVELT

IS SHOCKED AND HORRIFIED

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt sent the following telegram to acting Mayor Mitchell as soon as he heard the report of the shooting:

"I am shocked and horrified beyond measure. Please send me information. (Signed) 'Theodore Roosevelt.'"

THE MAYOR'S ASSAILANT WAS

OF QUIET DISPOSITION

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Sophia Johnson who keeps the rooming house at 119 Third avenue where Gallagher lives, when told today that her boarder had attempted to kill the mayor, exclaimed:

"The old fool; what did he do that for?"

Mrs. Johnson described Gallagher as a man of retiring demeanor, over 50 years old. He evidently had employment as a night watchman for it was his custom to go out every night at 10 o'clock and return at half past eight in the morning.

Gallagher, according to Mrs. Johnson, came in at half past six o'clock this morning and went to his room and his landlady did not see him go out again. He occupied a single room at the rear of the house and she regarded him as a first class boarder. As far as she knew he was not in politics.

He had no friends in the house and his visitors from outside, Mrs. Johnson described as men of good appearance and address.

THE MAYOR'S INJURY

MAY NOT BE SERIOUS

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mayor William J. Gaynor was shot and dangerously wounded at 9:45 o'clock this morning as he stood on the deck of the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse in Hoboken about to start on a month's vacation in Europe.

The shooting was done by a stranger who gave his name as James J. Gallagher, living at 440 Third avenue, New York. He was later identified as a former city employee who had been discharged.

Three shots were fired at the mayor. Two of them missed and the third lodged in the fleshy part of the left side of the neck. Blood gushed from the wound and the first hasty examination led to the belief of serious and perhaps fatal results.

The mayor retained consciousness and later examination by the physicians when the mayor was taken to the hospital gave a more hopeful outlook. Shortly after 11 the following statement was given out by the steamer's physician who attended Mayor Gaynor just after the shooting:

"The bullet entered the mayor's neck in the region of the mastoid bone. As far as our observations so far our opinion the injury is not serious."

Commissioner Shot

It has been learned that Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards was also wounded but not seriously by one of the bullets fired at Gaynor. Edwards was standing by the mayor, seized Gallagher's arm. One of the bullets pierced through the street cleaner's sleeve and grazed his left arm. The wound, however, was so slight that Commissioner Edwards was not aware of it at the time, discovering it later after the excitement had subsided, when his arm began to pain him.

The shooting occurred under circumstances of most dramatic character. Mayor Gaynor came aboard the steamer accompanied by a number of prominent city officials about to bid him adieu on his trip abroad. The party proceeded to the upper deck and were assembled in a group giving final greetings. Crowds of passengers were about on deck and with friends waving adieu from the pier. The mayor's party had just formed a group preparatory to having their picture taken.

Gave No Warning

Suddenly a stranger pushed through the throng. He approached the mayor and without a word began shooting. The shots rang out in quick succession. Instantly there was the greatest excitement as the shots carried warning and terror to the throng.

Mayor Gaynor was seen to fall to the deck and the rushing wound told that he had been hit. At the same moment a ship's guard sprang forward and dealt the assassin a blow on the head with a billy. The man was struck to the deck where officers seized him. He was turned over to the Hoboken police and taken at once to police headquarters. There he gave the name of Gallagher and in response to inquiries as to why he had committed the deed he replied sullenly: "He kept me from earning my bread and butter."

Meantime Mayor Gaynor had been carried to a stateroom. He remained conscious but breathed heavily. He was calm but apparently apprehensive that the wound was grave. An ambulance was summoned to the pier and the wounded mayor was placed on a stretcher and carried to St. Mary's hospital in New York.

Mayor Gaynor was taken to the operating room. He was still conscious and occasionally spoke to those about him. To the city officials who accompanied him to the hospital he indicated the gravity with which he viewed the shooting by remarking:

"Say good bye to the people."

The Mayor Calm

The hospital physicians who examined the wound agreed with the ship's surgeon that it was not necessarily serious. It was found that the bullet had entered the mayor's neck back of the ear, burying itself in the region of the mastoid bone. The bullet was not located at first. It was decided to await the arrival of a surgeon from New York, who was hastily summoned. Meantime the mayor remained calm. His chief difficulty came from the gathering of blood in his throat.

The attempt to assassinate the mayor caused intense excitement around the city. The announcement of the city executive in recent months in city affairs and to a growing extent in state and national affairs attracted widespread attention and alarm at this attempt on his life. Everywhere the news was received with evidence of profound regret.

In all public places, the hotels, clubs and subways, the attempt on the mayor's life was the absorbing topic. One of the first dispatches of condolence was from ex-President Roosevelt expressing horror and indignation at the crime.

GALLAGHER FORMERLY

WATCHMAN ON DOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—James J. Gallagher was appointed a watchman in the New York city dock department on April 7, 1903. He was discharged on July 19, 1910, after having been found guilty of neglect of duty and misconduct. Among other transgressions was the fact that he failed to punch the dial on the timeclock that recorded his presence. He was also charged with using insulting language to the inspector. Since his discharge Gallagher has been writing letters to the mayor.

Save for the servants, the Gaynor residence in Brooklyn was deserted this morning at the members of the family with the exception of Rufus Gaynor, a son, being down at St. James, L. I. Rufus went over to the steamship to say goodbye to his father there.

REPORT OF SHOOTING

RECEIVED AT BEVERLY

BEVERLY, Aug. 9.—The reports of the attempted assassination of Mayor Gaynor of New York aroused the deepest interest and sympathy in the summer capital. After the first bulletin Secy Norton got into touch with Boston and New York. The subsequent bulletins indicating that the wound was not serious at first reported were received with much gratification.

President Taft was kept informed during the day.

SAYS MAYOR IS CHEERFUL

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (Naeu).—Commissioner Thompson of the health department in attendance on Mayor Gaynor, health Commissioner Lederer said:

"I have just left the mayor and he seemed very cheerful and in good spirits. His vitality is very good. In my opinion he has a good chance of recovery."

MAYOR IS CONSCIOUS

AND RESTING QUIETLY

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The following bulletin was issued by the surgeons attending Mayor Gaynor after a consultation just finished:

"The mayor was shot on the right side of the neck, the bullet entering the posterior and upper part and ranging downward and forward. The position of the bullet has not been definitely located, but will be determined later by x-rays."

"The mayor is conscious and is now resting quietly and there seems to be no immediate danger."

MAN UNDER ARREST

HAS MADE CONFESSION

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Gallagher made the following confession after his arrest at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when it will be determined whether or not the mayor is able to stand the strain of an x-ray examination.

"I came over to Hoboken at 9:20 this morning. I went to the steamship pier and I went on board the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. I met a clergyman on board of the steamer and I asked him to point out the mayor to me. He did so, and shortly after I fired a shot at the mayor. I do not know if I fired more than one shot or more."

"Knowing that Mayor Gaynor was going to Europe this morning to enjoy himself after depriving me of my bread and butter, 'not porterhouse steak,' I was irritated to the point of committing the act."

"The revolver you showed me in the picture I did the shooting with. I don't know how many shots were in the revolver when I used it. I have had this revolver a long time. In my possession I carried it when I was in the employ of the city."

Gallagher seemed remarkably cool while making this statement to which he affixed his signature.

Detective Sergeant Claster arrived at the house, 440 Third avenue, about a quarter before one o'clock and accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, Gallagher's landlady, went at once to Gallagher's room. The room, which is a small one on the third floor, was much littered up. A number of medicine bottles were in evidence and it was clear that Gallagher had spent much of his time recently in reading the newspapers.

It was said in the neighborhood that Gallagher had been drinking a good deal of late and rumor had it that he had lost $300 on the Jeffries-Johnson fight.

Inspector Russell is to take charge of the case against Gallagher.

GOVERNOR HUGHES

SHOCKED AT NEWS

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—"I am immensely shocked at the news of the shooting of Mayor Gaynor," said Governor Hughes today. "We hope for the best."

PRESIDENT TAFT

WAS GREATLY SHOCKED

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—This afternoon the following telegram was received at the city hall from President Taft:

"Hon. W. J. Gaynor: 'I am greatly shocked to hear of the outrageous assault on you. I am very glad to hear that the wound inflicted on you is not serious. I earnestly hope and pray your recovery may be rapid. (Signed) 'William H. Taft.'"

GAYNOR BEGAN LIFE

AS NEWSPAPER REPORTER

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mayor William J. Gaynor, who is fifty-nine years of age, began life as a Brooklyn newspaper reporter, studying law at night while working days. He entered politics as a democrat and was first appointed an assistant and then elected district attorney of Kings county. That was the time John McKean, the political boss ruled Coney Island and Gravesend as an independent realist, reaping a large fortune from his corrupt political practices. Gaynor raided McKean's farcical election machinery and sent McKean to prison for the rest of his life.

A few years later Gaynor was elected to the supreme court bench and there he served until his appointment to the appellate division of the supreme court, second district, which he resigned after his nomination for mayor last year.

STAFF OF ST. MARY'S SAID

GAYNOR SHOWED FORTITUDE

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Dr. William Minford of the house staff of St. Mary's hospital said that the mayor showed great fortitude.

"I gave the mayor strychnine when he first came to the hospital," said Dr. Minford, "because he was suffering from shock and to relieve the pain from his throat. The mayor did not complain of pain."

"He said: 'Try and discourage me. Don't tell me it's all right if the wound is serious. I want to know the worst.'"

"The hemorrhage from the mayor's throat ceased at eleven o'clock."

Mrs. Vincent, Mayor Gaynor's daughter, who was recently married, was almost in a state of collapse when she reached the hospital.

Shortly after Mrs. Vincent arrived Gallagher was brought by the police to the hospital to have him identified by his victim as the police had heard that the mayor was in a dying condition. Commissioner Edwards and friends of the mayor, however, backed up by the physicians put a prompt veto on this move. Commissioner Edwards declared that he and a hundred others could make all the indication that was necessary and the mayor's physicians declared that they were in no condition to undergo such an ordeal.

Gallagher was taken back to the police station and later was brought before Recorder McGoey, where he was formally arraigned. The recorder warned him that any statement he might make would be used against him. Gallagher shifted uneasily and said:

"I hardly know what to say, as I have no counsel."

"In that case," said Recorder McGovern, "I will hold you without bail to await the action of the grand jury in the outcome of Mayor Gaynor's injuries."

Gallagher was again locked up, but not before he had been repeatedly photographed by a large company of camera men who crowded the court room. He seemed rather pleased by the attention he was attracting and in getting ready to pose before the camera he straightened his collar and necktie and stood erect and complacent while the light was flashed.

Word had been sent to Mrs. Gaynor at her country place in St. James, R. I., of the serious injury to her husband and she started in an automobile on a long ride to the hospital. Her chauffeur was instructed to proceed with all possible speed and directions were given the police all along the route not to interfere with the speeding of the vehicle. Mrs. Gaynor bore up well under the shock of the news of Mayor Gaynor's injury. The couple's young daughters remained at their home in St. James, it being decided not to call them to their father's bedside at the hospital and their condition should become critical.

Commissioner Thompson of the department of water supply, gas and electricity, who left the mayor's bedside during the noon hour, said that the patient was bearing up bravely. Mr. Thompson was standing within two feet of the mayor when the shots were fired.

"When the mayor was shot," said Commissioner Thompson, "he placed his hand over the wound and said 'Isn't this a pity?' Then he calmly asked to be taken to his stateroom."

It was announced shortly before one o'clock that all the physicians in attendance on Mayor Gaynor will hold a consultation at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when it will be determined whether or not the mayor is able to stand the strain of an x-ray examination.

Dr. Caldwell of New York has been directed to bring the necessary x-ray apparatus to the hospital at Hoboken.

THE PRISONER ARRAIGNED

AND HELD WITHOUT BAIL

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—With Mayor Gaynor were Health Commissioner Lederer, Dock Commissioner Tompkins and Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards.

Gallagher was taken before Recorder McGovern, who held the prisoner without bail to await the result of the mayor's injuries.

PACKAGE TRUST

Morgan Said to Be the Man Behind It

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The dream of the monopoly maker, a trust that will take its tribute from everybody, is about to be realized. J. Pierpont Morgan and about thirty other eminent trust builders are behind it.

This trust is known as the "Single Service Package Corporation of America." The ultimate consumer of anything that comes in a package, from phonograph records to spaghetti, will pay its profits.

The trust already has started to accomplish the purpose for which it was organized. This is to buy and control all the patents covering the machinery used in the manufacture of "paper," or "other containers," including a perfected paper milk bottle, and then to "leaze," instead of "sell" the machines constructed under such patents to the manufacturers and other dealers who use the same.

The profits are likely to be enormous. Every machine in use will bring royalty. Policies will be used to force certain products on the public; as, for instance, the paper milk bottle. One city, Boston, has already paved the way for the paper milk bottle by order regarding the sale of milk in stores in "original packages." Others will be whipped into line.

In a letter to John Markle, the Pittsburgh millionaire coal operator, the promoter, with the frankness that seems to characterize trust builders, says: "Single Service Package Corporation, as soon as we can supply the demand, to pass ordinances prohibiting the distribution of milk and cream for household use in anything but single service containers. We will meet with delays and have fights on this point, but if we hold hard to our policy we will, in a few years, have complete control of the field. The policy which is being pursued is identical with that adopted by the United Shoe Machinery company. A. R. Turner, our vice president, has been actively identified with the management.

"We are endeavoring to secure control of all automatic devices necessary to the box making industry, including filling, weighing and labeling devices. So far, we have been quite successful in this effort."

"Contracts now made show a gross yearly royalty income over cost of equipment and installment of approximately 170 per cent. The deals closed are small compared with negotiations we have under way, and which should be consummated this fall."

The president of the corporation and its controlling spirit is James Gayley, who, until January last, was first vice president of the United States Steel Corporation.

One of its directors and principal advisers is Frederick W. Upham of Chicago, president of the City Fuel company of that city and assistant treasurer of the republican national committee.

Some idea may be formed of the amount of tribute to be exacted from the public by means of this latest of monopolistic schemes when it is realized that fourteen concerns in the United States alone use 25,000,000 of these containers every year, and the Single Service Package Corporation expects to charge all users of its patents $1 royalty on every 1000 containers made.

Incidentally it may be said that the machines built by the corporation under the patents it owns cost over $2000 each. The prospectus of the corporation shows that each one of these hard to come by machines that it has in operation will bring it in an annual revenue of $6000, or a single unit of 100 machines will return more than one-third of its adopted by the United Shoe Machinery

SITUATION PRECARIOUS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Invasion of American property in Nicaragua by soldiers of Madrid has called forth a formal protest from the United States. The situation of the Madrid government is precarious.

VISITORS BY APPOINTMENT

BEVERLY, Aug. 9.—President Taft today announced that in the future he will receive visitors by appointment on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The administration's economy plans are occupying a good deal of the president's time just now and he has invited a number of city fiscal experts to come to Beverly for conferences. Among these is Farley of the Boston finance commission.

LATEST THE SONDER RACES

Conditions Were Dubious for the Events Today

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 9.—Somebody threw a thick blanket of fog over the sonder aspirants for Spanish-American yachting honors about dawn today and at 8 a. m. it looked as if the yachtsmen would spend the day on the clubhouse veranda instead of at sea. Baker's island foghorn bellowed dolefully and off shore was heard the low growl of the coasting steamers. A light easterly breeze kept up the supply of mist from the big factory somewhere off Cape Ann and early conditions were particularly dubious for the continuation of the elimination trials.

Yachtsmen spent the hours awaiting for the mist to rise in discussing the results of yesterday's racing in which the Harpoon, owned by C. F. Adams and the Cima, owned by Guy Lowell, finished the two races at the head of their respective divisions and prepared for today's contests with clean sheets. It was rumored here today that the committee might see fit to change the divisions before the eliminations began on Thursday night but the members of the committee were particularly reticent about the matter and no authoritative statement could be obtained. Both of yesterday's winners are this year's production, as is the Beaver, which finished second in the second division. But the Lady, which was on a boat with the Harpoon in the first division, is a 1909 boat and did not even reach the semi-finals in last year's trial races.

"Dick" Boardman, her owner, however, has made slight changes in his boat and now the Lady is looked upon as a dangerous rival. Especially she made a better showing yesterday than the Beaver.

The standing of the yachts before today's race, according to the point score, was as follows:

Cima	2
Beaver	2
Demon	5
Ellen	5
Bonnie	6
Sally XI	7
Joyette	9
Wif	9
Bel	10

LAWYER TAKES OFF HER HAT

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Sophia M. Mayer, a lawyer, appeared before Supreme Court Justice Goff yesterday to argue a motion. When the court saw her at the counsel table he asked her why she was there and Mrs. Mayer said she represented the plaintiff.

"Are you an attorney?" asked Justice Goff.

"Yes, she's an attorney," answered A. B. Schleimer, the opposing counsel.

"Then remove your hat," said the court.

"I beg your pardon," said Mrs. Mayer, who didn't catch the court's remark.

"Are you any different from any other attorney?" said the court.

"Why don't you remove your hat?"

Mrs. Mayer got her hat off in a jiffy and proceeded to state her case.

THE "BLACK HAND" Sent Threatening Letters to a New York Sculptor

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Domenico Borgia, chevalier of the Order of the Crown of Italy, sculptor and architect, one of the most prominent members of the Italian-American colony of New York, after appealing in vain for police protection from the Black Hand for nearly a year, has asked Mayor Gaynor to be allowed to protect himself. His pleas for assistance in running down men who have vowed to murder him, torture his wife and kidnap his children unless he pays $2000, having failed, he wants permission to arm himself. He has been referred from police official to police official, and has been met with promises of help, and that is all.

Mr. Borgia, who is known in every public-spirited movement in aid of his compatriots in this country, is head of the Borgia Construction company at No. 1133 Broadway. He lives with his wife and son and daughter at One Hundred and Eighty-first street and Washington avenue. His work in marble adorns many notable buildings throughout the country. He was one of the prime movers in the association which erected the Verrazano statue at the Battery during the Hudson-Fulton celebration. For his services generally he was knighted a few months ago by King Victor Emmanuel, and on August 28 he is to be the guest at a breakfast given in his honor by the leading foreign business men of the city.

Mr. Borgia reluctantly consented yesterday to tell of the persecutions he and his family have undergone since last December.

"I had left for Mexico last December," said Mr. Borgia, "when there came to my office here a letter signed 'Il Mano Nera,' demanding that I leave $1000 on the new Brooklyn bridge under penalty of death. The letter was written in an illiterate hand and was full of oaths and blasphemy. When I returned in March another letter came in the same handwriting, making a similar demand. I paid no attention to this; it did not frighten me. Twenty-two years' residence in this country have taught me not to be frightened by threats that might move some persons to whom American institutions are strange.

"As a matter of precaution, I took the two letters to the police. They would look into it at once, the proper squad would be put to work, in the meantime I must say nothing. I waited. More letters came, almost weekly. I have received them, nearly all at my office here, but one at my home. They have grown more threatening in tone at every number, and in

Man Nearly Blind Was Injured

Patrick Flynn, an elderly man who is nearly blind, was struck and knocked down by a big automobile at the corner of Gorham and Appleton streets shortly before six o'clock last night. Owing to the fact that the machine was traveling at a slow rate of speed Flynn escaped with minor bruises and a slight cut on the left temple.

The automobile is a big Packard touring car, belonging to Lyman E. Gordon of Grafton, Mass., and was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and a chauffeur. The machine was coming through Appleton street and just about to turn into Gorham street when Flynn stepped off the curb directly in front of the auto. The chauffeur applied the emergency brake at once but the action of Flynn was so sudden that the machine could not be brought to a stop before it struck the old man and knocked him down.

The occupants of the car got out and carried the man into Moore's drug store, where an examination showed that he was suffering from a slight cut over the left temple and had minor bruises. The cut was bandaged and later he was removed to his home.

The occupants of the car, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and a chauffeur, at once reported to the police station but were not held.

FUNERALS

BADMINGTON.—The funeral services of the late Amos Badmington were held yesterday afternoon from his home, 35 Island street, and were largely attended. Rev. John T. Ullom, pastor of the Lawrence Street Primitive Methodist church, officiated. Mrs. John Willman sang "The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The floral offerings were profuse, including a pillow inscribed "Father" from the family group of sisters from Mr. and Mrs. David Willman; spray of asters and sweetpeas from Mr. and Mrs. Emil Woessner; spray of white asters and pinks from Mr. and Mrs. John Holley; spray of lavender and white asters from Elmer P. Mooney; spray of sweetpeas and asters from Mr. and Mrs. Perry Mooney; spray of pinks and sweet peas from Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brown; spray of pinks and sweetpeas from C. H. Howell; spray of sweetpeas from Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stoughton, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Buckley and Miss Ellen Berry. The bearers were Messrs. David Willman, Emil Woessner, Perry Mooney and John D. Willman. Burial took place in the family lot in the Edson cemetery, where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Ullom. Undertaker William H. Saunders had charge of the funeral arrangements.

WELCH.—The funeral of Mary Elizabeth Welch took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, George P. and Catherine Welch, 46 Cross street. There were sprays of flowers from Mr. and Mrs. Michael Welch. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertaker Peter H. Savage.

WILSON.—The funeral of Daniel E. Wilson took place yesterday morning from the rooms of Undertaker Peter H. Savage. Burial was in the Edson cemetery.

BURIED A MAN

Woman Thought He Was Her Brother

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—An indignant woman in Los Angeles, Mrs. H. G. Donnelly, threatens to bring suit against the city of New York unless the city refunds to her the money she spent in providing burial for the body of a man, which through the mistake of a city clerk, she thought was that of her brother.

In a letter received by the charities department yesterday Mrs. Donnelly says that New York must settle the bill.

June 19 last John Doyle, Mrs. Donnelly's brother, was admitted to the city home and was discharged on July 18. He gave as reference the name of Mrs. Donnelly and her sister, who live in Cincinnati. There was another John Doyle in the city home at the same time. This John Doyle seems to have had no friends or relatives and he died July 8.

Mrs. Donnelly was notified that her brother was dead and she sent money for the funeral expenses. A little later she received a letter from her brother saying that he had recovered.

RURAL SOCIAL WORKERS AMHERST, Aug. 9.—For the purpose of discussing rural problems, a conference of agricultural educators and rural social workers opened here today in connection with the summer school of the Massachusetts Agricultural college.

Prominent workers in the study of agriculture were today's speakers. The general topic at the opening session of the conference was "Agricultural Organization." This session was divided into six sectional meetings, at which the subject was discussed in its different phases. The visitors also inspected the college farm this forenoon. Another meeting was held this afternoon.

LOWELL WOMEN TO BE ENTERTAINED BY CAPT. AND MRS. GREIG

Mrs. A. D. Mitchell of 70 Chelmsford street and Mrs. E. A. Barnes of Harrison street have gone to New York on a three weeks' visit. They will be the guests of Capt. and Mrs. Alexander Greig at Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., for several days. The captain and Mrs. Greig are personal friends of Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Barnes and their husbands and will be delighted to meet and entertain the two Lowell ladies.

The Lowell women will visit Connetquot, Brighton and Manhattan beaches and Atlantic City before they return home.

FOUGHT THE POLICE

Riot in Street in New York City Yesterday

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—As a result of the cloak manufacturers' attempt to open their shops yesterday morning at 121st street, and in almost every precinct in lower Manhattan reserves were held ready if occasion required.

The trouble that grew into a riot, with bloodshed and cracked heads, was at the shop of Bernstein & Co., 280 West 21st street. Fifteen hundred persons charged the police there and invaded the factory. Windows were smashed and heads were broken in an hour's fight. The factory is on the 12th floor of the building, and in the mix-up sewing machines were dropped from windows, material flung out and shears sent clattering to the street as the shop was wrecked.

The disturbance began in the afternoon when a few policemen and special officers intercepted strikers endeavoring to reach strike breakers going into a building to join others at work. In a few minutes there were several hundred strikers battling to reach the strike breakers.

The police arrested 20 of them and started for the station. The crowd, which was growing steadily, charged the police, broke the lines they had formed, with the prisoners inside, and rescued 15 of the 20.

The crowd managed to get to John Hunter, one 300 specials employed by the cloak manufacturers. Hunter was beaten so badly that he was taken to an ambulance surgeon. When a mounted policeman had saved him from the crowd that was kicking and beating him.

While this crowd was fighting with the police a hundred or more rushed into the building and reached the 12th floor. There Jacob Kopsky sprang upon a table and yelled to the strike breakers to "come out and be men."

A dozen of the 150 at work in the loft ran to the window and cried "Murder!" and "Police!" Several shouted, "Look out below!" and then machines, tables and work benches were overturned and the legs pulled out and used as weapons. The 20th street station reserves fought their way up the stairs, the strikers having possession of the elevator.

The police going into the building were showered with rocks from behind and met by the crowd in the hall. They reached the shop of Bernstein after it had been wrecked. Fifteen strikers were arrested.

It was estimated that the strikers did damage to the amount of $500, in addition to the wreck of the tables and chairs and windows.

The police, with their prisoners, formed a hollow square and took them to the station, while the crowd bombarded them with stones and whatever else could be obtained.

The manufacturers issued a statement yesterday that they were prepared to open their shops, and would protect their workmen. More trouble is expected today.

Many independent shops, it was announced, had given in to the strikers. The coat makers' general strike was extended yesterday, and concessions were made that sent men back to other shops where they had been on strike.

LARCENY CHARGE ROOSEVELT BOOM

Bigamy Also Is Hinted May Result From Western Trip

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—William J. Blake, who says he is an agent, was held in Adams street court, Brooklyn, yesterday, in $500 by Magistrate Tighe on a charge of petit larceny. The specific complaint is that Blake swindled Otto Holensee, of No. 49 Court street, Brooklyn, out of $1250.

The police say this charge is likely to be changed to grand larceny upon complaint of Margaret D. Easton, of No. 49 Schermerhorn street, and that from letters found in the pockets of the prisoner they believe him a bigamist. Letters were found from Mrs. Margaret Blake, of No. 72 School street, Buffalo, and one from another Mrs. Blake in Chicago, who signed herself Freda.

The police have telegraphed to both cities, and when Blake is arraigned August 29 they will have investigated the case.

Blake, who is thirty years old, is a good talker. It is charged he sold some exclusive territory to Holensee, who was to have the right of a patent window fastener. Holensee says Blake had no right to sell the territory.

The arrest developed that Blake had sold stock in the window fastener company, which is situated in Chicago, to Mrs. Easton, a widow with whom he is boarding. She says he got $1250 from her and endeavored to induce her to dispose of a stock farm she has in Manitoba and invest it all in the window fastener concern. About this time she became suspicious and wrote to the Chicago house. The reply came by special delivery, and she says Blake tried to get it before she could see it.

The concern said he had no interest in the business and was no longer connected with the house, according to her story to the police. Mrs. Easton was in court yesterday but made no complaint.

As to the letters from the woman calling him husband, Blake says he has been married three times.

"My first wife is dead," said he. "The one in Buffalo divorced me, and the third one, in Chicago, and myself have separated. That is all there is to that."

A letter written by the wife in Buffalo said their two children were in want and she could take care of herself if he would provide for the children. The Chicago woman writes that she has not heard from him in weeks, and that she is heartbroken at having to part from their little son, who thinks only of his father. She says she knows she will never hear from him again, but if he is ever in trouble she will go to him.

SITUATION IN SPAIN

ROME, Aug. 9.—It was reported today that Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary, was trying through official, semi-official, and private channels to reach an understanding with the Spanish government.

A good omen was found today in the presence of the Marquis de Gonzalez, the Spanish charge d'affaires to the Vatican, and the staff of the Spanish embassy at the palace, celebrated by Cardinal Merry del Val in honor of the anniversary of the coronation of Pope Pius X. In view of the strained relations between the Holy See and Spain the decision of the Spanish representatives to be present at the mass or to absent themselves was awaited with great interest.

MURDER CHARGED

Warrant Issued for Former Inmate of State Hospital

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—A warrant charging William R. Remington with the murder of Max Sorokin in the latter's grocery store in Harrison avenue on July 31st last, was issued today and later Remington was taken into the municipal court. Remington while an inmate at the state farm at Tewksbury declared that he had killed Sorokin, the cause of whose death had been variously surmised as murder or suicide. When his story was made known the authorities took him in charge and yesterday brought him to Boston. While awaiting the calling of the case Charles Mandell, of Springfield, held as a government witness, dashed from the courthouse corridor. He was half way across Pemberton square before officers captured him and took him back.

Remington was held without bail for a hearing August 17. Mandell was held as a witness in $50, which he was unable to furnish. Both men were taken to the Charles street jail. The court appointed Martin T. Hall as attorney for Remington.

MISSING DEATH BY HAIR

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Missing death by a hair was literally true in the case of Charles Lewis, of Grantwood, N. Y., who fell while running for a train yesterday, and had his arm cut off by the wheels of the rear car. Lewis was late for the train and jumped the iron fence. The train was under way. Those who saw the accident thought his head had been cut off. He was so close that the wheels cut off the rim of his hat and locks of his hair.

AEROPLANE RACES

The Flight From Troyes to Nancy

NANCY, France, Aug. 9.—Leblanc and Aubrun again led the van on today's leg of the cross country aeroplanes race. The second section of the flight was from Troyes to Nancy, a distance of 165 kilometers, or approximately 102.5 miles.

The race between the leaders was an exciting one. Aubrun started five minutes earlier than Leblanc and the air men were within sight of each other until they landed here. Leblanc's machine proved the swifter and he gradually overhauled the other, reaching the goal 30 seconds ahead of his rival.

Both men used Bleriot monoplanes, and steered by compass, checking their positions from the flags which had been attached to steeples in the villages over which they passed and by the smoke of bonfires that marked the course over the country stretches.

The circuit which the contestants must cover in six stages is 45 miles and extends from Paris to Troyes and Nancy, Belfort, Chartreuse, Douai, Amiens, and back to Paris.

Twenty thousand dollars is offered for the aviator who makes the distance in shortest elapsed time. Aubrun's time for the distance was 1 hour, 37 minutes and 25 seconds.

The international balloon race will start from St. Louis on Oct. 17. Leblanc represented France in the race from the same city in 1907 and finished second. He landed at Herbertsville, N. J., after covering a distance of $67.4 miles.

DEEP SEA FISHING.

And When He Told It No One Believed Him.

SAME UNDER ANOTHER NAME.
"What's De Witty doing now?"
"What he always did, but instead of being a muck raker or press agent he calls himself a publicity man."

AFTER A LATE PARTY.
Returned Traveler—Society girls among the native savages wear rings in their noses as well as in their ears.
Waggleigh—Some of our society girls have rings round their eyes.

WENT TOO FAR.
Magistrate—What were you doing on the beach so late?
Vagrant—Takin' a bath, yer onner.
"Twenty days."
"Just fer takin' a bath?"
"No; for perjury."

THE OLD, OLD STORY.
They sat at the edge of the wood, gazing dreamily at the reapers toiling in the sunny fields, at the scarlet poppies that glowed among the golden grain and at each other.
"Darling," he cried, "I swear by this great tree whose spreading branches shade us from the heat—by this noble tree I swear that I have never loved before."
The girl smiled faintly.
"You always say such appropriate things, Dick," she murmured. "This is a chestnut tree!"

THE WASHED AND UNWASHED BY THE SEA.

Waggleigh: "There's one awfully funny thing 'bout dese bathers."
Willie: "What's dat?"
Waggleigh: "Nobody makes 'em git in de water, an' dey has de same sort of aversion to it dat you an' me has, Willie."

WHERE IT FAILS.
"Remember," said the good old father to his family, "it is no reproach to be poor if you are respectable."
"That," replied the mother who pays the bills, "is good until you try it on the grocer and the butcher."

AN OFFSHORE FANTASIA.

CLEVER.
Police Official—Any clew to that mysterious murder?
Detective—Yes, sir. I've arrested all the living members of the family.
Official—Glorious! What evidence have you?
Detective—When I accused them of the murder, some of 'em turned white and some turned red. Now, all we have to do is to find out which color means guilt.

BUSINESS FOR THE FAMILY.
Young Innocent—If I accept you, Bob, I want you to promise me one thing.
The Other Thing—Anything, my darling. What is it?
Young Innocent—Why, after we've been married, if we ever want a divorce, I want you to promise to employ my brother Fred. He does want briefs so badly.

Waggleigh: "There's one awfully funny thing 'bout dese bathers."
Willie: "What's dat?"
Waggleigh: "Nobody makes 'em git in de water, an' dey has de same sort of aversion to it dat you an' me has, Willie."

A DISTINCTION.
Dolly—Does your husband come home late at night often?
Willie—No, dear. When he's late he's out the town—I'm afraid, dear, he's going to make it spades.

The Fish: "Confound you, why don't you pull a fellow in?"

CONSULTING THE ORACLE.

Artemis (gazing into the crystal)—I see rolling downs—crows—police—horses. They are racing. The horses round the bend—the jockeys lash them. They near the post—two lead neck and neck—a dead heat—no—one of them dashes ahead and wins!
Client—Yes, yes, but which? What are the winner's colors?
Artemis—Alas, I cannot tell you! I am color blind!

ON THE EDGE OF THE SURF.
"Why do they call them breakers?" she asked as the waves tumbled in.
"Because," he replied, "it costs me $7.50 a day to get near them."

Waggleigh: "There's one awfully funny thing 'bout dese bathers."
Willie: "What's dat?"
Waggleigh: "Nobody makes 'em git in de water, an' dey has de same sort of aversion to it dat you an' me has, Willie."

A MASTER OF THE ART.
Totty—He's the prince of lars.
Glossy—Is he, really?
Totty—Why, even his wife believes him.

A SAIL OF UNDERWEAR.

AT THE ZOO.
"Shure, Mary Ann, that gorilla must be a man."
"Why, Bridget?"
"He scratches hisself wid his hand. If he wuz a beast he'd rub agin th' bars."

THE LINEUP AT AN OCEAN CAFE.

GETTING A FIT.
"You see, sir, with ordinary people it's easy to fit a coat, but it's different with gentlemen of your exceptional figure."

CAUSE AND EFFECT.
"Hinkins has stopped swearing."
"Yes. The mosquito exterminator he bought was a success."

TOO LATE.
"You're the tramp that took my cake from the window this morning. Didn't you know better than that?"
"Not then, mum. That was before I came to."

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828
Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The directors of savings banks are becoming more and more watchful of their clerks, tellers and treasurers. There is a reason. This belated vigilance will do no harm.

To throw a man out of work, or to refuse him employment, simply because he is a member of a labor union is a form of tyranny that is only equalled by the tyranny which would prevent a man from earning a living because he refuses to join a union and pay tribute to the same. One is as bad as the other, look at it whichever way you please.

CONDEMN THE FIRE TRAPS

There are a number of buildings on our principal streets that should be torn down and rebuilt because of their unsightliness if for no other reason. But the cost of construction is yet too high to justify any very extensive rebuilding except where old structures have become unsafe for habitation and are a menace to adjoining property. When building material reaches a lower level we look for very extensive building alterations in our principal thoroughfares which will follow as a matter of investment. But there are a few tumbled down, rotting, ramshackle structures right in the very heart of the city that should be condemned. Not only are they unsightly, but they are dangerous, and they are saturated with filth and disease germs. They are little better than nuisances, because of the odors emanating from them, and worst of all, they are fire traps that threaten good property in their immediate vicinity.

These eye sores are well known, and no one knows them better than the superintendent of public buildings, who has power to condemn them. We would not for a moment suppose that our worthy superintendent of buildings is influenced in the least in the discharge of his duty by the fact that most of these tumbled down, ill-smelling, ramshackle fire traps are owned by men of wealth and influence. Not at all. He is simply waiting for time to get around to a proper consideration of these cases, and then we have no doubt he will issue an order to either put these ramshackles into modern and habitable condition, or tear them down as menaces to health and adjoining property. But we do hope he will see the point before it is too late.

THE GRAND OLD CITY OF SPINDLES

After all Lowell is a good place in which to live. We may lack some of the wonderful things that other cities in the world possess, but we still have a great deal to be proud of. If the men who persist in saying that Lowell is played out; that she has seen her best days; that she is all in, would stop and think a little they would change their tune. Instead of belittling their city they should start in to sing her praises.

Lowell is a good place for business. Store rents are extremely low considering the size and population of the city, and people are noted for paying their bills in Lowell as a rule. We have fewer of the so-called dead beats in Lowell than you will find in any other manufacturing city in the country. Then Lowell is a good labor market. Our employees are intelligent, law-abiding, of good average morals, and generally willing to work for fair wages. Furthermore, we are comparatively free from needless labor troubles.

No city in the country has a better system of drainage than we have right here in Lowell. This is made possible by our excellent system of canals, and the proximity of two big rivers. Our drinking water taken from driven wells is pure and wholesome. We have good fire protection, as our fire department has been considered for years one of the models of New England. Food is cheap and good in Lowell. In fact one can live cheaper in Lowell than in any city of its size in the country. We have some good public parks already, and our park system is developing at a rapid rate. No city in the world has a better trolley system than we have and few cities equal it. The fares are cheap, the rides are long, and the service is good. Lowell is an excellent railway centre. Goods can be shipped from this city without breaking bulk to any part of the United States. The suburbs of Lowell are beautiful. Within five minutes' ride or fifteen minutes' walk from Merrimack square, in almost any direction one finds himself in the midst of the most beautiful country scenery. Two grand rivers meet in the center of Lowell. Both are beautiful and historical, while one has an industrial record in its trip from the mountains to the sea that is hardly equalled by any other river in the world.

Our schools are the equal of any in the country. We have a police department that compares with the best of its class anywhere. The city is healthy, it is clean, and its people enjoy a reputation for intelligence, culture, good morals and obedience to the laws. We never suffer from the serious industrial depressions that come to many other cities. Although we are confined to but few industries yet the products of Lowell find a ready market because of their world-wide reputation. When newer and less experienced localities find it hard to secure orders, Lowell sells her entire output in the markets and employment is generally steady for all who want to work.

We have fine churches and public buildings, wide awake merchants, public spirited men, and the loveliest women in all the world. Last but not least we have the best newspapers of any city of its size in the country.

Then why should men go out of their way to say an unkind word of the grand old spindle city?

Young man stop and ponder. Before concluding to take a chance in green fields far away, don't shut your eyes to the prospect of success which the city of spindles offers to every well disposed man who is willing to work and to make the most of his opportunities. Lowell is not in the experimental stage, neither is she in a state of decline. She will be flourishing and famous when some of the boom cities of which we now hear so much are gone to decay. She was great before they were thought of, and she will be greater still after they are forgotten.

SEEN AND HEARD

Did you ever observe how many little incidents of the street may be applied as examples of the larger scope of life? Here is an example and the application to the more important things of life is so obvious that it needs no explanation. Only a day or two ago the pedestrians on Merrimack street were amused to see two dogs running down the street. Ordinarily there is nothing unusual or amusing in such a common incident, but the circumstances in this case were peculiar. One of the dogs was a Great Dane of almost gigantic size, and he was trotting very quietly down the street, apparently with his mind fixed on some destination, and unturbed by anything that was going on around him. Close behind the big dog ran a little one, whose size was in about the same ratio to that of the Great Dane as the extent of a South American Republic to that of the United States. The smaller dog was barking furiously at his gigantic friend, and evidently had the idea that he was driving him before him in an ignominious flight. But he found out his mistake when the big fellow met a man he knew and then apparently nothing for the first time that the little one was trying to worry him, with a gentle push of his head sent the plucky dog rolling across the pavement. That ended the pursuit then and there, and the barking, for the small dog had found his real place, as many a man and nation has done before him.

Eleanor, aged six, had been going to school only a few weeks. She had learned to read her hand if she wanted anything. One day she put this into effect when she was sent to the chicken house to get the eggs.

Just as she reached the chicken house door her mother heard her say, "All you chickens that have laid an egg, raise your hands."—The Delinquent.

"Joseph," said his mother, reprovingly, "I should think you'd be ashamed to be in the same class with boys so much smaller than yourself."

"Well, mother," replied Joe, "I look upon the matter a different way altogether. It makes me feel fine to see how proud the small boys are to be in the class with a big boy like me."—The Delinquent.

Considerate Motorist: "I'm awfully sorry I knocked you down—hope you aren't hurt. Now, what can I give you?"

Yokel—"Well, zur, 'ow much do 'ee generally give?"—The Bits.

"THE HAND THAT SMITES"
They say this world is round, and yet I often think it square.

So many little hurts we get From corners, here and there.

But one great truth in life I've found.

While journeying to the west—

The only folks who really wound Are those we love the best.

Love does not grow on every tree.

Nor true hearts yearly bloom;

Alas, for those who only see

This truth across the tomb!

But soon or late, the fact grows plain

To all through sorrow's test.

The only folks that give us pain Are those we love the best!

—Anonymous.

Two young ladies boarded a crowded trolley and were obliged to stand.

One of them, to steady herself, took hold of what she supposed was her friend's hand. They had stood thus for some time, when, on looking down, she discovered that she was holding a man's hand. Greatly embarrassed, she exclaimed:

"Oh, I've got the wrong hand!"

Whereupon the man, with a smile, stretched forth his other hand, saying:

"Here is the other one, miss."

BURGLARS BUSY

Home of Ex-Rep. Luce Ransacked
BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Patrolman Taylor while going his rounds last night discovered that the home of ex-representative Robert Luce at 140 Highland avenue, Somerville, had been broken into and overhauled and robbed.

Ex-representative and Mrs. Luce have been away a week on a vacation and as the police do not know where they are they were unable last night to communicate with them.

It is feared that the burglary is an extensive one, for there was much of value in the house. The thief gained an entrance by forcing open a cellar door and then a fur settling into the cellar he went to the kitchen door, saved out a panel and turned the key and opened the door.

The burglar evidently took his time and ransacked the rooms, closets, trunks and sideboard.

Patrolman Taylor sent word to the police station and Lieut. Carter and Sergeant Ray joined him and together they went through the house and found it in a disorderly condition.

The police were unable to determine what had been taken, but they feared that the burglary must have been an extensive one and they made the house secure and sent an officer to guard it.

An effort will be made to communicate with Mr. Luce and have him return and furnish the police a list of the property that is missing.

FORGERY CHARGE

Made Against 19 Year Old Youth
BANGOR, Me., Aug. 8.—After two weeks of high living in the red light district of Bangor, Adello Smart, 19 years old, of Eagle Lake, was arrested last night on the charge of forgery.

The police say that they have evidence that Smart passed at least four checks, aggregating about $100, his method being to make a small purchase and present a check, taking the balance in cash.

Smart confessed to two complaints and said that he was ready to "take his medicine." The checks were all on the Millinocket Trust company and purported to be signed by Rush Bros., a well known Millinocket business house.

Smart came to Bangor on one of the checks, which was cashed by a Bangor & Arundel conductor, who is one of the complainants. Smart says that he spent the money in having a good time. Upon his person was found a check made out like the others.

He was the last to arrive, as the commissioners of France, Austria, Germany, England, Japan, etc., had all preceded him, taking the places which they considered best, but he, with American shrewdness, managed to obtain a place whence the United States would dominate all other exhibitors, being also the only spot which possessed the beautiful background formed by the century-old cypresses and pine trees of historic Villa Borghese, against which the typical American colonial buildings will stand out most effectively. It is said that, while nothing definite has yet been decided, the construction of the American pavilion will be undertaken by the New York firm of Carrere & Hastings.

An amusing story comes from the little village of Luzern in Germany, of the election of the local burgomaster. The polling took place in February, and the largest number of votes had been given to a peasant named Simon Berezan. Unfortunately, he was found to be ineligible for the office, as he could neither read nor write.

The provincial authorities accordingly declared the election void, and July 16 was fixed as the date for a fresh election. Berezan, nothing daunted, set to work to learn his alphabet, and worked at his lessons so assiduously that he very quickly learned to read and write.

He was again chosen at the second election, and on informing the inspectors, they concluded that he now possessed all the necessary qualifications, had to submit to a written and oral test of his newly acquired knowledge. He acquitted himself to the satisfaction of his judges, and now is one of the most popular burgomasters in Germany.

Maurice Hewlett, who has just assumed being chosen as one of the first list of "immortals" or members of the English literary academy, has explained the lack of great poets in his land by the vast material wealth of the nation. "We are too comfortable and too prosperous," he said, "to be moved by the poetic forces which have always been love, religion, and the spirit of the race."

But "England's Maytime," as the Saturday Review once called the Elizabethan age, is not likely to return, and the forces which made it and its literature great can never again meet themselves, or at any rate, in an exhaustive period. Nevertheless, new "experiments in civilization" may be relied upon to bring into the lives of nations forces which shall inspire new singers. Meantime poetry is more than ever the possession of the few "private souls."

Judge John W. Madrox of the Georgia superior court is quoted as saying that in the last six months he has presided at more murder trials than were held before in Georgia in years. "We will have a first-class hanging in this county yet," he has said, "and it will be a white man, too."

"RATS" AND "PUFFS"

Prevailing Hair Styles Cause Many Scalp Diseases.

Women who cover their heads with masses of false hair and fluff should understand that it is only a question of time until their scalps become diseased. Rats and puffs are denounced by doctors as "unhygienic dust and germ catchers." The air is excluded from the scalp, and the pressure on the delicate network of veins soon results in itching and clean their hair frequently with "Rat's Head Wash" to overcome the injury caused by "being in style." This is a delicately perfumed antiseptic shampoo made of neutral soap, glycerine, white of eggs, coconut oil and salicylic acid. It cleans, shines and restores the scalp to a pink, soft, healthy condition, removing every trace of dandruff or scales. 25c and 50c.

HE WAS HELD UP

Man Says He Lost Money and Watch
NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—J. W. O'Bannon, a member of the New York athletic club, with R. L. Glavin, one of his employees, was returning from a trip to Providence by automobile last night.

"We had just reached the top of the hill on the outskirts of Rye," said Mr. Glavin yesterday, "when a man appeared in the middle of the road waving a lantern to and fro. Rudolph White, the chauffeur, brought the car to a stop."

"Stop, gentlemen, you will greatly oblige us by stepping down and handing us your money," was the startling invitation that came to us from behind the ugly looking revolvers, so we started to step down. That is what Mr. O'Bannon did. The chauffeur made a flying leap for one of the highwaymen and rolled over to the side of the road and him and succeeded in wresting his gun from the man, but he took to the woods. Mr. O'Bannon also ran for help.

"I was left alone with the highwaymen. They took my pocketbook, which contained $55, and my dollar watch. They overlooked a valuable diamond ring which I had on my finger. After searching me they tried to escape with the automobile, but somehow the engine would not work for them, so they left me and walked for a short distance down the road and disappeared in the woods. Mr. O'Bannon soon arrived with five men and a policeman, but no trace of the robbers could be found."

BILLS HELD UP

Because They Were Not Itemized
Two bills were held up by the committee on accounts at a meeting held last night. Both bills were from the school department. One was on account with G. C. Prince & Son, and called for $145 for kindergarten supplies for twelve schools. The other bill was from E. S. Baldwin and amounted to $33.16. It was for the repair of curtains in schoolhouses. The bills were held up because they were not itemized and the committee returned them asking that they be itemized before being again presented.

RECEIVERS ARE NAMED

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 8.—Upon appointment of Louis K. Amy, Ernest J. Amy and the Continental Finance Company, all of New York, Judge Cross in the United States district court here yesterday appointed Hiram B. Rarick of Elizabeth and Frank P. McDerby of Jersey City receivers for the American Farm Products Company, which the petitioning creditors claim is insolvent.

The concern is a large manufacturer and refiner of butter and has plants in Illinois, Ohio and Michigan. The petition states that the company has defaulted in the payment of its interest on a bonded indebtedness in both January and July.

The company was organized in 1905 with a capital of $17,000,000, but was later reorganized and the capital reduced to $3,500,000.

RESTELLI SUSPECT

Made Good His Escape at St. Georges Bay
QUINCY, Aug. 8.—A good part of yesterday was spent on the Restelli case in trying to find out "Who is Griffen?" Griffen appeared in the case Saturday night, when he sent a telegram to Mayor Shea and Chief Inspector Watts of Boston, stating that Restelli was in Sydney, C. B., and was so cornered that escape was impossible. Griffen asked that instructions be wired him.

Mayor Shea sent the telegram to Chief Burrell and the latter wired Griffen to get in touch with the police of Sydney and also wired the police there to cooperate with Griffen. The police here didn't know who Griffen was, but they weren't taking any chance of letting Restelli get by.

Later additional telegrams were sent to both Griffen and the chief of police, but no answer was received until yesterday. Yesterday morning Griffen replied that the Sydney police would not cooperate with him and that the suspect left Sydney for Port aux Basques on the steamship Bruce at 10:30 Saturday night.

Chief Burrell was not willing to believe that the Sydney police refused to cooperate with Griffen in so important a case, so he wired police headquarters at Sydney asking what had been done about the pursuit of Restelli. Yesterday afternoon Chief Duncan McEachern of Sydney replied:

"No pursuit of Restelli that I know of. No information about him here except Griffen said he was on train with him Friday night."

Just before this telegram came Griffen telegraphed Chief Burrell, saying: "Sydney Daily Post says: 'Someone is having joke at expense of Canadian and American police.' Later they will have the joke serious. Call up Chief Burrell, Lyon, Mass. Have Chief Burrell confer with James Cunningham as to character. Respectfully, 'Griffen.'"

Chief Burrell was glad to get the tip, as he had been puzzled since Saturday to find out who his correspondent was. The chief communicated with the Lyon police, and from them learned that Griffen is a Lyon man who had done

The authorities here say it is evident that there is some feeling between Griffen and the Sydney police about the case.

It is also believed, from Griffen's last telegram, that the Sydney papers are criticizing Griffen, and the latter has suggested to Chief Burrell that he look up Griffen's character in Lyon.

The man who was suspected by Griffen got away Saturday night after the Sydney police got the first telegram from Chief Burrell. The steamship Bruce arrived at Port aux Basques, N. B., at 6:30 Sunday morning. A train from Port aux Basques left at 6 o'clock and arrived at St. Georges Bay at 12:45 p. m., and from there all trace of the man suspected by Griffen was lost.

The U. S. consul at St. Johns, N. F., was wired to get the cooperation of the Newfoundland police in an attempt to find out who this suspect is. The police of the larger places in Newfoundland were sent circulars last week containing photographs and a description of Restelli.

No word was received yesterday from Inspector McKay, who has been in New York since Saturday, and it is supposed he is following a clue which he suggested in a telegram Sunday. Inspector McKay is working with the Italian-speaking detective of the New York police and Sunday he believed he was on the right track.

"JOKER" IN BILL

Law Grants Delay in the Big Land Cases

BEVERLY, Aug. 9.—A vigorous prosecution to reclaim title to a vast amount of Indian land in Oklahoma is being planned by the department of justice for the coming autumn.

One of the principal actions in prospect is to overcome the effect of an ingenious "joker," which was written into the Indian appropriation bill just before that measure was handed to the president for his signature.

The "joker" was discovered by Solicitor General Bowers, but it was agreed between the president and Mr. Bowers that it was too late to send the bill back to congress and that a means of offsetting the joker could be devised.

This "joker," which is now a law, granted the right of appeal to the U. S. supreme court in a case involving more than 20,000 Indian contracts, which had been decided in favor of the government by the court of appeals of the eighth circuit.

As the matter had been taken into the circuit court on a demurrer the defendants had no right to appeal to the U. S. supreme court.

Delay Means Millions
It is the belief of the government officials that the authority to appeal was sought not with any idea that the case might be won in the court of final resort, but simply to gain a delay of a year or 18 months.

This belief is based on the fact that the lands involved are practically all coal and oil lands and every day that passes they are being stripped of these natural resources as fast as the coal can be mined and oil pumped.

A year and a half delay means millions to the claimants.
The plan to offset this move by the possessors of the land is to apply to the U. S. court in Oklahoma for a receiver for the lands just as soon as the autumn term begins. In this way the court will exercise full control over all the operations and secure the benefits to the final successful litigants.

Prominent Persons Involved
Investigating the contracts by which it is claimed the Indians have been defrauded of lands granted to them by the government, it is said, that the department of justice officers have unearthed a startling condition of affairs involving many well known persons, which will come out fully when the cases are heard.

The government is fighting the cases for the Indians and once they are reclaimed it is proposed to throw further protection out to them if congress can be prevailed upon to do so.

The defendants in some of the actions that are pending have offered unimpeachable legal propositions to be met by the government.

In the first place they claim that having granted the land to the Indians, the government has no constitutional right to restrict this land. The right of appeal decided against this claim, however.

Knows Sherman's Views
It is now claimed in another case that the Indians have been granted rights which have become citizens of the state and congress has no right to act respecting them.

The government is preparing a novel answer. It will be claimed that while Indians may have been granted the right of citizenship under the United States they do not become citizens under the 14th amendment, which will make them citizens of states, and therefore congress still has authority over them.

The 14th amendment provided that persons born in and under the jurisdiction of the United States, or naturalized, were citizens of the United States and of the state in which they resided.

POPE'S EFFORTS STAY HAND OF CATHOLICS AND THREATENED "UPRISING" IS AVERTED

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 9.—Despite the threats of the Carlists the troops have been able to maintain order here, and, while many arrests have been made, the worst of the trouble is believed to be over. Catholics are extremely indignant at the government's repressive measures, as they claim that the demonstrations planned were not Carlist uprisings, but were arranged to show the disapproval of the people to the orders of Premier Canalejas, who so far has had the earnest support of King Alfonso. General Weyler's assignment to command of the troops in this district is taken to mean that the government does not intend to allow the uprising to succeed. The Catholics here believe that the efforts of the pope to settle the entire matter will prove successful and that the end of the controversy is in sight.

Three Injured in the Accident

STOCKBRIDGE, Aug. 9.—An automobile driven by Dr. H. W. Luchinger of Housatonic and containing Charles M. Hayden of Housatonic and three children, Helen and Caroline Luchinger, the doctor's daughters, and Inga Cook, a daughter of S. M. Cook of Glendale, ran into a northbound Berkshire trolley car at the McBurney crossing at 11:50 o'clock yesterday morning.

All of the occupants were thrown out of the automobile. The three girls being tossed 15 feet over a high fence upon a putting green of the Stockbridge golf course. Hayden received a probable concussion of the brain. Dr. Luchinger's hip was sprained and he was cut on the head and body. None of the children was badly hurt, although all three received bruises.

The auto struck the forward end of the trolley car with such force that the car tender was carried away. The accident was caused by a mistake made by the driver of the auto.

The car was driven by Dr. Luchinger, who was carrying his family. The trolley car was driven by a man named Albert Daniels.

WOMAN IS HELD

Larceny Case Puzzles the Manchester Police

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 9.—The Myrtle street $1700 larceny case took on new proportions yesterday, when, following the arraignment of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berry and their being held in $2500 each for the grand jury, a third party, the mother of Mr. Berry, was locked up on suspicion of being an accessory after the fact.

Another sensation came in the revelation that the reason for Mrs. Mary Atwood's possession of $1700 hidden in her sleeping apartment was her desire to take one-half of the government pension from her soldier husband on the understanding that she was entirely dependent upon him for her support. The case is one of the most complicated the police have handled in a long time.

Henry Berry and his wife, Angeline, were arraigned charged with larceny of $1700 from Mrs. Atwood, and through their counsel entered a plea of not guilty and waived examination. Bail was fixed at $2500 each, and when no sureties were forthcoming, they were booked for jail to await the sitting of the September grand jury.

Meanwhile, Berry's mother, Mrs. Mary Jennie Berry, of 42 Church street, had been brought to the station on suspicion. After Berry's alleged confession he took Detectives O'Dowd and Hampton to his mother's home on Church street to show them where the money was hidden, and after burrowing in the sand in the cellar bottom, procured a bundle amounting to $500 in $10-bills. Later the police found $40 at a place designated on the west side and another $10 in the Church street place, but $1150 of the amount Mrs. Atwood claims was stolen is still missing.

THE STATE CENSUS

Supt. Gettemy Expects Work to End On Sept. 1

Charles F. Gettemy, supervisor of the Massachusetts census, last evening issued the following statement explaining the delay in making public the Massachusetts figures as told in a Washington dispatch in yesterday morning's paper. Supervisor Gettemy's explanation is as follows:

"The statement in the Washington dispatch to the effect that the Massachusetts figures are being withheld to accommodate the state in some of its own statistical work, means only that the census office has virtually allowed the supervisor of Massachusetts to adopt such methods in checking up the work of the enumerators as the experience of state censuses has demonstrated to be desirable.

Cancer and Cancerous Growth WAY TO CHECK IT WITHOUT USE OF KNIFE

Previously, cured of a cancerous growth I have been chosen to do my share to help stamp out this awful disease.

I have been given some little books by the one who cured me and told to distribute these books to all needy persons who are looking for the means of checking any cancerous growth.

I have nothing to sell—I simply know what has been done for me, and how sincere and honest an effort is being made to reach those now suffering from cancer.

When you write me I will send you without cost one of these books. I shall make no further effort to interest you, simply letting it rest with you after reading this book whether you want to investigate the means of reaching good health and escape the surgeon's knife. I shall also give your name to the doctor. I feel that an agent such as I am making today will do more than thousands of dollars spent in flaring advertisements. I believe you will help show me I am right by communicating with me.

HORSE WANTED for its keeping, for light work and with responsible party. Address B. M. A., Sun Office.

of this state is responsible for more population and the supervision of a larger number of enumerators than any of the other 330 supervisors in the United States, and is obviously impossible to complete a large job as quickly as a small one.

"The census figures for Rhode Island, for example, which were announced some time ago, were based upon the work of, I believe, about 312 enumerators in that state, whereas we had more than 400 in Boston alone and a total of over 1900 in the state.

"The majority of supervisors throughout the country, indeed, I believe, have had not more than between 200 and 300 enumerators under them. Probably at the time the census figures were announced for Rhode Island the examinations of the work of a corresponding number of enumerators, or more, in Massachusetts had been completed, but they were for districts scattered all over the state.

Immense Amount of Detail

"The amount of detail work which is involved in properly checking up the work of so large a number of enumerators as we have in Massachusetts cannot be appreciated by any one who has not been through a census as part of his working machinery; and the particular methods to be adopted are left by the census office largely to the judgment of the supervisor.

"In Massachusetts this has involved scrutinizing each of the millions of entries on thousands of schedules reported by the enumerators throughout the state for the purpose of ascertaining whether the information called for has been properly entered; a comparison of the count as returned by the enumerators with the figures of the last census, wherever districts were comparable; a comparison of each one of the 1956 portfolios, some of which contained thousands of names each, with maps, directories, street books, etc., in the 33 cities and towns where maps could be procured, for the purpose of making reasonably certain that the enumerators have canvassed all the streets in their respective districts.

"This has been supplemented in many cases by further comparison with accessible lists in Boston with the police lists. There are, therefore, about 300 officially listed institutions of various kinds in the Commonwealth—hospitals, jails, insane asylums, etc., which must be properly checked up, and this particular branch of the work has involved numerous complications which had to be straightened out, due to the fact that in some cases enumerators did not understand that they were to count the population of these institutions; and this, of course, had to be obtained before the population of a given district could be regarded as complete.

Expects to Finish Sept. 1

"If all the supervisor had to do was to forward the schedules to Washington as rapidly as the enumerators sent them in upon the normal completion of their field work, and only a count of the names as actually returned, were involved, the announcement of results would be a very simple matter and could be made almost immediately; but the supplementary field and clerical work necessary to make sure that the enumeration has been complete as possible, and the incidental clerical work necessary to putting the schedules into proper shape for tabulation before being shipped to Washington is, it will be seen, if carefully and conscientiously performed for the more than 1900 enumeration districts of the 33 cities and 321 towns of Massachusetts, something of a job.

About 70 clerks have been rushing this work forward to completion as rapidly as possible, under the supervision of trained experts in census work. The heaviest part of this is now over; most of the portfolios have been shipped to Washington, but there still remains a considerable amount in the aggregate of cleaning up work to be done here and there.

To every census there is always a certain number of districts in which peculiar difficulties have arisen which must be straightened out before the work is in condition to be finally accepted, and while the great bulk of work in Massachusetts, so far as the supervisor is concerned, has been completed, it is obvious that so long as the portfolio of a single district in any given city or town is not in condition to forward, the population total for that city or town cannot be given out at the census office. The work is thus of such a character that while there are numerous unavoidable delays which temporarily impede its progress, it reaches a culminating point, making it possible to complete the totals for a very large number of communities almost simultaneously.

"If I can get the last of the few remaining portfolios of the 1956 Massachusetts districts sent to Washington by Sept. 1 I shall be very well satisfied. This, I believe, will mark the completion of this stage of the census work in Massachusetts at a much earlier date than has usually been the case in the past, which has generally not been until late in the autumn or winter following the actual enumeration."

JOHN C. ROURKE

Honored by Members of Div. 8, A. O. H.

Division 8, A. O. H., held an interesting smoke talk and social in Hibernian hall last night in honor of their president, John C. Rourke, who, has returned as a delegate from the national A. O. H. convention which was held in Portland, Oregon. There was a large attendance and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner.

One of the features of the evening

was the presentation to President Rourke of a substantial purse of money showing the esteem in which he is held by the members of the division. The presentation speech was made by John W. McEvoy and President Rourke responded with appropriate remarks, thanking his brethren for their kindness.

Other presentations were made during the evening. Miss Della Conway, of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the A. O. H., who was one of the most energetic workers during the recent bazaar given by the division, was presented a gold ring and Mrs. Patrick Sheridan, who also rendered valuable assistance at the bazaar, was presented a gold locket and chain.

After the presentations there were several addresses, among the speakers being Hon. James R. Casey and James O'Sullivan of this city; William J. Burke of Somerville, and Mrs. William J. Burke, state president of the A. O. H. Ladies' Auxiliary.

President Rourke gave a most interesting account of the national convention, which, he said, besides being most enjoyable, was productive of many excellent results.

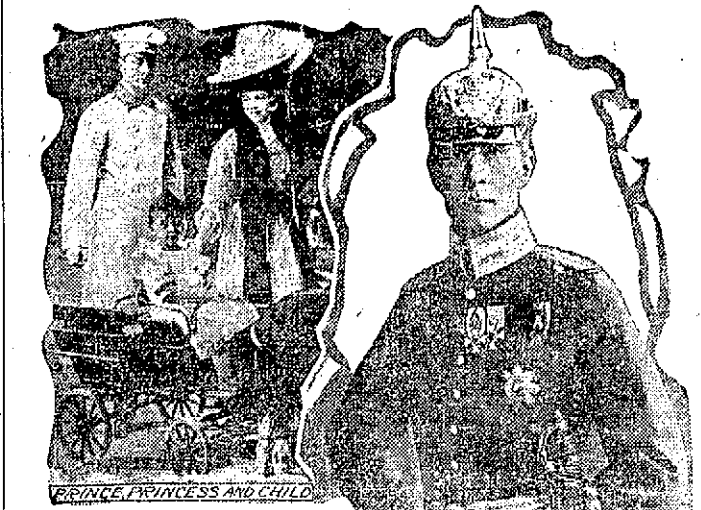

In the business session, presided over by Daniel P. Reddy, vice president, arrangements were made for the coming state parade and convention.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

"Way Out West," the attraction at Lakeview theatre this week, was given its first of a series of presentations last night to an appreciative audience.

It is an one would imagine from the title a western play, and does not take second place to any of the plays of this kind, for it has all the thrilling incidents, comedy and heart interest

GERMANY'S NEXT EMPEROR PLANS TOUR OF THE WORLD SOON

BERLIN, AUG. 9.—Crown Prince Frederick William is to soon start on an official tour of the world, going first to India, China and Japan, as the personal representative of his father, Emperor William. Arrangements have been made for the reception of the heir to Germany's throne in India through the British foreign office. The crown prince's official program for the royal trip has not been made up, but it is practically settled that Prince William will enter the United States from a Pacific coast port, and visit all important parts of the British foreign office. ## CANNOT ENTER SALOONS

DENVER, Aug. 9.—An order was issued yesterday by the local fire and police boards prohibiting Salvation Army women entering saloons to solicit aid and sell their literature. The order is based on the theory that the practice is demoralizing as the girls are thrown into temptation.

GILLIS AFTER THE RECORD

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—John Gillis, a policeman of Vancouver, B. C., who is to take part in the national all-round athletic championships at Marshall field next Saturday, arrived yesterday much disappointed at Martin Sheridan's failure to enter as it was reported in Vancouver that the eastern star would participate.

Gillis is six feet four inches tall, weighs 170 pounds and is 26 years old. He is the tallest athlete entered. In a recent trial of ten events Gillis came within a few points of the record.

STATUE OF REED

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 9.—The pedestal on which will be placed the statue of former Speaker Reed is now in position on the western promenade and in a short time the bronze statue will be placed on it. In a few days the final details for the unveiling of this memorial on August 31 will be completed. The officers of the Memorial association are quite sure President Taft will be present but he has not as yet formally accepted the invitation.

that are found in the western melodrama, and then some more.

James Thatcher, who plays the role of "the westerner," played, as did Florence Farr, who also had a good part. Other members of the company who were good were Don Harold, Jack Rowe, Ben Johnson, Bob Lee, Francis Williams and Mrs. Don Harold. Audiences are given every day except Monday at 2:30, evenings at 8:15. Seats in advance can be secured at Carter and Sherburne's drug store.

CHELMSFORD

The residence of H. R. Barbour in High street, Chelmsford Centre, was entered by a burglar some time Sunday night, but so far as can be learned nothing was taken, the visitor apparently being in search of money, for silver and articles of value lying about were left untouched.

The contents of drawers and desks were overhauled, and papers disturbed in the search. The occupants of the house heard unusual noises during the night, but the cause was not learned until morning.

NORWOOD CLUB RAIDED

LYNN, Aug. 9.—After watching the rooms of the Norwood club at 88 Willow street for a long time from the roofs of neighboring blocks, Officers Crowley and Sears of the Lynn police, last night jimmied open a rear door and arrested ten men on a charge of being present where gambling implements were. One man, who said he would jump out of the window, was persuaded to change his mind by the officers.

The apartment, which is in reality a flat, was stripped of its pool tables and all its furniture, valued at about $500. The raid was made at 9 o'clock, and up to a late hour friends of the arrested men were trying in all ways to get bail for them.

RAINFALL CAUSED FLOODS

TOKIO, Aug. 9.—A torrential rainfall that continued today has caused devastating floods principally in Shizuoka province on the southern coast. Hundreds of houses have been submerged and one occupied by a number of students in the province of Shizuoka was buried with its tenants beneath a landslide.

Washouts along the railway lines are reported and several trains have been derailed as a consequence.

NOTORIOUS BURGLAR ESCAPED

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 9.—An automobile was heard to pass the county jail just before midnight last night and Sheriff Dewey entertains the belief that this was the vehicle used in aiding the escape of Timothy A. Sheedy, the notorious burglar. The prisoner was under a thirty years' sentence, but as there is no room for more prisoners in the state prison he was being held in the county jail. Sheedy cut the steel bars of his cell, made his way through the corridor toward the north end of the prison and then passed through the hospital. There James Carroll, a short term prisoner, had sawed the bars from a window and both between the rounds of the watchman made their escape. Before the street was reached a ten-foot fence was scaled. Sheedy is a very dangerous man and had served long terms in various prisons. He was armed with an automatic revolver when arrested here.

GAYNOR SHOT

MAYOR WILLIAM J. GAYNOR.

James J. Gallagher Fired on Mayor of New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mayor W. J. Gaynor of New York city was shot and probably fatally wounded on board the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Gross as he was sailing for Europe today.

His assailant, was arrested and gave the name of James Jules Gallagher, and his residence as 440 Third avenue, Manhattan.

At the time of the shooting the mayor was standing on the upper deck talking with Commissioner Thompson.

Mayor Gaynor was carried from the ship on a stretcher and placed in the ambulance of Volk which had been summoned by the police. He was carried to St. Mary's hospital in Willow avenue, Hoboken. When he reached the hospital he was still conscious. He was immediately taken to the operating room.

Three shots were fired, two of which were missed. One struck him in the neck.

When asked why he had shot the Mayor, Gallagher said:

"He deprived me of my bread and butter." Gallagher was taken to the adjacent police station and arraigned.

It is ascertained that Gallagher was employed as a watchman in the department of docks up to June 1st.

SAYS GAYNOR IS STRONG

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—At 2:45 o'clock this afternoon Dr. Sullivan, one of the physicians of St. Mary's hospital, said:

BULLET ENTERED HEAD

The bullet entered the head just behind the left ear and apparently ploughed its way straight in. The mayor was bareheaded at the time and was standing on the fore part of the cabin deck bidding good bye to friends. The assailant appeared to be demented.

According to our report the shot fired struck Mayor Gaynor in the mouth. He was walking on the promenade deck of the steamer when the shot was fired. Detectives were immediately rushed in numbers from Manhattan headquarters to the scene of the tragedy at the Hoboken steamship pier.

Mayor Gaynor and some city officials were standing in a group about to have their photographs taken when the shooting began. Blood spurted from the wound in the neck as the mayor

CHANGES HANDS

LOCAL FRENCH NEWSPAPER SOLD TO TWO MEN

LETOILE, the local French newspaper which is published daily, Sundays excepted, at 135-137 Middle street, has been sold to Louis A. Biron of Nashua, N. H., and A. Chaput of Salem, Mass.

Both men are well known among the French-American citizens of this vicinity. Mr. Biron being the publisher of L'Impartial, a weekly publication in Nashua, while Mr. Chaput publishes weekly Le Courrier in Salem.

LETOILE was formerly owned by local parties but a few years ago the paper changed hands and since the local men divorced themselves from the publication several changes have been made. Recently the New England Investment Co., which owned several papers in New England, purchased LETOILE and everything seemed to be running along smoothly until recently the company got into financial difficulties and a receiver was appointed and it was stated that the local paper was the cause of the biggest loss to the company.

The purchase of LETOILE was made through Burnham P. Hodges, the receiver of the New England Investment Co. While no statement has as yet been given out by the new owners it is understood that the plant will be moved to the corner of Merrimack and Thibault streets.

Miss Elkins and her mother, the correspondent adds, will leave for Paris this week and will be joined by the Duke and his wife.

THE CITY COUNCIL

Meetings of Both Branches to be Held Tonight

Resolution That Lowell Citizens be Given Preference on City Work — Appropriations Committee to Hold a Session This Evening

There will be meetings galore at city hall tonight. Both branches of the city council will meet; the aldermen will hold an adjourned meeting and the council will meet in special session. The special session of the lower board is called for the purpose of cleaning matters up for vacation. Neither of the boards will meet again, perhaps, until September.

Councilman Charles F. Donahoe of ward four is a firm believer in the employment of local labor and just for that he will introduce the following resolution at tonight's meeting:

Resolution relating to employment of laborers and mechanics on municipal work.

That it be the sense of the city council that in the employment of laborers and mechanics on any municipal work, heads of departments should give preference to citizens of Lowell, and that in contract work, heads of departments should take every reasonable measure to require, wherever possible, that Lowell citizens be given preference when laborers and mechanics are employed.

Councilman Chapman will probably introduce an order for $10,000 as a starter for the Shedd park. Mr. Chapman believes, with many others, that it is best to start the Shedd park work as soon as possible as it will require years to complete it.

Councilman Chapman will also introduce an ordinance providing for signs on municipal autos. The ordinance will stipulate that the words "City of Lowell" must be worn on the hood, together with the name of the particular department, and that the signs must be at all times displayed.

Appropriations Committee

The appropriations committee will meet this evening and it is expected that some action will be taken relative to the proposition for a new pump for the Centralville pumping station, about which so much has been heard within the last few days. It is generally conceded that it is up to the committee on appropriations to do something.

The committee will have before it an order for $10,000 for the rebuilding of the Congress and Billerica street bridges and the $20,000 order for the widening of a portion of Lawrence street near the Wamssett canal and the rebuilding of the bridge over River Meadow brook.

Calls for Assistance

Owing to the fact that most of the mills are on short time and that a great many are out of work, the calls for aid at the office of the board of charities are on the increase. The drain on the dispensary, however, is not as great as during the hot weather when so many children are ailing. It was stated at the office of the board of health today that Lowell's physical condition is all right. No contagious diseases have been reported for several days.

THAT HUSBAND DID NOT SUPPORT HER

PORT HER

John P. Hourigan was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with being drunk. He entered a plea of guilty and was ordered to pay a fine of $5. After the drunken offenders had been tried they were hustled downstairs, but he had been down there but a short time when his wife entered the station and wanted to make a complaint against her husband for non-support. He was hustled back into the court room again but after the complaint had been made the wife was among the missing and his case was continued till tomorrow morning.

6 O'CLOCK GRAND PARADE

Knights Templar Make a Fine Showing in Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Although today's parade of Knights Templar, composed of 30,000 uniformed men and covering 43 blocks, was scheduled to last from 10 a. m. till 3 p. m., none of the knights were in danger of having to forego luncheon, thanks to 100,000 ham sandwiches made last night by 100 men and women for distribution early today. Twenty-five commissary wagons were employed to distribute the sandwiches. Before the sandwiches were loaded on the wagons they were thoroughly inspected by Knight W. W. Evans, city health commissioner.

Parade Starts

A trumpet blazed, a thousand orders were shouted as one out of acres of waving, gleaming white plumes, a steady, broad ribbon of gleaming white poured itself out into Michigan boulevard with banners bearing heraldic devices and with cross-billed swords at shoulder, and there began in Chicago today the greatest parade of Knights Templar ever witnessed in the history of the order. Every knight attending the thirty-first annual convocation could get into line was there a part of the seemingly endless stream of white-bonneted, somberly attired knights, nor did the stream stop at a given point for three hours.

The Right Honorable Henry James, Earl of Euston, cousin of King George of England and most eminent supreme grand master of the great priory of England and Wales, waited beside the line attired in his full regalia as head of the British templary to review the followers of the red cross. Further on Mayor Buse was saluted and still further Gov. Deeney acknowledged the salute of Knights Templar of Illinois. This was the big day of the convocation. Later will come drilling for prizes in which the flower of the knightly world will meet in pastime but this day was that on which a half-million spectators stood beside the winding streets while the thousands of knights were on parade. Sixteen grand divisions swept down the line of march, then broke to reconvene in the afternoon in the music hall where the convocation was to be opened, where addresses of welcome were to be delivered by Right Honorable Sir Cleveland, grand commander of Knights Templar of Illinois, by Mayor Buse and Governor Deeney. Tonight the Earl of Euston will receive invited guests at the headquarters hotel and the different state grand commanders will hold open house at their various headquarters.

THOSE INDIAN LAND DEALS

McALESTER, Okla., Aug. 9.—Senator T. P. Gore at the congressional investigation of the Indian land deals today introduced and had read to the investigating committee telegrams in which the names of Vice President Sherman and Senator Curtis of Kansas were mentioned. One of the telegrams read:

"With McMurray there to state your claims, with Mr. Curtis and Mr. Sherman who understand better than anybody what we want and with the assistance of our president, it begins to look like we are coming into our own."

This telegram was dated at Kinta, May 2 last, and was sent to Richard C. Adams, an attorney at Washington, by George Scott, McMurray's agent among the Indians.

Its relations to Senator Gore's charges of having been offered $25,000 bribe to put through congress the $30,000,000 McMurray Indian land deal was explained by the senator:

"It merely shows the activity of the McMurray interests at Washington," said Senator Gore.

"By offering this evidence I do not wish to reflect either on Mr. Sherman or Mr. Curtis," said the senator.

"Do you mean that as an exonerator from you of Mr. Sherman?" asked Dennis Flynn, attorney for McMurray.

"It is merely to state that if the names of these men were taken in vain at one time they may have been at another," replied Mr. Gore.

Another telegram from McMurray at Washington was read. It ordered that McMurray's agent among the Indians sent fifty telegrams urging congress to approve the contracts allowing $3,000,000, "attorneys fees."

RECONCILED WIFE

Has Again Sued Her Husband

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The details of a "home-coming party" tendered to Mrs. Marie Schwarz last winter after Supreme Court Justice Newburger had advised her and her husband to become reconciled, were related yesterday in the supreme court.

Mrs. Schwarz, through her lawyer, again appeared in court to ask for $500 a month alimony pending a new suit for separation. Her husband, Adolph M. Schwarz, is a lawyer, with offices in several cities.

After Justice Newburger declined last winter to give the handsome wife a separation and advised her and "Dear Dodo," as she used to call her husband, to become reconciled, Mrs. Schwarz accepted the advice and immediately went to her husband's residence at 620 West 122nd street.

When she arrived, she declares, a maid showed her to the library. "This is to be your room, madame," she was told, she alleges.

Mrs. Schwarz, however, decided that her husband's bedroom was a better sleeping room, so she took possession. When Mr. Schwarz came home, the court was told, his wife refused to let him enter his room.

"She dropped a hairpin over the transom," Schwarz's lawyer explained. "You mean Schwarz smashed the transom himself when he couldn't get in," the lawyer for Mrs. Schwarz interjected.

After Mrs. Schwarz had finally retired to the library and the curtains had been drawn, there came in the Schwartz residence, it was stated, a party of the husband's friends to celebrate his wife's home-coming. "The party was 'convivial,'" the court was told, and some of the guests spent their time pulling aside the curtains and giving Mrs. Schwarz the merry ha-ha!

There was some discussion between the lawyers as to whether Mrs. Schwarz came from Austria or France, and there was considerable doubt as to whether Mr. Schwarz is in receipt of an income of $26,000 a year or one-sixth of that amount. His attorney asserted that his client's business has practically been ruined by his matrimonial troubles.

Mrs. Schwarz declares her life was made miserable at her husband's house by the conduct of the servants and others. Once, she alleges, her coffee was tampered with and she became violently ill. She was laughed at when she complained. At another time, she contends, her husband told her to go to Chicago to live, and then wired her as soon as she arrived to come back to New York, as he had changed his mind.

The climax came, she charges, when her husband choked her and then "killed" their 12-year-old son. As proof of the choking she produced in court a photograph which her counsel claimed, shows the marks of her husband's hands. She also submitted to the court letters from her son, who is now in a French school. He was placed there, she says, by her husband, who spirited him out of the jurisdiction of the court against her will and the boy's wishes.

Mr. Schwarz denies his wife's charges. He asserts that when she came back to his home to live he prepared the house "as for a bride," but was unable to please her.

Justice Coff reserved decision upon the application for alimony and counsel fees.

JERSEY PASTOR

ABANDONS EVENING SERVICE BECAUSE OF SKEETERS

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 9.—The pastor of the Hinton Methodist church, the Rev. A. Devlin Fitzgerald, has never taken much to the idea of summer vacations. He has been holding services regularly both morning and evening and they have been well attended. But for a while the evening service will be replaced by the vesper service at about 1 o'clock in the afternoon until frost comes and drives away the mosquitoes.

For several weeks each Sunday night the pastor has kept the pastor sleeping at them while conducting the service. He provided screens for the doors and windows, but the mosquito of 1910 did not sleep.

On Monday it was announced from the pulpit that hereafter until the mosquito season ends the congregation will stand a march on the doors and get all the services out of the way before he leaves his haunts as the shadow of evening fall.

GAYNOR SHOT

fell to the deck. Officer Fitzgerald, one of the guards of the North German Lloyd line, was standing near at the time. He had in his hand a small police club with which he hit the assassin a blow on the head, telling him to get up. The man was seized by officers. In the scuffle he had fell off, disclosing the initials "H. O. M." Throughout the struggle the man retained a pipe in his hand.

Meantime there was intense excitement on the deck of the steamer. The mayor's secretary lifted the stricken executive to his feet and with the assistance of others carried him to a stateroom.

Later he was conveyed to the hospital.

The revolver used by the assassin was found to contain four empty shells.

Mayor Gaynor's Words

As Mayor Gaynor was being borne by his friends he remarked simply: "Say good-bye to the people."

At the city hall it is believed that Gallagher is the man who had been noticed loitering in city hall park for several weeks, apparently trying to see Mayor Gaynor. The attendants at the city hall however prevented the man reaching the mayor.

Mayor Gaynor's administration, which began on Jan. 1st last, had been so drastic in its reforms and he had condemned so many persons and parties in such strong terms that he became the subject of many threats.

In municipal circles he made many bitter enemies and a number of powerful political organizations were uncompromising against him.

Going on Vacation

Gaynor was sailing on the first vacation he has had since taking office on January first. He has been at work from fourteen to sixteen hours a day and imperatively felt the need of a rest. In order to keep out of reach of the affairs of his office it was his intention to avoid all the European cities and to take a jaunt through the North sea through the coast of Norway. He expected to be absent about one month.

Mayor Gaynor was rather secretive about his preparations for the journey which was so tragically interrupted.

To friends who saw him at his office yesterday afternoon he said his principal object was the sea-trip and he had no intention of visiting the continent or stopping in any of the large English cities.

"I want a rest," he said; "I may go to Sweden and possibly to Denmark."

He added that he desired to be at sea as much as possible after the hard work of the past few months and to get himself in condition for many problems that faced him on his return.

EX-PRES. ROOSEVELT

IS SHOCKED AND HORRIFIED

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt sent the following telegram to acting Mayor Mitchell as soon as he heard the report of the shooting: "I am shocked and horrified beyond measure. Please send me information. (Signed) 'Theodore Roosevelt'."

THE MAYOR'S ASSAILANT WAS

OF QUIET DISPOSITION

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Sophia Johnson, who keeps the rooming house at 440 Third avenue where Gallagher lives, when told today that her boarder had attempted to kill the mayor, exclaimed:

"The old fool; what did he do that for?"

Mrs. Johnson described Gallagher as a man of retiring demeanor, over 50 years old, who evidently had employment as a night watchman for it was his custom to go out every night at 10 o'clock and return at half past eight in the morning.

Gallagher, according to Mrs. Johnson, came in at half past six o'clock this morning and went to his room, and his landlady did not see him go out again. He occupied a single room at the rear of the house and she regarded him as a first class boarder. As far as she knew he was not in politics. He had no friends in the house and his visitors from outside, Mrs. Johnson described as men of good appearance and address.

THE MAYOR'S INJURY

MAY NOT BE SERIOUS

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mayor William J. Gaynor was not in danger, it was learned at 9:45 o'clock this morning as he stood on the deck of the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse in Hoboken about to start on a month's vacation in Europe.

The shooting was done by a stranger who later gave his name as James J. Gallagher, living at 440 Third avenue, New York. He was later identified as a former city employee who had been discharged.

Three shots were fired at the mayor. Two of them missed and the third lodged in the fleshy part of the left side of the neck. Blood gushed from the wound and the first hasty examination led to the belief of serious and perhaps fatal results.

The mayor retained consciousness and later examination by the physicians when the mayor was taken to the hospital gave a more hopeful outlook.

Shortly after 11 the following statement was given out by the steamer's physician who attended Mayor Gaynor just after the shooting:

"The bullet entered the mayor's neck back of the ear, burying itself in the region of the mastoid bone. As far as our observations go in our opinion the injury is not serious."

Commissioner Shot

It has been learned that Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards was shot in the chest by a bullet fired by one of the bullets fired at Gaynor. Edwards was standing by the mayor, seized Gallagher's arm. One of the bullets pierced through the street cleaner's sleeve and grazed his left arm. The wound, however, was so slight that Commissioner Edwards was not aware of it at the time, discovering it later after the excitement had subsided, when his arm began to pain him.

The shooting occurred under circumstances of the most dramatic character. Mayor Gaynor came aboard the steamer accompanied by a number of city officials about to bid him adieu on his trip abroad. The party proceeded to the upper deck and were assembled in a group giving final greetings. Crowds of passengers were about on deck and with friends waving adieu from the pier. The mayor's party had just formed a group preparatory to having their picture taken.

Gave No Warning

Suddenly a stranger pushed through the throng. He approached the mayor and without a word began shooting. The shot rang out in quick succession. Instantly there was the greatest excitement as the shots carried warning and terror to the throng.

Mayor Gaynor was seen to fall to the deck and the gushing wound told that he had been hit. At the same moment a ship's guard sprang forward and dealt the assassin a blow on the head with a billy.

The man was struck to the deck where officers seized him. He was turned over to the Hoboken police and taken at once to police headquarters. There he gave the name of Gallagher and in response to inquiries as to why he had committed the deed he replied sulkily: "He kept me from getting my bread and butter."

When Mayor Gaynor had been carried to a stateroom he remained conscious but breathed heavily. He was calm but apparently apprehensive that the wound was grave. An ambulance was summoned to the pier, and the wounded mayor was placed on a stretcher and carried to it. The vehicle was driven to St. Mary's hospital in Hoboken, where the mayor was taken to the operating room. He was still conscious and occasionally spoke to those about him. To the city officials who accompanied him to the hospital he indicated the gravity with which he viewed the shooting by remarking:

The Mayor Calm

The hospital physicians who examined the wound agreed with the ship's surgeon that it was not necessarily serious. It was found that the bullet had entered the mayor's neck back of the ear, burying itself in the region of the mastoid bone. The bullet was not located at first. It was decided to await the arrival of expert men from New York, who were hastily summoned. Meantime the mayor remained calm. His chief difficulty came from the gathering of blood in his throat.

The attempt to assassinate the mayor caused intense excitement throughout New York. The prominence of the city executive in recent months in city affairs and to growing extent in state and national affairs attracted widespread attention and alarm at this attempt on his life. Everywhere the news was received with evidence of profound regret.

In all public places, the hotels, clubs and highways, the mayor's name was on the lips of the absorbing topic. One of the first dispatches of condolence was from ex-President Roosevelt expressing horror and indignation at the crime.

GALLAGHER FORMERLY

WATCHMAN ON DOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—James J. Gallagher was appointed a watchman in the New York city dock department on April 7, 1909. He was discharged on July 19, 1910, after having been found guilty of neglect of duty and misconduct. Among his other transgressions was the fact that he failed to march the dial on the timeclock that recorded his presence. He was also charged with using insulting language to the inspector. Since his discharge Gallagher has been writing letters to the mayor.

Save for the servants, the Gaynor residence in Brooklyn was deserted this morning, all the members of the family, with the exception of Ruth Gallagher, a son, being down at St. James. L. I. Rufus went over to the steamship to say goodbye to his father there.

REPORT OF SHOOTING

RECEIVED AT BEVERLY

BEVERLY, Aug. 9.—The reports of the attempted assassination of Mayor Gaynor of New York aroused the deepest interest and sympathy in the summer capital. After the first bulletin Secretary Norton got into touch with Boston and New York. The subsequent bulletins indicating that the wound was not serious as at first reported were received with much gratification.

President Taft was kept informed during the day.

SAYS MAYOR IS CHEERFUL

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (Nocr)—Coming directly from a consultation of surgeons in attendance on Mayor Gaynor, Health Commissioner Lederle said:

"I have just left the mayor and he seemed very cheerful and in good spirits. His vitality is very good. In my opinion he has a good chance of recovery."

MAYOR IS CONSCIOUS

AND RESTING QUIETLY

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The following bulletin was issued by the surgeons attending Mayor Gaynor after a consultation just finished:

"The mayor was shot on the right side of the neck, the bullet entering the posterior and upper part and ranging downward and forward. The position of the bullet has not been definitely located, but will be determined later by x-rays."

"The mayor is conscious and is now resting quietly and there seems to be no immediate danger."

MAN UNDER ARREST

HAS MADE CONFESSION

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Gallagher made the following signed confession of his act to acting Chief of Police Bell of Hoboken:

"I came over to Hoboken at 9:20 this morning and I went to the steamship pier and I went on board the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. I met a clerkman on board of the steamer and I asked him to point out Mayor Gaynor to me. He did so, and shortly after I fired a shot at the mayor. I do not know if I fired more than one shot or not."

"Knowing that Mayor Gaynor was going to Europe this morning to enjoy himself after depriving me of my bread and butter, not periphrastic steak," I was irritated to the point of committing the act.

"The revolver you show me is the revolver that I did the shooting with. I don't know how many shots were in

Gallagher seemed remarkably cool while making this statement to which he affixed his signature.

Detective Sergeant Closter arrived at the house, 440 Third avenue, about a quarter before one o'clock and accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, Gallagher's landlady, went at once to Gallagher's room. The room, which is a small one on the third floor, was much littered with a number of medicine bottles were in evidence and it was clear that Gallagher had spent much of his time recently in reading the newspapers.

It was said in the neighborhood that Gallagher had been drinking a good deal of late and rumor had it that he had lost $300 on the Jeffries-Johnson fight.

Inspector Russell is to take charge of the case against Gallagher.

SHOCKED AT NEWS

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—"I am immensely shocked at the news of the shooting of Mayor Gaynor," said Governor Hughes today. "We hope for the best."

PRESIDENT TAFT

WAS GREATLY SHOCKED

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—This afternoon the following telegram was received at the city hall from President Taft:

"Hon. W. J. Gaynor: 'I am greatly shocked to hear of the outrageous assault on you. I am very glad to hear that the wound inflicted on you is not serious. I earnestly hope and pray your recovery may be rapid. (Signed) 'William H. Taft.'"

GAYNOR BEGAN LIFE

AS NEWSPAPER REPORTER

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mayor William J. Gaynor, who is fifty-nine years of age, began life as a Brooklyn newspaper reporter, studying law at night while working days. He entered politics as a democrat and was first appointed an assistant and then elected district attorney of Kings county. That was the time John McKelvey, late political boss of the city, ruled. Gaynor and Gravesend as an independent reformer, reaping a large fortune from his corrupt political practices. Gaynor had McKelvey's funeral election machinery and sent McKelvey to prison for the rest of his life.

A few years later Gaynor was elected to the supreme court bench and there he served until his appointment to the appellate division of the supreme court, second district, which he resigned after his nomination for mayor last year.

STAFF OF ST. MARY'S SAID

GAYNOR SHOWED FORTITUDE

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Dr. William Minford of the house staff of St. Mary's hospital said that the mayor showed great fortitude.

"I gave the mayor strychnine when he first came to the hospital," said Dr. Minford, "because he was suffering from shock, and to remove the blood from his throat. The mayor did not complain of pain."

"He said: 'Try and discourage me. Don't tell me it's all right if the wound is serious. I want to know the worst.'"

"The hemorrhage from the mayor's throat ceased at eleven o'clock."

Mrs. Vincent, Mayor Gaynor's daughter, who was recently married, was almost in a state of collapse when she reached the hospital.

Shortly after Mrs. Vincent arrived Gallagher was brought by the police to the hospital to have him identified by his victim as the police had heard that the mayor was in a dying condition. Commissioner Edwards and friends of the mayor, however, backed up by the physicians put a prompt veto on this move. Commissioner Edwards declared that he and a hundred others could make all the indication that was necessary and the mayor's physicians declared that the patient was in no condition to undergo such an ordeal.

Gallagher was taken back to the police station and later was brought before Recorder McGoover, where he was formally arraigned. The recorder warned him that any statement he might make would be used against him. Gallagher shifted uneasily and said:

"I hardly know what to say, as I have no counsel."

"In that case," said Recorder McGoover, "I will hold you without bail to await the action of the grand jury and the outcome of Mayor Gaynor's injury."

Gallagher was again looked up, but before he had been repeatedly photographed by a large company of camera men who crowded the court room. He seemed rather pleased by the attention he was attracting and in getting ready to pose before the camera straightened his collar and necktie and stood erect and complacent while the light was flashed.

Word had been sent to Mrs. Gaynor at her country place in St. James, R. I. of the serious injury to her husband and she started in an automobile on a long ride to the hospital. Her chauffeur was instructed to proceed with all possible speed and directions were given the police all along the route not to interfere with the coming of the vehicle.

Mrs. Gaynor bore up well under the shock of the news of Mayor Gaynor's injury. The couple's young daughters remained at their home in St. James, it being decided not to call them to their father's bedside at the hospital unless his condition should become critical.

Commissioner Thompson of the department of water supply, gas and electricity, who left the mayor's bedside during the noon hour, said that the patient was bearing up bravely. Mr. Thompson was standing within two feet of the mayor when the shots were fired.

"When the mayor was shot," said Commissioner Thompson, "I placed his hand over the wound and said 'this is a pity.' Then he calmly asked to be taken to his stateroom."

It was announced shortly before one o'clock that all the physicians in attendance on Mayor Gaynor will hold a consultation at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when it will be determined whether or not the mayor is able to stand the strain of an x-ray examination.

Dr. Caldwell of New York has been directed to bring the necessary x-ray apparatus to the hospital at Hoboken.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—With Mayor Gaynor were Health Commissioner Lederle, Dock Commissioner Tompkins and Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards.

Gallagher was taken before Recorder McGoover, where he was formally arraigned. The recorder warned him that any statement he might make would be used against the mayor's injuries.

THE PRISONER ARRAIGNED

AND HELD WITHOUT BAIL

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—With Mayor Gaynor were Health Commissioner Lederle, Dock Commissioner Tompkins and Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards.

Gallagher was taken before Recorder McGoover, where he was formally arraigned. The recorder warned him that any statement he might make would be used against the mayor's injuries.

PACKAGE TRUST

Morgan Said to Be the Man Behind It

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The dream of the monopoly maker, a trust that will take its tribute from everybody, is about to be realized. J. Pierpont Morgan and about thirty other eminent trust builders are behind it. "The Single Service Package Corporation of America," the ultimate consumer of anything that comes in a package, front photograph records in signet, will pay its profits.

The trust already has started to organize. This is to buy and control all the patents covering the machinery used in the manufacture of "paper," "other containers," including a perfected paper milk bottle, and then to "lease," instead of "sell" the machines constructed under such patents to the manufacturers and other dealers who use packages.

The profits are likely to be enormous. Every machine in use will bring royalty. Bottles will be used to force certain products on the public; as, for instance, the paper milk bottle. One city, Boston, has already paved the way for the paper milk bottle by orders regarding the sale of milk in stores in "original packages." Others will be whipped into line.

In a letter to John Markle, the Pittsburgh millionaire coal operator, the promoter, with the frankness that seems to characterize trust builders, says: "Several cities already have passed ordinances prohibiting the distribution of milk and cream for household use in anything but sterile service containers. We will meet with delays and have fights on this point, but if we hold hard to our policy we will no doubt, within a few years, have complete control of the field. The policy which is being pursued is identical with that adopted by the United Shoe Machinery company. A. R. Turner, our vice president, has been actively identified with the management.

"We are endeavoring to secure control of all automatic machines necessary to the bottle making industry, including filling, weighing and labeling devices. So far we have been quite successful in this effort."

"Contracts now made show a gross yearly royalty income over cost of equipment and instalment of approximately 170 per cent. The deals closed are small compared with negotiations we have under way, and which should be consummated this fall."

The president of the corporation and its controlling spirit is James Gayley, who, until January last, was first vice president of the United States Steel Corporation.

One of its directors and principal advisers is Francis W. Upham of Chicago, president of the City Fuel company, of that city and assistant treasurer of the republican national committee.

Some idea may be formed of the amount of tribute to be exacted from the public by means of this latest of monopolistic schemes when it is realized that fourteen concerns in the United States alone use 355,000,000 of these containers every year, and the Single Service Package Corporation expects to charge all users of its patents $1 royalty on every 1000 containers made.

Incidentally it may be said that the machines built by the corporation under the patents it owns cost only $2000 each. The prospectus of the corporation shows that each one of these $2000 machines that it has in operation will bring it in an annual revenue of $6000, or a single unit of 100 machines will return more than one-third of its entire capital stock annually.

SITUATION PRECARIOUS

WASHINGTON

Conditions Were Dubious for the Events Today

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 8.—Somebody threw a thick blanket of fog over the sonder aspirants for Spanish-American yachting honors about dawn today and at 8 a. m. it looked as if the yachtsmen would spend the day on the clubhouse veranda instead of at sea. Baker's Island foghorn bellowed dolefully and off shore was heard the low growl of the coasting steamers. A light easterly breeze kept up the supply of mist from the big fog factory somewhere off Cape Ann and early conditions were particularly dubious for the continuation of the elimination trials.

Yachtsmen spent the hours waiting for the mist to rise in discussing the results of yesterday's racing in which the Harpoon, owned by C. F. Adams and the Clima, owned by Guy Lowell, finished the two races at the head of their respective divisions and prepared for today's contests with clean sheets. It was rumored here today that the committee might see fit to change the divisions before the eliminations began.

on Thursday night but the members of the committee were particularly reticent about the matter and no authoritative statement could be obtained. Both of yesterday's winners are this year's production, as is the Beaver, which finished second in the second division. But the Lady, which was second beat with the Harpoon in the first division, is a 1909 boat and did not even reach the semi-finals in last year's trial races.

"Dick" Boardman, her owner, however, has made slight changes in his boat and now the Lady is looked upon as a dangerous rival, especially as she made a better showing yesterday than the Beaver.

The standing of the yachts before today's race, according to the point score, was as follows:

Clima	0
Lady	2
Beaver	2
Demom	6
Ellen	6
Donnie	6
Sally XI	7
Joyette	8
Wolf	9
Bel	10

LAWYER TAKES OFF HER HAT

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Sophia M. Mayer, a lawyer, appeared before Supreme Court Justice Goff yesterday to argue a motion. When the court saw her at the counsel table he asked her why she was there and Mrs. Mayer said she represented the plaintiff.

"Are you an attorney?" asked Justice Goff.

"Yes, she's an attorney," answered A. B. Schleimer, the opposing counsel.

"Then remove your hat," said the court.

"I beg your pardon," said Mrs. Mayer, who didn't catch the court's remark.

"Are you any different from any other attorney?" said the court.

"Why don't you remove your hat?"

Mrs. Mayer got her hat off in a jiffy and proceeded to state her case.

THE "BLACK HAND"

Sent Threatening Letters to a New York Sculptor

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Domenico Borgia, chevalier of the Order of the Crown of Italy, sculptor and architect, one of the most prominent members of the Italian-American colony of New York, after appealing in vain for police protection from the Black Hand for nearly a year, has asked Mayor Gaynor to be allowed to protect himself. His plea for assistance in running down men who have vowed to murder him, torture his wife and kidnap his children unless he pays $2000, having failed, he wants permission to arm himself. He has been referred to the police official to police official, and has been met with promises of help, and that is all.

Mr. Borgia, who is known in every public-spirited movement in aid of his compatriots in this country, is head of the Borgia Construction company at No. 1133 Broadway. He lives with his wife and son and daughter at One Hundred and Eighty-first street and Fort Washington avenue. His work in marble adorns many notable buildings throughout the country. He was one of the prime movers in the association which erected the Verazzano statue at the Battery during the Hudson-Fulton celebration. For his services generally he was knighted a few months ago by King Victor Emmanuel, and on August 28 he is to be the guest at a breakfast given in his honor by the leading foreign business men of the city.

Mr. Borgia reluctantly consented yesterday to tell of the persecutions he and his family have undergone since last December.

"I had left for Mexico last December," said Mr. Borgia, "when there came to my office here a letter signed 'Il Mano Nera,' demanding that I leave $1000 on the new Brooklyn bridge under penalty of death. The letter was written in an illiterate hand and was full of oaths and blasphemy. When I returned in March another letter came in the same handwriting, making a similar demand. I paid no attention to this; it did not frighten me. Twenty-two years' residence in this country have taught me not to be frightened by threats that might move some persons to whom American institutions are strange.

"As a matter of precaution, I took the two letters to the police. They would look into it at once, the proper squad would be put to work, in the meantime I must say nothing. I waited. More letters came, nearly all at my office here, but one at my house. 'They have grown more frightened in tone at every number, and in

STRUCK BY AUTO Man Nearly Blind Was Injured.

Patrick Flynn, an elderly man who is nearly blind, was struck and knocked down by a big automobile at the corner of Gorham and Appleton streets shortly before six o'clock last night. Owing to the fact that the machine was traveling at a slow rate of speed Flynn escaped with minor bruises and a slight cut on the left temple.

The automobile is a big Packard touring car, belonging to Lyman E. Gordon of Grafton, Mass., and was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and a chauffeur. The machine was coming through Appleton street and just about to turn into Gorham street when Flynn stepped off the curb directly in front of the auto. The chauffeur applied the emergency brake at once but the action of Flynn was so sudden that the machine could not be brought to a stop before it struck the old man and knocked him down.

The occupants of the car got out and carried the man into Moore's drug store, where an examination showed that he was suffering from a slight cut over the left temple and had minor bruises. The cut was bandaged and later he was removed to his home.

The occupants of the car, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and a chauffeur, at once reported to the police station but were not held.

FUNERALS

BADMINGTON.—The funeral services of the late Amos Badmington were held yesterday afternoon from his home, 23 Inland street, and were largely attended. Rev. John T. Ullom, pastor of the Lawrence Street Primitive Methodist church, officiated. Mrs. John William sang "The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The floral offerings were profuse, including a pillow inscribed "Father" from the family; spray of asters from Mr. and Mrs. David William; spray of asters and sweetpeas from Mr. and Mrs. Emil Woessner; spray of white asters and pinks from Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey; spray of lavender and white asters from Elmer P. Mooney; spray of sweetpeas and asters from Mr. and Mrs. Perry Mooney; spray of pinks and sweet peas from Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brown; spray of pinks and sweetpeas from C. H. Howell; spray of sweetpeas from Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stoughton; Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Buckley and Miss Ellen Berry. The bearers were Messrs. David William, Emil Woessner, Perry Mooney and John D. William. Burial took place in the family lot in the Edison cemetery, where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Ullom. Undertaker William H. Saunders had charge of the funeral arrangements.

WELCH.—The funeral of Mary Elizabeth Welch took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, George P. and Catherine Welch, 45 Cross street. There were sprays of flowers from Mr. and Mrs. Michael Welch. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertaker Peter H. Savage.

WILSON.—The funeral of Daniel E. Wilson took place yesterday morning from the rooms of Undertaker Peter H. Savage. Burial was in the Edison cemetery.

BURIED A MAN

Woman Thought He Was Her Brother

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—An indignant woman in Los Angeles, Mrs. H. G. Donnelly, threatens to bring suit against the city of New York unless the city refunds to her the money she spent in providing burial for the body of a man, which through the mistake of a city clerk, she thought was that of her brother.

In a letter received by the charities department yesterday Mrs. Donnelly says that New York must settle the bill.

June 19 last John Doyle, Mrs. Donnelly's brother, was admitted to the city home and was discharged on July 18. He gave as references the name of Mrs. Donnelly and her sister, who live in Cincinnati. There was another John Doyle in the city home at the same time. This John Doyle seems to have had no friends or relatives and he died July 8.

Mrs. Donnelly was notified that her brother was dead and she sent money for the funeral expenses. A little later she received a letter from her brother saying that he had recovered.

RURAL SOCIAL WORKERS

AMHERST, Aug. 9.—For the purpose of discussing rural problems, a conference of agricultural educators and rural social workers opened here today in connection with the summer school of the Massachusetts Agricultural college. Prominent workers in the study of agriculture were today's speakers. The general topic at the opening session of the conference was "Agricultural Organization." This session was divided into six sectional meetings at which the subject was discussed in its different phases. The visitors also inspected the college farm this forenoon. Another meeting was held this afternoon.

LOWELL WOMEN

TO BE ENTERTAINED BY CAPT. AND MRS. GREIG

Mrs. A. D. Mitchell of 79 Chelmsford street and Mrs. E. A. Barnes of Harrison street have gone to New York on a three weeks' visit. They will be the guests of Capt. and Mrs. Alexander Greig at Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., for several days. The captain and Mrs. Greig are personal friends of Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Barnes and their husbands and will be delighted to meet and entertain the two Lowell ladies. The Lowell women will visit Coney Island, Brighton and Manhattan beaches and Atlantic City before they return home.

There will be a meeting of the membership committee of the board of trade at the Par Hotel, Wednesday at 12 m., Aug. 10th.

FOUGHT THE POLICE Riot in Street in New York City Yesterday

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—As a result of the cloak manufacturers' attempt to open their shops yesterday there was a riot on West 21st street, and in almost every precinct in lower Manhattan reserves were held ready if occasion required.

The trouble that grew into a riot, with bloodshed and cracked heads, was at the shop of Bernstein & Co., 250 West 21st street. Fifteen hundred persons charged the police there and invaded the factory. Windows were smashed and heads were broken in an hour's fight. The factory is on the 12th floor of the building, and in the mix-up, saving machines were dropped from windows, material hung out and shears sent clattering to the street as the shop was wrecked.

The disturbance began in the afternoon when a few policemen and special officers intercepted strikers endeavoring to reach strike breakers going into a building to join others at work. In a few minutes there were several hundred strikers battling to reach the strike breakers.

The police arrested 20 of them and started for the station. The crowd, which was growing steadily charged the police, broke the lines they had formed, with the prisoners inside, and rushed 13 of the 20.

The crowd managed to get to John Hunter, one 360 specials employed by the cloak manufacturers. Hunter was beaten so badly that he was attended by an ambulance surgeon when a mounted policeman had saved him from the crowd that was kicking and beating him.

While this crowd was fighting with

A dozen of the 150 at work in the left ran to the window and cried "Murder!" and "Police!" Several shouted, "Look out below!" and then machines, seissors and shears went to the sidewalk.

Tables and work benches were overturned and the legs pulled out and used as weapons. The 20th street station reserves fought their way up the stairs, the strikers having possession of the elevator.

The police going into the building were showered with rocks from behind and met by the crowd in the hall. They reached the shop of Bernstein after it had been wrecked. Fifteen strikers were arrested.

It was estimated that the strikers did damage to the amount of $500, in addition to the wreck of the tables and chairs and windows.

The police, with their prisoners, formed a hollow square and took them to the station, while the crowd hounded them with stones and whatever else could be obtained.

The manufacturers issued a statement yesterday that they were prepared to open their shops, and would protect their workmen. More trouble is expected today.

Many independent shops, it was announced, had given in to the strikers. The next day's general strike was extended yesterday, and concessions were made that sent men back to other shops where they had been on strike.

LARCENY CHARGE ROOSEVELT BOOM

Bigamy Also Is Hinted May Result From Western Trip

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—William J. Blake, who says he is an agent, was held in Adams street court, Brooklyn, yesterday, in $500 by Magistrate Tighe on a charge of petit larceny. The specific complaint is that Blake swindled Otto Holensee, of No. 69 Court street, Brooklyn, out of $12.50.

The police say this charge is likely to be changed to grand larceny upon complaint of Margaret D. Easton, of No. 49 Schermerhorn street, and that from letters found in the pockets of the prisoner they believe him a bigamist. Letters were found from Mrs. Margaret Blake, of No. 72 School street, Buffalo, and one from another Mrs. Blake in Chicago, who signed herself Freda.

The police have telegraphed to both cities, and when Blake is arraigned August 29 they will have investigated the case.

Blake, who is thirty years old, is a good talker. It is charged he sold some exclusive territory to Holensee, who was to have the right of a patent window fastener. Holensee says Blake had no right to sell the territory.

The arrest developed that Blake had sold stock in the window fastener company, which is situated in Chicago, to Mrs. Easton, a widow with whom he is boarding. She says he got $1250 from her and endeavored to induce her to dispose of a stock farm she has in Manitoba and invest it all in the window fastener concern. About this time she became suspicious and wrote to the Chicago house. The reply came by special delivery and she says Blake tried to get it before she could see it.

The concern said he had no interest in the business and was no longer connected with the house, according to her story to the police. Mrs. Easton was in court yesterday but made no complaint.

As to the letters from the woman calling him husband, Blake says he has been married three times. "My first wife is dead," said he. "The one in Buffalo divorced me, and the third one, in Chicago, and myself have separated. That is all there is to that."

A letter written by the wife in Buffalo said their two children were in want and she could take care of herself if he would provide for the children. The Chicago woman writes that she has not heard from him in weeks, and that she is heartbroken at having to part from their little son, who thinks only of his father. She says she knows she will never hear from him again, but if he is ever in trouble she will go to him.

SITUATION IN SPAIN

ROME, Aug. 9.—It was reported today that Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary, was trying through official, semi-official, and private channels to reach an understanding with the Spanish government.

A good omen was found today in the presence of the Marquis de Gonzales, the Spanish charge d'affaires, to the vatican, and the staff of the Spanish embassy at the mass celebrated by Cardinal Merry del Val in honor of the anniversary of the coronation of Pope Pius X. in view of the strained relations between the Holy See and Spain, the decision of the Spanish representatives to be present at the vatican or to absent themselves was awaited with great interest.

ROOSEVELT BOOM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt's forthcoming trip to the west is expected to shed much light on the question of just how far he is going to have to be considered as a possibility for the presidential nomination in 1912. Regular and insurgent leaders alike realize the importance of the coming trip of Roosevelt. The men who want President Taft re-nominated and the men who would like to see some other man named will note everything the former president says and does with the keenest kind of attention.

The interest in his trip will not be lessened by the fact that a good deal of political gossip is going the rounds that in some of his western speeches Roosevelt will show he is in sympathy with the insurgents. Should he do this, it is inevitable that many of his insurgent admirers will set about promoting a motion for him for the presidency in 1912.

The likelihood of a Roosevelt presidential boom is the greater because just now the insurgents are flushed with their victories in Kansas and Iowa and are intent on keeping the movement going in the hope that they will be in control of the next national convention.

President Taft is assured of the support of the regular elements of the party in 1912, and it is not doubted here that the president's friends are already busy themselves laying the foundations for his re-nomination. A sign of this was given when the Ohio convention met at Columbus and endorsed him for re-nomination. The trip of Senator Crane is looked on as of more far-reaching importance than applying only to the congressional situation or to Secretary Ballinger.

The belief is that the president and his advisers are taking precautions to see that his trip is as profitable as possible. The insurgents to control political machinery in various states, and thus to be enabled to elect delegates to the 1912 convention who are not Taft supporters.

As things stand now, it looks as if the insurgents and anti-Taft forces in the republican party, if they have any candidate for president in 1912, cannot hope to head off the re-nomination of Mr. Taft by use of any other name than that of Roosevelt. None of the prominent insurgent leaders apparently can get enough delegates to prevent Mr. Taft's re-nomination. It is not a certainty that Roosevelt could, even if he would, lend his name to a movement of this kind. But it is certain he would have powerful support.

THEATRE VOYONS

An unusual story of the Civil war is told in "Under Both Flags" at the Theatre Voyons today. A young southerner, a graduate of West Point, retains his allegiance to the Union cause though all of his family supports the rebel army. As the war goes on and his sister is trying to pass through the Union lines with secret dispatches is captured and sentenced to death as a spy. Terror stricken, her brother discovers he is to be her jailer and executioner. Resolving to sacrifice his life for hers, he changes clothes with her and takes her place in prison while she tries to make her escape disguised in his uniform. A battle occurs as she is trying to get away and she is compelled to lead her brother's command into the thickest of the fight. There she performs several feats of bravery, and it is only after she is slightly wounded her disguise is discovered. The general in command who had sentenced her to death after learning of her heroism, signs a reprieve and thereby saves both her life and that of her brother who is about to be executed in her stead.

MURDER CHARGED

Warrant Issued for Former Inmate of State Hospital

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—A warrant charging William R. Remington with the murder of Max Soroklen in the latter's grocery store in Harrison avenue on July 31st last, was issued today and later Remington was taken into the municipal court. Remington while an inmate at the state farm at Tewksbury declared that he had killed Soroklen, the cause of whose death had been variously surmised as murder or suicide. When his story was made known the authorities took him in charge and yesterday brought him to Boston. While awaiting the calling of the case Charles Mandell, of Springfield, held as a government witness, dashed from the courthouse corridor. He was half way across Pemberton square before officers captured him and took him back.

Remington was held without bail for a hearing August 17. Mandell was held as a witness in $50, which he was unable to furnish. Both men were taken to the Charles street jail. The court appointed Martin T. Hall as attorney for Remington.

MISSED DEATH BY HAIR

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Missing death by a hair was literally true in the case of Charles Lewis, of Grantwood, N. Y., who fell while running for a train yesterday, and had his arm cut off by the wheels of the rear car. Lewis was late for the train and jumped the iron fence. The train was under way. Those who saw the accident thought his head had been cut off. He was so close that the wheels cut off the rim of his hat and locks of his hair.

AEROPLANE RACES

The Flight From Troyes to Nancy

NANCY, France, Aug. 9.—Leblanc and Aubrun again led the van on today's leg of the cross country aeroplanes race. The second section of the flight was from Troyes to Nancy, a distance of 165 kilometers, or approximately 102.5 miles.

The race between the leaders was an exciting one. Aubrun started five minutes earlier than Leblanc and the air men were within sight of each other until they landed here. Leblanc's machine proved the swifter and he gradually overhauled the other, reaching the goal 30 seconds ahead of his rival.

Both men used Bleriot monoplanes, and steered by compass, checking their positions from the flags which had been attached to steeples on the villages over which they passed and by the smoke of bonfires that marked the course over the country stretches.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reid, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The directors of savings banks are becoming more and more watchful of their clerks, tellers and treasurers. There is a reason. This belated vigilance will do no harm.

To throw a man out of work, or to refuse him employment, simply because he is a member of a labor union is a form of tyranny that is only equalled by the tyranny which would prevent a man from earning a living because he refuses to join a union and pay tribute to the same. One is as bad as the other, look at it whichever way you please.

CONDEMN THE FIRE TRAPS

There are a number of buildings on our principal streets that should be torn down and rebuilt because of their unsightliness if for no other reason. But the cost of construction is yet too high to justify any very extensive rebuilding except where old structures have become unsafe for habitation and are a menace to adjoining property. When building material reaches a lower level we look for very extensive building alterations in our principal thoroughfares which will follow as a matter of investment. But there are a few tumbled down, rotting, ramshackle structures right in the very heart of the city that should be condemned. Not only are they unsightly, but they are dangerous; and they are saturated with filth and disease germs. They are little better than nuisances, because of the odors emanating from them, and worst of all, they are fire traps that threaten good property in their immediate vicinity.

These eye sores are well known, and no one knows them better than the superintendent of public buildings, who has power to condemn them. We would not for a moment suppose that our worthy superintendent of buildings is influenced in the least in the discharge of his duty by the fact that most of these tumbled down, ill-smelling, ramshackle fire traps are owned by men of wealth and influence. Not at all. He is simply waiting for time to get around to a proper consideration of these cases, and then we have no doubt he will issue an order to either put these ramshackles into modern and habitable condition, or tear them down as menaces to health and adjoining property. But we do hope he will see the point before it is too late.

THE GRAND OLD CITY OF SPINDLES

After all Lowell is a good place in which to live. We may lack some of the wonderful things that other cities in the world possess, but we still have a great deal to be proud of. If the men who persist in saying that Lowell is played out; that she has seen her best days; that she is all in, would stop and think a little they would change their tune. Instead of belittling their city they should start in to sing her praises.

Lowell is a good place for business. Store rents are extremely low considering the size and population of the city, and people are noted for paying their bills in Lowell as a rule. We have fewer of the so-called dead beats in Lowell than you will find in any other manufacturing city in the country. Then Lowell is a good labor market. Our employees are intelligent, law-abiding, of good average morals, and generally willing to work for fair wages. Furthermore, we are comparatively free from needless labor troubles.

No city in the country has a better system of drainage than we have right here in Lowell. This is made possible by our excellent system of canals, and the proximity of two big rivers. Our drinking water taken from driven wells is pure and wholesome. We have good fire protection, as our fire department has been considered for years one of the models of New England. Food is cheap and good in Lowell. In fact one can live cheaper in Lowell than in any city of its size in the country. We have some good public parks already, and our park system is developing at a rapid rate. No city in the world has a better trolley system than we have and few cities equal it. The fares are cheap, the rides are long, and the service is good. Lowell is an excellent railway centre. Goods can be shipped from this city without breaking bulk to any part of the United States. The suburbs of Lowell are beautiful. Within five minutes' ride or fifteen minutes' walk from Merrimack square, in almost any direction one finds himself in the midst of the most beautiful country scenery. Two grand rivers meet in the center of Lowell. Both are beautiful and historical, while one has an industrial record in its trip from the mountains to the sea that is hardly equalled by any other river in the world.

Our schools are the equal of any in the country. We have a police department that compares with the best of its class anywhere. The city is healthy, it is clean, and its people enjoy a reputation for intelligence, culture, good morals and obedience to the laws. We never suffer from the serious industrial depressions that come to many other cities. Although we are confined to but few industries yet the products of Lowell find a ready market because of their world-wide reputation. When newer and less experienced localities find it hard to secure orders, Lowell sells her entire output in the markets and employment is generally steady for all who want to work.

We have fine churches and public buildings, wide awake merchants, public spirited men, and the loveliest women in all the world. Last but not least we have the best newspapers of any city of its size in the country.

Then why should men go out of their way to say an unkind word of the grand old spindle city?

Young men stop and ponder. Before concluding to take a chance in green fields for away, don't shut your eyes to the prospect of success which the city of spindles offers to every well disposed man who is willing to work and to make the most of his opportunities. Lowell is not in the experimental stage, neither is she in a state of decline. She will be flourishing and famous when some of the boom cities of which we now hear so much are gone to decay. She was great before they were thought of, and she will be greater still after they are forgotten.

SEEN AND HEARD

Did you ever observe how many little incidents of the street may be applied as examples of the larger scope of life? Here is an example and the application to the more important things of life is so obvious that it needs no explanation. Only a day or two ago the pedestrians on Merrimack street were amused to see two dogs running down the street. Ordinarily there is nothing unusual or amusing in such a common incident, but the circumstances in this case were peculiar. One of the dogs was a Great Dane of almost gigantic size, and he was trotting very quietly down the street, apparently with his mind fixed on some destination, and untroubled by anything that was going on around him. Close behind the big dog ran a little one, whose size was in about the same ratio to that of the Great Dane as the extent of a South American Republic to that of the United States. The smaller dog was barking furiously at his gigantic friend, and evidently had the idea that he was driving him before him in an ignominious flight. But he found out his mistake when the big fellow met a man he knew and then apparently nothing for the first time that the little one was trying to worry him, with a gentle push of his head sent the pigmy dog rolling across the pavement. That ended the pursuit then and there, and the barking dog, who had been found his real place, as many a man and nation has done before him.

Eleanor, aged six, had been going to school only a few weeks. She had learned to raise her hand if she wanted anything. One day she put this into effect when she was sent to the chicken house to get the eggs.

Just as she reached the chicken house door her mother heard her say, "All you chickens that have laid an egg, raise your hands!"—The Delinquent.

"Joseph," said his mother, reprovingly, "I should think you'd be ashamed to be in the same class with boys so much smaller than yourself."

"Well, mother," replied Joe, "I look upon the matter a different way altogether. It makes me feel like a big fellow when the small boys are to be in the class with a big boy like me."—The Delinquent.

Considerate Motorist—"I'm awfully sorry I knocked you down—hope you aren't hurt. Now, what can I give you?"

Yokel—"Well, zur, 'ow much do 'ee generally give?"—The Bills.

"THE HAND THAT SMITES" They say this world is round, and yet I often think it square.

So many little hurts we get From corners, here and there.

But one great truth in life I've found.

While journeying to the west— The only folks who really wound Are those we love the best.

Love does not grow on every tree. Nor true hearts yearly bloom; Alas, for those who only see

This truth across the tomb! But soon or late, the fact grows plain

To all, through sorrow's test. The only folks that give us pain Are those we love the best!

—Anonymous.

Two young ladies boarded a crowded trolley and were obliged to stand. One of them, to steady herself, took hold of what she supposed was her friend's hand. They had stood thus for some time, when, on looking down, she discovered that she was holding a man's hand. Greatly embarrassed, she exclaimed:

"Oh, I've got the wrong hand!" Whereupon the man, with a smile, stretched forth his other hand, saying:

"Here is the other one, miss."

midwinter dinner gatherings is a leading spirit in the entertainment following dinner.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of New York, president of Columbia university; Thomas F. Harrington of Boston and other American educators are attending the sessions of the international school hygiene congress in Paris. Among the questions under consideration are open-air schools and the introduction of systematic instruction for girls in household economics and the care of children.

Great Britain has three newspapers and two magazines devoted to the interests of woman suffrage. Holland, Denmark, Norway, Germany, Austria, Russia, Finland, Ireland, France, Switzerland, Bulgaria, Hungary and Poland have one paper each, while Belgium and Turkey have each one woman's magazine which advocates giving woman the ballot.

The newspapers and women in some parts of the east are greatly exercised over the problem of educating the youth of Washington and Oregon. Reports are being published in the New York and New England papers to the effect that there is a great shortage of teachers on the Pacific coast. Several hundred young women went west from New York state last year, and it is announced that as many more will leave during August; yet the ranks of those who went last year have been thinned so greatly by matrimony that conditions are no better than twelve months ago. Says the St. Paul Pioneer Press: "It is considered of the easterners to worry about the welfare of the westerners, but they should realize that they are being worked by an endless chain game. The teachers who go out this summer to educate the young will have children of their own to be educated in a few years, and it will be necessary to send more teachers. And so on until the entire coast is populated or the teacher supply in the east is exhausted."

Harrison S. Morris of Philadelphia, commissioner of the United States to the great international Roman art exhibition now in Rome, when the Eternal City will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the proclamation of United Italy, is in Rome making all the arrangements for the American pavilion.

He was the last to arrive, as the commissioners of France, Austria, Germany, England, Japan, etc., had all preceded him, taking the places which they considered best, but he, with American shrewdness, managed to obtain a place whence the United States will dominate all other exhibitors, being also the only spot which possesses the beautiful background formed by the century-old cypresses and pine trees of historic Villa Borghese, against which the typical American colonial buildings will stand out most effectively. It is said that, while nothing definite has yet been decided, the construction of the American pavilion will be undertaken by the New York firm of Carrere & Hastings.

An amusing story comes from the little village of Luzern in Germany, of the election of the local burgomaster.

The polling took place in February, and the largest number of votes had been given to a peasant named Schmid. Unfortunately, he was found to be ineligible for the office, as he could neither read nor write. The provincial authorities accordingly declared the election void, and July 16 was fixed as the date for a fresh election. Schmid, nothing daunted, set to work to learn his alphabet and worked at his lessons so assiduously that he very quickly learned to read and write.

He was again chosen at the second election, and on informing the inspecting committee that he now possessed all the necessary qualifications, he submitted a written and oral test of his newly acquired knowledge. He acquitted himself to the satisfaction of his judges, and now is one of the most popular burgomasters in Germany.

Maurice Hewlett, who has just escaped being chosen as one of the first list of "immortals" or members of the English literary academy, has explained the lack of great poets in his land by the vast material wealth of the nation. "We are too comfortable and too prosperous," he said, "to be moved by the poet's forces, which have always been love, religion, and the spirit of the age." The "Anglo-American," as the Saturday Review once called the Elizabethan age, is not likely to return, and the forces which made it and its literature great can never again manifest themselves, or at any rate in the combination peculiar to that glorious, expansive period. Nevertheless, "civilization" may be relied upon to bring into the lives of nations forces which shall inspire new singers. Meantime poetry is more than ever the possession of the few "private souls."

Judge John W. Meddow of the Georgia superior court is quoted as saying that in the last six months he has presided at more murder trials than were held before him in six years in his early experience on the bench. "We will have a first-class hanging in this country yet," he has said, "and it will be a white man, too."

Prevailing Hair Styles Cause Many Scalp Diseases.

Women who cover their heads with masses of false hair and fluff should understand that it is a question of time until their scalps become diseased. Rats and puffs are denounced by doctors as "unhygienic dust and germ catchers." The air is excluded from the scalp, and the pressure on the delicate network of veins soon results in the loss of hair. ## BURGLARS BUSY

Home of Ex-Rep. Luce Ransacked

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—Patrolman Taylor while going his rounds last night discovered that the house of ex-Representative Robert Luce at 140 Highland avenue, Somerville, had been broken into and overhauled and robbed.

Ex-Representative Luce and Mrs. Luce have been away a week on a vacation and as the police do not know where they are they were unable last night to communicate with them.

It is feared that the burglary is an extensive one, for there was much of value in the house. The thief gained an entrance by forcing open a cellar door and then after getting into the cellar he went to the kitchen door, saved out a panel and turned the key and opened the door.

The burglar evidently took his time and ransacked the rooms, closets, trunks and sideboard.

Patrolman Taylor sent word to the police station and Lieut. Carter and Sergt. Ray joined him and together they went through the house and found it in a disorderly condition.

The police were unable to determine what had been taken, but they feared that the burglary must have been an extensive one and they made the house secure and sent an officer to guard it.

An effort will be made to communicate with Mr. Luce and have him return and furnish the police a list of the property that is missing.

FORGERY CHARGE

Made Against 19 Year Old Youth

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 9.—After two weeks of high living in the resort district of Bangor, Adelle Smart, 19 years old, of Eagle Lake, was arrested last night on the charge of forgery. The police say that they have evidence that Smart passed at least four checks, aggregating about $100, his method being to make a small purchase and present a check, taking the balance in cash.

Smart confessed to two complaints and said that he was ready to "take his medicine." The checks were all on the Millinocket Trust company and purported to be signed by Rush Bros., a well known Millinocket business house. Smart came to Bangor on one of the checks, which was cashed by a Bangor & Ardenbrook contractor, who is one of the complainants. Smart says that he spent the money in having a good time. Upon his person was found a check made out like the others.

HE WAS HELD UP

Man Says He Lost Money and Watch

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—J. W. O'Bannon, a member of the New York athletic club, with R. L. Gilman, one of his employees, was returning from a trip to Providence by automobile last night.

"We had just reached the top of the hill on the outskirts of Ely," said Mr. Gilman yesterday, "when a man appeared in the middle of the road waving a lantern to and fro. Rudolph White, the chauffeur, brought the car to a stop.

"Stop, gentlemen, you will greatly oblige us by stepping down and handing us your money," was the startling invitation that came to us from behind the ugly looking revolver, so we started to step down. That is what Mr. O'Bannon did. The chauffeur made a flying leap for one of the highwheeled and rolled over to the side of the road with him and succeeded in wresting his gun from the man, but he took to the woods. Mr. O'Bannon also ran for help.

"I was left alone with the highwaymen. They took my pocketbook, which contained $50, and my dollar watch. They overtook a valuable diamond ring which I had on my finger. After searching me they tried to escape with the automobile, but somehow the engine would not work for them, so they left me and walked for a short distance down the road and disappeared in the woods. Mr. O'Bannon soon arrived with five men and a policeman, but no trace of the robbers could be found."

BILLS HELD UP

Because They Were Not Itemized

Two bills were held up by the committee on accounts at a meeting held last night. Both bills were from the school department. One was an account with G. C. Prince & Son, and called for $145 for kindergarten supplies for twelve schools. The other bill was from F. S. Baldwin and amounted to $33.10. It was for the repair of curtains in schoolhouses. The bills were held up because they were not itemized and the committee returned them asking that they be itemized before being again presented.

RECEIVERS ARE NAMED

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 8.—(Upon application of Louis K. Amy, Ernest J. H. Amy and the Continental Insurance company, all of New York, Judge Cross in the United States district court here yesterday appointed Hermann R. Baruch of Elizabeth and Frank P. McDermon of Jersey city receivers for the American farm products company, which the petitioning creditors claim is insolvent.

The concern is a large manufacturer and retailer of butter and lard plants in Illinois, Ohio and Michigan. The petition states that the company has defaulted in the payment of its interest on its bonded indebtedness in both January and July.

The company was organized in 1903 with a capital of $17,000,000, but was later reorganized and the capital reduced to $3,500,000.

RESTELLI SUSPECT

Made Good His Escape at St. Georges Bay

QUINCY, Aug. 9.—A good part of work in liquor investigations for the yesterday was spent on the Restelli case department. It is presumed here that in trying to find out "Who is Griffin?" Griffin may be on a vacation trip to Cape Breton and thought he saw Restelli on the train.

The authorities here say it is evident that there is some feeling between Griffin and the Sydney police about the case.

It is also believed, from Griffin's last telegram, that the Sydney papers are circulating Griffin, and the latter has suggested to Chief Burrell that he look up Griffin's character in Lynn.

The man who was suspected by Griffin got away Saturday night after the Sydney police got the first telegram from Chief Burrell.

Hyatt arrived at Port aux Basques, N. F., at 6:30 Sunday morning. A train from Port aux Basques left at 6 o'clock and arrived at St. Georges Bay at 12:45 p. m. and from there all trace of the man suspected by Griffin was lost.

The U. S. consul at St. Johns, N. F., was wired to get the cooperation of the Newfoundland police in an attempt to find out who this suspect is. The police of the larger places in Newfoundland were sent circulars last week containing photographs and a description of Restelli.

No word was received yesterday from Inspector McKay, who has been in New York since Saturday, and it is supposed he is following a clue which he suggested in a telegram Sunday.

Inspector McKay is working with the Italian-speaking detective of the New York police and Sunday no believed he was on the right track.

Chief Burrell was not willing to believe that the Sydney police refused to cooperate with Griffin in no important case, and he wired police headquarters at Sydney asking what had been done about the pursuit of Restelli. Yesterday afternoon Chief Duncan McLachlan of Sydney replied:

"No pursuit of Restelli that I know of. No information about him here except Griffin said he was on train with him Friday night."

Just before this telegram came Griffin telegraphed Chief Burrell, saying:

"Sydney Daily Post says: 'Someone is having joke at expense of Canadian and American police.' Later they will find the joke serious. Call up Chief Burckles, Lynn, Mass. Have Chief Burckles confer with James Coughlin as to character. Respectfully, 'Griffin.'"

Chief Burrell was glad to get the tip, as he had been puzzled since Saturday to find out who this correspondent was. The chief communicated with the Lynn police, and from them learned that Griffin is a Lynn man who had done

Law Grants Delay in the Big Land Cases

BEVERLY, Aug. 9.—A vigorous prosecution to reclaim title to a vast amount of Indian land in Oklahoma is being planned by the department of justice for the coming autumn.

One of the principal actions in prospect is to overcome the effect of an ingenious "joker," which was written into the Indian appropriation bill just before that measure was handed to the president for his signature.

The "joker" was discovered by Solicitor General Bowers, but it was agreed between the president and Mr. Bowers that it was too late to send the bill back to congress and that a means of offsetting the joker could be devised. This "joker," which is now a law, granted the right of appeal to the U. S. supreme court in a case involving more than 20,000 Indian contracts, which had been decided in favor of the government by the court of appeals of the eighth circuit.

As the matter had been taken into the circuit court on a demurrer the defendants had no right to appeal to the U. S. supreme court.

Delay Means Millions

It is the belief of the government officials that the authority to appeal was sought not for any idea that the case might be won in the court of final resort, but simply to gain a delay of a year or 18 months.

This belief is based on the fact that the lands involved are practically all coal and oil lands and every day that passes they are being stripped of these natural resources as fast as the coal can be mined and oil pumped.

A year and a half delay means millions to the claimants.

The plan to offset this move by the possessors of the land is to apply to the U. S. court in Oklahoma for a rehearing of the case just as soon as the autumn term begins. In this way the court will exercise full control over all the operations and secure the benefits to the final successful litigants.

Prominent Persons Involved

Investigating the contracts by which it is claimed the Indians have been defrauded of lands granted to them by the government, it is said, that the department of justice officers have unearthed a startling condition of affairs involving many well known persons, which will come out fully when the cases are tried.

The government is fighting the cases for the Indians and once they are claimed it is proposed to throw further protection out to them if congress can be prevailed upon to do so.

The defendants in some of the actions that are pending have offered unique legal propositions to be met by the government.

In the first place they claim that having granted the land to the Indians, the government has no constitutional right to restrict this land. This court of appeals decided against this claim, however.

Knows Sherman's Views

It is now claimed in another case that the Indians have been granted citizenship and have become citizens of the state and congress has no right to act respecting them.

The government is preparing a novel answer. It will be claimed that while Indians may have been granted the right of citizenship under the United States they do not become citizens under the 14th amendment, which will make them citizens of states, and therefore congress still has authority over them.

The 14th amendment provided that persons born in and under the jurisdiction of the United States, or naturalized, were citizens of the United States and of the state in which they resided.

POPE'S EFFORTS STAY HAND OF CATHOLICS AND THREATENED "UPRISING" IS AVERTED

SCENE IN SAN SEBASTIAN

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 9.—Despite the threats of the Carlists the troops have been able to maintain order here, and, while many arrests have been made, the worst of the trouble is believed to be over. Catholics are extremely indignant at the government's repressive measures, as they claim that the demonstrations planned were not Carlist uprisings, but were arranged to show the disapproval of the people to the orders of Premier Canalejas, who so far has had the earnest support of King Alfonso. General Weyler's assignment to command of the troops in this district is taken to mean that the government does not intend to allow the uprising to succeed. The Catholics here believe that the efforts of the pope to settle the entire matter will prove successful and that the end of the controversy is in sight.

AUTO HITS CAR

Three Injured in the Accident

STOCKBRIDGE, Aug. 9.—An automobile driven by Dr. H. W. Luchinsker of Housatonic and containing Charles M. Hayden of Housatonic and three children, Helen and Christina Luchinsker, the doctor's daughters, and Inga Cook, a daughter of S. M. Cook of Glendale, ran into a northbound Berkshire trolley car at the McBurney crossing at 11:50 o'clock yesterday morning.

All of the occupants were thrown out of the automobile, the three girls being tossed 15 feet over a high fence upon a putting green of the Stockbridge golf course. Hayden received a probable concussion of the brain. Dr. Luchinsker's hip was sprained and he was cut on the head and body. None of the children was badly hurt, although all three received bruises.

The auto struck the forward end of the trolley car with such force that the car tender was carried away. The automobile was ruined. Motorman Fred Finney and Conductor Harry Hawkins were in charge of the car. Mrs. Albert Daniels, a passenger on the car, jumped off when she heard the crash and her back was injured. The car took fire from the gasoline. A bucket brigade was formed and saved the car.

SENT TO PRISON

Man Found Guilty of Robbery

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—On the charge of robbing Dr. Antonio Vrachnos, a physician of Grace hospital, of $12 in the Fenway on the night of June 23, James F. Crombie, 22 years old, of Brookline, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Sanderson to the state prison for a term of from 18 to 12 years.

Dr. Vrachnos was sitting on one of the seats in the Fenway with a young woman named Margaret Gavin when two men approached and assaulted him, taking the money from him. He at once went to the street, and boarding a car went to station 13 and made complaint.

Upon his return to the Fenway Patrolman Flaherty accompanied him and other officers followed in the patrol wagon. In the meantime Crombie's associate made his escape. When Flaherty reached the spot he called upon Crombie to stop, and after he had fired several shots Crombie stopped and was overtaken.

He was indicted for robbery and also for assault with serious intent, but the latter charge was placed on file and the robbery charge, to which he pleaded guilty, he was given the sentence announced above.

His counsel attributed his offense to the fact that he was in bad company. Judge Sanderson said there was no theory that would justify him in looking upon it as anything but a serious case.

WOMAN IS HELD

Larceny Case Puzzles the Manchester Police

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 9.—The Myrtle street $1700 larceny case took on new proportions yesterday, when, following the arraignment of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berry and their being held in $2500 each for the grand jury, a third party, the mother of Mr. Berry, was locked up on suspicion of being an accessory after the fact.

Another sensation came in the revelation that the reason for Mrs. Mary Atwood's possession of $1700 hidden in her sleeping apartment was her desire to take one-half of the government pension from her soldier husband on the understanding that she was entirely dependent upon him for her support. The case is one of the most complicated the police have handled in a long time.

Henry Berry and his wife, Angelina, were arraigned charged with larceny of $1700 from Mrs. Atwood, and through their counsel entered a plea of not guilty and waived examination. Bail was fixed at $2500 each, and when no sureties were forthcoming, they were booked for jail to await the sitting of the September grand jury.

Meanwhile, Berry's mother, Mrs. Mary Jennie Berry, of 42 Church street, had been brought to the station on suspicion. After Berry's alleged confession he took Detectives O'Dowd and Hampton to his mother's home on Church street to show them where the money was hidden, and after burrowing in the sand in the cellar bottom, procured a bundle amounting to $500 in $10-bills. Later the police found $40 at a place designated on the west side and another $10 in the Church street place, but $1150 of the amount Mrs. Atwood claims was stolen is still missing.

THE STATE CENSUS

Supt. Gettemy Expects Work to End On Sept. 1

Charles F. Gettemy, supervisor of the Massachusetts census, last evening issued the following statement explaining the delay in making public the Massachusetts figures as told in a Washington dispatch in yesterday morning's paper. Supervisor Gettemy's explanation is as follows:

"The statement in the Washington dispatch to the effect that the Massachusetts figures are being withheld to accommodate the state in some of its own statistical work means only that the census office has virtually allowed the supervisor of Massachusetts to adopt such methods in checking up the work of the enumerators as the experience of our state censuses has demonstrated to be desirable.

"The Massachusetts district is the largest district in the whole country under the jurisdiction of one supervisor, which means that the supervisor of this state is responsible for more population and the supervision of a larger number of enumerators than any of the other 330 supervisors in the United States, and is obviously impossible to complete a large job as quickly as a small one.

"The census figures for Rhode Island, for example, which were announced some time ago, were based upon the work of, I believe, about 512 enumerators in that state, whereas we had more than 400 in Boston alone and a total of over 1900 in the state.

"The majority of supervisors throughout the country, indeed, I believe, have had not more than between 200 and 300 enumerators under them. Probably at the time the census figures were announced for Rhode Island the examinations of the work of a corresponding number of enumerators, or more, in Massachusetts had been completed, but they were for districts scattered all over the state.

Cancer and Cancerous Growth

WAY TO CHECK IT WITHOUT USE OF KNIFE

Previously cured of a cancerous growth I have been chosen to do my share to help stamp out this awful disease.

I have been given some little books by the one who cured me and told to distribute these books to all needy persons who are looking for the means of checking any cancerous growth.

I have nothing to sell—I simply know what has been done for me, and how sincere and honest an effort is being made to reach those now suffering from cancer.

When you write me I will send you without cost one of these books. I shall make no further effort to interest you, simply letting it rest with you after reading this book whether you want to investigate the means of reaching good health and escape the surgeon's knife. I shall also give your name to the doctor. I feel that an appeal such as I am making today will do more than thousands of dollars spent in flaring advertisements. I believe you will help show me I am right by communicating with me.

many cases by further comparison with assessors' lists and the Boston with the police lists. There are, furthermore, about 300 officially listed institutions of various kinds in the commonwealth—hospitals, jails, insane asylums, etc., which must be properly checked up, and this particular branch of the work has involved numerous complications which had to be straightened out, due to the fact that in some cases enumerators did not understand that they were to count the population of these institutions; and this, of course, had to be obtained before the population of a given district could be regarded as complete.

Expects to Finish Sept. 1

"If all the supervisors had to do was to forward the schedules to Washington as rapidly as the enumerators sent them in upon the normal completion of their field work, and only a small part of the time involved in straightening out, due to the fact that in some cases enumerators did not understand that they were to count the population of these institutions; and this, of course, had to be obtained before the population of a given district could be regarded as complete.

"About 70 clerks have been rushing this work forward to completion as rapidly as possible, under the supervision of trained experts in census work. The heaviest part of this is now over; most of the portfolios have been shipped to Washington, but there still remains a considerable amount in the aggregate of cleaning-up work to be done here and there.

"In every census there is always a certain number of districts in which peculiar difficulties have arisen which must be straightened out before the work is in condition to be finally accepted, and while the great bulk of work in Massachusetts, so far as the supervisor is concerned, has been completed, it is obvious that so long as the portfolio of a single district in any given city or town is not in condition to forward, the population total for that city or town cannot be given out at the census office. The work is thus of such a character that while there are numerous unavoidable delays which temporarily impede its progress, it reaches a culmination very quickly, making it possible to complete the totals for a very large number of communities almost simultaneously.

"If I can get the last of the few remaining portfolios of the 1906 Massachusetts districts sent to Washington by Sept. 1 I shall be very well satisfied. This, I believe, will mark the completion of this stage of the census work in Massachusetts at a much earlier date than has usually been the case in the past, which has generally not been until late in the autumn or winter following the actual enumeration."

JOHN C. ROURKE

Honored by Members of Div. 8, A. O. H.

Division 8, A. O. H., held an interesting snake talk and social in Hibernian hall last night in honor of their president, John C. Rourke, who has returned as a delegate from the national A. O. H. convention which was held in Portland, Oregon. There was a large attendance and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner.

One of the features of the evening

was the presentation to President Rourke of a substantial purse of money showing the esteem in which he is held by the members of the division. The presentation speech was made by John W. McEvoy and President Rourke responded with appropriate remarks thanking his brethren for their kind-

Other presentations were made during the evening. Miss Della Conway, of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the A. O. H., who was one of the most energetic workers during the recent bazaar given by the division, was presented a gold ring and Mrs. Patrick Sheridan, who also rendered valuable assistance at the bazaar, was presented a gold locket and chain.

After the presentations there were several addresses, among the speakers being Hon. James B. Casey and James O'Sullivan of this city; William J. Burke of Somerville; and Mrs. William J. Burke, state president of the A. O. H. Ladies' Auxiliary.

President Rourke gave a most interesting account of the national convention, which, he said, besides being most enjoyable, was productive of many excellent results.

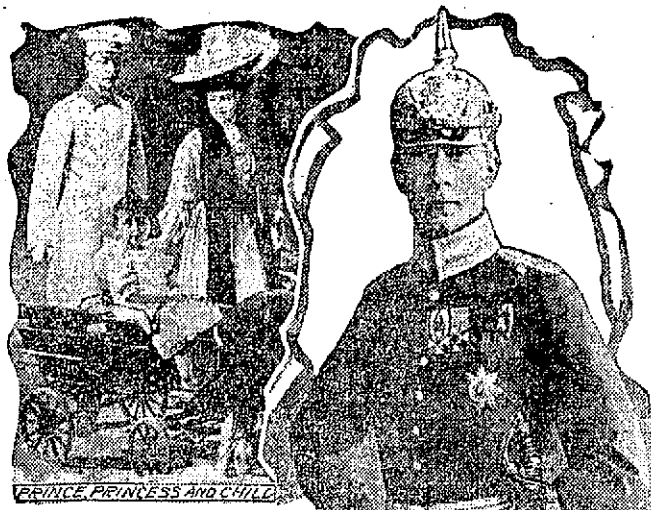

In the business session, presided over by Daniel F. Reddy, vice president, arrangements were made for the coming state parade and convention.

GERMANY'S NEXT EMPEROR PLANS TOUR OF THE WORLD SOON

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Crown Prince Frederick William is to soon start on an official tour of the world, going first to India, China and Japan, as the personal representative of his father, Emperor William. Arrangements have been made for the reception of the heir to Germany's throne in India through the British foreign office. The complete program for the royal trip has not been made up, but it is practically settled that Prince William will enter the United States from a Pacific coast port, and visit all important parts of the nation. Crown Princess Cecilie will not accompany him. It is now said, however, that the mode of travel, whether it be by war vessel or regular passenger steamship, has not been announced.

CANNOT ENTER SALOONS

DENVER, Aug. 9.—An order was issued yesterday by the local fire and police boards prohibiting Salvation Army women entering saloons to solicit aid and sell their literature. The order is based on the theory that the practice is demoralizing as the girls are thrown into temptation.

GILLIS AFTER THE RECORD

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—John Gillis, a policeman of Vancouver, B. C., who is to take part in the national all-round athletic championships at Marshall field next Saturday, arrived yesterday much disappointed at Martin Sheridan's failure to enter as it was reported in Vancouver that the eastern star would participate.

Gillis is six feet four inches tall, weighs 170 pounds and is 26 years old. He is the tallest athlete entered. In a recent trial of ten events, Gillis came within a few points of the record.

STATUE OF REED

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 9.—The pedestal on which will be placed the statue of former Speaker Reed is now in position on the western promenade and in a short time the bronze statue will be placed on it. In a few days the final details for the unveiling of this memorial on August 31 will be completed. The officers of the Memorial association are quite sure President Taft will be present but he has not as yet formally accepted the invitation.

that are found in the western mainland, and then some more of the "westerner" placed, as did Florence Farr, who also had a good part. Other members of the company who were good were Don Harold, Jack Rowe, Ben Johnson, Roy Lee, Francis Williams and Mrs. Don Harold. Matinees are given every day except Sunday at 2:30; evenings at 8:15. Seats in advance can be secured at Carter and Sherburne's drug store.

CHELMSFORD

The residence of R. B. Barbour in High street, Chelmsford Centre, was entered by a burglar some time Sunday night, but so far as can be learned nothing was taken, the visitor apparently being in search of money, for silver and articles of value lying about were left untouched.

The contents of drawers and desks were overhauled and papers disarranged in the search. The occupants of the house heard unusual noises during the night, but the cause was not learned until morning.

NORWOOD CLUB RAIDED

LYNN, Aug. 9.—After watching the rooms of the Norwood club at 88 Willow street for a long time from the roofs of neighboring blocks, Officers Crowley and Sears of the Lynn police last night jimmied open a rear door and arrested ten men on a charge of being present where gambling implements were. One man, who said he would jump out of the window, was persuaded to change his mind by the officers.

The apartment, which is in reality a flat, was stripped of its pool tables and all its furniture, valued at about $500. The raid was made at 9 o'clock, and up to a late hour friends of the arrested men were trying in all ways to get bail for them.

RAINFALL CAUSED FLOODS

TOKIO, Aug. 9.—A torrential rainfall that continued today has caused devastating floods principally in Shizuoka province on the southern coast. Hundreds of houses have been submerged and one occupied by a number of students in the province of Shizuoka was buried with its tenants beneath a landslide.

Washouts along the railway lines are reported and several trains have been derailed as a consequence.

NOTORIOUS BURGLAR ESCAPED

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 9.—An automobile was heard to pass the county jail just before midnight last night and Sheriff Dewey entertains the belief that this was the vehicle used in aiding the escape of Timothy A. Shedy, the notorious burglar. The prisoner was under a thirty years' sentence, but as there is no room for more prisoners in the state prison he was being held in the county jail. Shedy cut the steel bars of his cell, made his way through the corridor toward the north end of the prison and then passed through the hospital. There James Carroll, a short term prisoner, had sawed the bars from a window and both between the rounds of the watchman made their escape. Before the street was reached a ten-foot fence was scaled. Shedy is a very dangerous man and had served long terms in various prisons. He was armed with an automatic revolver when arrested here.

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The Boston post-office inspectors attach a good deal of importance to the arrest of William Baldwin, aged 20, a Graduate Conn. where he is charged with the theft of six blank money orders from the post-office at Romford, Conn.

The inspectors say Baldwin has several aliases, including William Walter "Slim" Connor, Chadwick and C. W. Woods.

The inspectors say Baldwin secured the money orders two weeks ago. They say he sent one to Shreve, Crump & Low, Inc., Boston, the broker being for $60, and directed the firm to send him a gold watch valued at $35, a diamond ring valued at $50 and a watch chain at $15, making a total of $100.

The goods were sent and according to the inspectors were received by Baldwin. The firm advised the watch and the ring had been sold.

According to the inspectors Baldwin sent another order to a large department store on Washington street, Boston, asking that a suit of clothes, a traveling bag, shoes and various other things be sent him amounting to $100. The goods were sent in July. For several days the inspectors searched for the name of the postmaster at Romford to the orders.

SUMMER COTTAGE of 7 rooms, furnished, to let, at Beaver Lake, 1000 ft. in July. For terms and address Geo. W. Brown, Derby, Villi N. H.

The second order he had sent to him at Stratford, Conn., but by the time it was received the inspectors whose suspicions had been aroused, were also on hand. Baldwin had gone to Greenwich.

Inspectors Holist and Ray were on the lookout for Baldwin. The Boston end of the case was worked up by Inspectors Perkins and H. W. Robinson.

Meanwhile the officers say Baldwin had sent to Daniel Lowe & Son, at Stratford, Conn., for a new suit of clothes. He misunderstood the order and wrote to the sender for further instructions. Before an answer was received they learned that Baldwin had been arrested.

When arrested Baldwin said he had lived at 127 Prospect street, Cambridge, but the inspectors say there is no such number on the street.

Baldwin will be taken by train to Boston for arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Hayes, or taken to Hartford and there arraigned before

Two Men Near Death at West Roxbury

BOSTON, Aug. 2.—James F. Sheehan of 39 Union park street and a man who was riding with him had a narrow escape from serious injury or death about 8.40 last evening, when Mr. Sheehan's automobile left the roadway on Weld street, West Roxbury, ran over level ground a distance of about 15 feet and then dashed down a decline, finally bringing up against a stone wall.

The car was overturned, throwing both men out clear of the car, they escaping with slight bruises. Before either could do anything to prevent the gasoline tank becoming ignited and exploded, and in a flash the car was in flames and quickly destroyed.

LOWELL	-	0	1	0	0	2	1	0	X	4
NEW BEDFORD	-	0	2	0	0	0	0	1	0	3

Lowell lined up against the New Bedford team, the leader of the New England league, at Spalding park this afternoon and there were about 500 enthusiastic fans present at the game. The New Bedford players looked splendid in brand new uniforms. Wolfgang and Huston were in the points for Lowell while Armstrong and Ulrich did similar duty for the Whalers. Riley, the new infielder, signed by

Lowell, did not play today. The single umpire system was used, Umpire Connelly being the decision maker. He called the game at three o'clock, the batting order of the teams being as follows:

Lowell: Blakely cf, Fitzpatrick 2b, Cooney ss, Magee lf, New Bedford: Walsh rf, Wilson 1b, McCrone 3b, Fitz 2b, Cunningham 2b.

ing to third. Huston hit to Cunningham who fumbled and Tenney scored. Routes hit to Armstrong who threw to second, getting Huston, and the ball was sent to first for a double play.

Score—Lowell 4, New Bedford 2.

Eighth Inning

The visitors scored another run in the eighth inning. McCrone opened with a single and Rising filed to Cooney. Cunningham struck out and McCrone scored on a wild pitch. McCormick hit to the left field fence for two bases scoring McCrone. Bauman hit to Fitz and was out at first.

In the later half of the inning Wolfgang filed to Cunningham. Blakely hit to Cunningham and was out at first. Fitz singled to left field. He went to second on a wild pitch. Ulrich made a bad throw and Fitz attempted to come home, but was nailed at the plate.

Score—Lowell 4, New Bedford 3.

Ninth Inning

Wilson struck out. Ulrich hit to Fitzpatrick and was out at first. Cooney went to bat for Armstrong. He bunted to Wolfgang and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 4, New Bedford 3.

Hits—Lowell 7, New Bedford 8.

Errors—Lowell 1, New Bedford 5.

TO BOSTON LIGHT

John W. Daly Will Attempt to Swim

Ex-Alderman John W. Daly of this city intends to endeavor to swim from Charlestown bridge to Boston Light. Mr. Daly has been training for the swim for several weeks and is confident that he can accomplish the feat. He will probably try to cover the distance one week from next Sunday and in the meantime will do considerable practice in the waters of Boston harbor. A number of his friends from Lowell will go to Boston when the ex-alderman makes the date of the trial, to witness his performance. Mr. Daly is a clever athlete and a strong swimmer and his friends are anxious to see him reach the light.

NIGHT ASCENSION OF THE BALLOON "BOSTON" TO BE MADE

The first ascension of the new balloon "Boston" which was to have been made from the Lowell Gas Light Company's yard in School street this afternoon has been postponed owing to unfavorable winds and it is the intention of the sky pilots to make the night shortly before midnight if the weather at that time is favorable. If not, the ascension will be made early tomorrow morning.

The first will be occupied by Mr. Jay B. Benton, city editor of the Boston Transcript, and J. Walter Flagg of Worcester.

Both of the men who have qualified as international pilots will take up with them a quantity of cotton recently received from Texas. What their reason is for doing this is not known but Charles J. Gidden, the pioneer of aerial pilots, said: "The mill men are complaining that cotton is high, but it was never as high before as it will be when the balloon goes up."

GAYNOR SHOT

MAYOR WILLIAM J. GAYNOR.

James J. Gallagher Fired on Mayor of New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mayor W. J. Gaynor of New York city was shot and probably fatally wounded on board the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Gross as he was sailing for Europe today.

His assailant, was arrested and gave the name of James Jules Gallagher, and his residence as 440 Third avenue, Manhattan.

At the time of the shooting the mayor was standing on the upper deck talking with Commissioner Thompson.

Mayor Gaynor was carried from the ship on a stretcher and placed in the ambulance of Volk which had been summoned by the police. He was carried to St. Mary's hospital in Willow avenue, Hoboken. When he reached the hospital he was still conscious. He was immediately taken to the operating room.

Three shots were fired, two of which were missed. One struck him in the neck.

When asked why he had shot the Mayor, Gallagher said:

"He deprived me of my bread and butter." Gallagher was taken to the adjacent police station and arraigned.

It is ascertained that Gallagher was employed as a watchman in the department of docks up to June 1st.

BRITISH PUBLIC MEN

EXPRESS REGRET AT AFFAIR

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The attempt made today to assassinate William J. Gaynor, whose administration as mayor of New York has been watched with interest in England, called forth expressions of regret from British public men.

THE MAYOR'S BROTHER

WAS GREATLY AFFECTED

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 9.—Mayor Gaynor's brother, Thomas L. Gaynor, wept bitterly today when he was told of the shooting of the mayor. "I can't say whether I will go to New York or not. It all depends upon my brother's condition," said Mr. Gaynor.

CHANGES HANDS

LOCAL FRENCH NEWSPAPER

SOLD TO TWO MEN

LEVELO, the local French newspaper which is published daily, Sunday excepted, at 125-127 Middle street, has been sold to Louis A. Biron of Nashua, N. H., and A. Chapin of Salem, Mass. Both men are well known among the French-American citizens of this vicinity. Mr. Biron being the publisher of L'Impartial, a weekly publication in Nashua, while Mr. Chapin publishes weekly Le Courrier in Salem.

LEVELO was formerly owned by local parties but a few years ago the paper changed hands and since the local men divorced themselves from the publication several changes have been made.

THE MAYOR'S PHYSICIAN

SAYS GAYNOR IS STRONG

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—At 2:45 o'clock this afternoon Dr. Sullivan, one of the physicians of St. Mary's hospital, said:

"Mayor Gaynor's pulse is normal and the patient is strong and cheerful. The bullet probably has lodged under the tongue."

Bullet Entered Head

The bullet entered the head just behind the left ear and apparently penetrated its way straight in. The mayor was bled at the time and was standing on the fore part of the upper deck bidding good bye to

WIFE COMPLAINED

John D. Hourigan was arraigned before Judge Bailey in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with being drunk. He entered a plea of guilty and was ordered to pay a fine of $5. After the drunken offender had been tried they were hustled downstairs, but he had been down there but a short time when his wife entered the station and wanted to make a complaint against her husband for non-support. He was hustled back into the court room again but after the complaint had been made the wife was among the missing and his case was continued till tomorrow morning.

According to one report the shot fired struck Mayor Gaynor in the mouth. He was walking on the promenade deck of the steamer when the shot was fired. Detectives were immediately rushed in numbers from Manhattan headquarters to the scene of the tragedy at the Hoboken steamship pier.

Mayor Gaynor and some city officials were standing in a group about to have their photographs taken when the shooting began. Blood spurted from the wound in the neck as the mayor

THE GOVERNMENT'S VIOLENCE

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 9.—Ten Catholic senators and deputies today telegraphed Premier Canalejas protesting against what they described as the government's violence and abuses towards the Catholics who desired to participate in "the magnificent movement in protestation against the government's anti-Catholic policy."

RAID IN NEWPORT

Ivins, Mrs. Dun and Prof. Matthews Behind It

NARRAGANSETT PIET, R. L. Aug. 9.—It became known last night that William M. Ivins, once candidate for mayor of New York; Professor Brander Matthews and Mrs. R. G. Dun, were among the persons who were behind the raid on the Narragansett club. Mr. Ivins in a statement last night declared that he and his associates had been working for two years or more to drive out the gamblers, and that two years ago an organization was formed for this express purpose. The facts regarding this organization, he said, had never been made public, but it numbered among its membership many prominent summer residents, and had been quietly working ever since. Mr. Ivins said last night:

"This town is in the throes of a gambling epidemic which has enveloped rich and poor alike. The majority of the people who visit the swell club are not summer residents of Narragansett and Narragansett Pier, but are members of automobile parties from New York and elsewhere. And while they gamble at the high-toned places, their chauffeurs go to five other places which are known to exist."

"This epidemic of gambling has entirely changed the character of the town. Property has depreciated in value from 25 to 50 per cent, and the voting population has fallen off 200 per cent, all because of the gambling. Instead of the high-class of summer residents who used to frequent Narragansett, we now have the summer boarders."

In discussing the raid of Sunday in which his son, James S. Y. Ivins, was one of the principals, Mr. Ivins said:

"Constable Cross and his assistant not only secured evidence of gambling, but George L. Cuttings of Worcester, one of the party, was able to examine one of the roulette wheels in the place and satisfied himself beyond question that the wheel was 'fixed' and that the game was a crooked one in which the player was at the mercy of the operator."

Society women and their emissaries have kept close tabs on Constable John G. Cross, who conducted the gambling raid, all day yesterday taking every opportunity that afforded to beseech him to refrain from giving the names of those who were in the club rooms at the time of the raid to the newspapers.

"To publish these names would give unnecessary pain and cause unnecessary embarrassment," he said yesterday, "but if these people appear in court in answer to the summonses which have been served on them, it will then be impossible to keep their names from the public and there will be a good deal of surprise when it is learned what prominent men and women are concerned. And they will have a lot of embarrassing questions to answer."

Constable Cross declared last night he was being constantly followed by detectives, who, he believes, are in the company of some of the society people, and that his move was made, and he is almost in fear of his life.

6 O'CLOCK GRAND PARADE

Knights Templar Make a Fine Showing in Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Although today's parade of Knights Templar, composed of 30,000 uniformed men and covering 43 blocks, was scheduled to last from 10 a. m. till 3 p. m., none of the knights were in danger of having to forego luncheon, thanks to 100,000 ham sandwiches made last night by 100 men and women for distribution early today. Twenty-five commissary wagons were employed to distribute the sandwiches. Before the sandwiches were loaded on the wagons they were thoroughly inspected by Knight W. W. Evans, city health commissioner.

Parade Starts
A trumpet blazed, a thousand orders were shouted as one out of acres of waving, glistening white plumes, a steady, broad ribbon of gleaming white poured itself out into Michigan boulevard with banners bearing heraldic devices and with cross-billed swords at shoulder, and there began in Chicago today the greatest parade of Knights Templar ever witnessed in the history of the order. Every knight attending the thirty-first triennial convocation who could get into line was there a part of the seemingly endless stream of white-bonneted, solemnly attired knights, nor did the stream stop at a given point for three hours.

The Right Honorable Henry James, Earl of Euston, cousin of King George of England and most eminent supreme pro-grand master of the great priory of England and Wales, waited beside the line attired in his full regalia as head of the British templary to review the followers of the red cross. Farther on Mayor Busse was saluted and still further Gov. Deneen acknowledged the tributes of flashing steam.

This was the big day of the convocation. Later will come drilling for prizes in which the flower of the knightly world will joust in pastime but this day was that on which a half-million spectators stood beside the winding streets while the thousands of knights were on parade. Sixteen grand divisions swept down the line of march, then broke to reconvene in the afternoon in the music hall where the convocation was to be opened, where addresses of welcome were to be delivered by Right Reverend Sir Cleveland, grand commander of Knights Templar of Illinois; by Mayor Busse and Governor Deneen.

Tonight the Earl of Euston will receive invited guests at the headquarters hotel and the different state grand commanders will hold open house at their various headquarters.

THOSE INDIAN LAND DEALS

McLESTER, Okla., Aug. 9.—Senator T. P. Gore at the congressional investigation of the Indian land deals today introduced and had read the investigating committee telegrams in which the names of Vice President Sherman and Senator Curtis of Kansas were mentioned. One of the telegrams read:

"With McMurray there to state your claims, with Mr. Curtis and Mr. Sherman who understand better than anybody what we want and with the assistance of our president, it begins to look like we are coming into our own."

This telegram was dated at Kinta, May 2 last, and was sent to Richard C. Adams, an attorney at Washington, by George Scott, McMurray's agent among the Indians.

Its relations to Senator Gore's charges of having been offered $25,000 bribe to put through congress the $30,000,000 McMurray Indian land deal was explained by the senator:

"It merely shows the activity of the McMurray interests at Washington," said Senator Gore.

"By offering this evidence I do not wish to reflect either on Mr. Sherman or Mr. Curtis," said the senator.

"Do you mean that as an exoneration from you of Mr. Sherman?" asked Dennis Flynn, attorney for McMurray.

"It is merely to state that if the names of these men were taken in vain at one time they may have been at another," replied Mr. Gore.

RECONCILED WIFE Has Again Sued Her Husband

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The details of a "home-coming party" tendered to Mrs. Marie Schwarz last winter after Supreme Court Justice Newburger had advised her and her husband to become reconciled were related yesterday in the supreme court.

Mrs. Schwarz, through her lawyer again appeared in court to ask for $500 a month alimony pending a new suit for separation. Her husband, Adolph M. Schwarz, is a lawyer, with offices in several cities.

After Justice Newburger declined last winter to give the handsome wife a separation and advised her and "Dear Dodo," as she used to call her husband, to become reconciled, Mrs. Schwarz accepted the advice and immediately went to her husband's residence at 620 West 122nd street.

When she arrived, she declares, a maid showed her to the library. "This is to be your room, madame," she was told, she alleges.

Mrs. Schwarz, however, decided that her husband's bedroom was a better sleeping room, so she took possession. When Mr. Schwarz came home, the court was told, his wife refused to let him enter his room.

"She dropped a nation over the transom," Schwarz's lawyer explained. "You mean Schwarz smashed the transom himself when he couldn't get in," the lawyer for Mrs. Schwarz interjected.

After Mrs. Schwarz had finally returned to the library and the curtains had been drawn, there came to the Schwarz residence, it was stated, a party of the husband's friends to celebrate his wife's home-coming. The party was "convivial," the court was told, and some of the guests spent their time pulling aside the curtains and giving Mrs. Schwarz "the merry ha ha."

There was some discussion between the lawyers as to whether Mrs. Schwarz came from Austria or France, and there was considerable debate, as to whether Mr. Schwarz is in receipt of an income of $36,000 a year or one-sixth of that amount. The attorney au-

serted that his client's business has practically been ruined by his matrimonial troubles.

Mrs. Schwarz declares her life was made miserable at her husband's house by the conduct of the servants and others. Once, she alleges, her coffee was tampered with and she became violently ill. She was laughed at when she complained. At another time, she contends, her husband told her to go to Chicago to live, and then wired her as soon as she arrived to come back to New York, as he had changed his mind.

The climax came, she charges, when her husband choked her and then "kiddnaped" their 12 year old son. As proof of the choking she produced in court a photograph which, her counsel claimed, shows the marks of her husband's fingers. She also submitted to the court letters from her son, who is now in a French school. He was placed there, she says, by her husband, who spirited him out of the jurisdiction of the court against her will and the boy's wishes.

Mrs. Schwarz denies his wife's charges. He asserts that when she came back to his home to live he prepared the house "as for a bride," but was unable to please her.

Justice Goff reserved decision upon the application for alimony and counsel fees.

JERSEY PASTOR ABANDONS EVENING SERVICE BECAUSE OF SKEETERS

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 9.—The pastor of the Hilltop Methodist church, the Rev. A. Boylan Fitzgerald, has never taken much to the idea of summer vacations. He has been holding services regularly both morning and evening and they have been well attended. But for a while the evening service will be replaced by the vacation service at about 7 o'clock in the afternoon until frost comes and drives away the mosquitoes.

For several weeks each Sunday night the pests have kept the pastor sleeping at their while conducting the service. He provided screens for the doors and windows, but the multitude of 1910 Index service.

On Sunday it was announced from the pulpit that hereafter until the mosquito season ends the congregation will steal a march on the borer and get all the services out of the way before he leaves his haunts as the shades of evening fall.

GAYNOR SHOT

fell to the deck. Officer Fitzgerald, one of the guards of the North German Lloyd line, was standing near at the time. He had in his hand a small police club with which he hit the assassin a blow on the head, felling him to the deck. The man was seized by officers. In the scuffle his hat fell off disclosing the initials "H. O. M." Throughout the struggle the man retained a pipe in his hand.

Meantime there was intense excitement on the deck of the steamer. The mayor's secretary lifted the stricken executive to his feet and with the assistance of others carried him to a stateroom.

Later he was conveyed to the hospital.

The revolver used by the assassin was found to contain four empty shells.

Mayor Gaynor's Words
As Mayor Gaynor was being borne by his friends he remarked simply: "Say good-bye to the people."

At the city hall it is believed that Gallagher is the man who had been no longer loitering in city hall park for several weeks, apparently trying to see Mayor Gaynor. The attendants at the city hall however prevented the man reaching the mayor.

Mayor Gaynor's administration, which began on Jan. 1st last, had been so drastic in its reforms and he had condemned so many persons and parties in such strong terms that he became the subject of many threats.

In municipal circles he made many bitter enemies and a number of powerful political organizations were uncompromising against him.

Going on Vacation
Gaynor was sailing on the first vacation he has had since taking office on January first. He has been at work from fourteen to sixteen hours a day and imperatively felt the need of a rest. In order to keep out of reach of the affairs of his office it was his intention to avoid all the European cities and to take a jaunt through the North sea through the coast of Norway. He expected to be absent about one month.

Mayor Gaynor was rather secretive about his preparations for the journey, which was so tragically interrupted.

To friends who saw him at his office yesterday afternoon he said his principal chief was the sea trip and he had no intention of visiting the continent or stopping in any of the larger English cities.

"I want a rest," he said, "I may go to Sweden and possibly to Denmark."

He added that he desired to be at sea as much as possible after the hard work of the past seven months and to get himself in condition for many problems that faced him on his return.

EX-PRES. ROOSEVELT IS SHOCKED AND HORRIFIED

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt sent the following telegram to acting Mayor Mitchell as soon as he heard the report of the shooting:

"I am shocked and horrified beyond measure. Please send me information. (Signed) Theodore Roosevelt."

THE MAYOR'S ASSAILANT WAS OF QUIET DISPOSITION

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mrs. Sophia Johnson, who keeps the rooming house at 410 Third avenue where Gallagher lives, when told today that her boarder had attempted to kill the mayor, exclaimed:

"The old fool; what did he do that for?"

Mrs. Johnson described Gallagher as a man of retiring demeanor, over twenty years old. He evidently had been a night watchman for it was his custom to go out every night at 10 o'clock and return at half past eight in the morning.

Gallagher, according to Mrs. Johnson, came in at half past six o'clock this morning and went to his room and his landlady did not see him go out again. He occupied a single room at the rear of the house and she regarded him as a first class boarder. As far as she knew he was not in politics. He had no friends in the house and his visitors from outside, Mrs. Johnson described as men of good appearance and address.

THE MAYOR'S INJURY MAY NOT BE SERIOUS

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mayor William J. Gaynor was shot and wounded on the morning of August 8, 1910, when he was standing on the deck of the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse in Hoboken about to start on a month's vacation in Europe.

The shooting was done by a stranger who later gave his name as James J. Gallagher, living at 440 Third avenue, New York. He was later identified as a former city employe who had been discharged.

Three shots were fired at the mayor. Two of them missed and the third lodged in the fleshy part of the left side of the neck. Blood gushed from the wound and the first hasty examination led to the belief of serious and perhaps fatal results.

The mayor retained consciousness and later examination by the physicians when the mayor was taken to the hospital gave a more hopeful outlook.

Shortly after 11 the following statement was given out by the steamer's physician who attended Mayor Gaynor just after the shooting:

"The bullet entered the mayor's neck back of the ear, burying itself in the region of the mastoid bone. As far as our observations go in our opinion the injury is not serious."

Commissioner Shot

It has been learned that Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards was shot and wounded by one of the bullets fired at Gaynor. Edwards was standing by the mayor, seized Gallagher's arm. One of the bullets pierced through the street cleaner's sleeve and grazed his left arm. The wound, however, was so slight that Commissioner Edwards was not aware of it at the time, discovering it later after the excitement had subsided, when his arm began to pain him.

The shooting occurred under circumstances of the most dramatic character. Mayor Gaynor came aboard the steamer accompanied by a number of prominent city officials about to bid him adieu on his trip abroad. The party proceeded to the upper deck and were assembled in a group giving final greetings. Crowds of passengers were about on deck and with friends waving adieu from the pier. The mayor's party had just formed a group preparatory to having their picture taken.

Gave No Warning
Suddenly a stranger pushed through the throng. He approached the mayor and without a word began shooting. The shots rang out in quick succession. Instantly there was the greatest excitement as the shots carried warning and terror to the throng.

Mayor Gaynor was seen to fall to the deck and the gushing wound told that he had been hit. At the same moment a ship's guard sprang forward and dealt the assassin a blow on the head with a battle-axe. The man was struck to the deck where officers seized him. He was turned over to the Hoboken police and taken at once to police headquarters. There he gave the name of Gallagher and in response to inquiries as to why he had committed the deed he replied sullenly: "He kept me from earning my bread and butter."

Meantime Mayor Gaynor, who had been carried to a stateroom, remained conscious but breathed heavily. He was calm but apparently apprehensive that the wound was grave. An ambulance was summoned to the pier and the wounded mayor was placed on a stretcher and carried to it. The vehicle was driven to St. Mary's hospital in Wilkes avenue, Hoboken, where the mayor was taken to the operating room. He was still conscious and occasionally spoke to those about him. To the city officials who accompanied him to the hospital he indicated the gravity with which he viewed the shooting by remarking:

"Say good bye to the people."

The Mayor Calm

The hospital physicians who examined the wound agreed with the ship's surgeon that it was not necessarily serious. It was found that the bullet had entered the mayor's neck back of the ear, burying itself in the region of the mastoid bone. The bullet was not located at first. It was decided to await the arrival of a surgeon from the city who was hastily summoned. Meantime the mayor remained calm. His chief difficulty came from the gathering of blood in his throat.

The attempt to assassinate the mayor caused intense excitement throughout New York. The prominence of the city executive in recent months in city affairs and to a growing extent in state and national affairs attracted widespread attention and alarm at this attempt on his life. Everywhere the news was received with evidence of profound regret.

In all public places, the hotels, clubs and embassies, the attempt on the mayor's life was the absorbing topic. One of the first dispatches of condolence was from ex-President Roosevelt expressing horror and indignation at the crime.

GALLAGHER FORMERLY WATCHMAN ON DOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—James J. Gallagher was appointed a watchman in the New York city dock department on April 7, 1908. He was discharged on July 19, 1910, after having been found guilty of neglect of duty and misconduct. Among his other transgressions was the fact that he failed to touch the dock on a line of the city's recorders. He was also charged with using insulting language to the inspector. Since his discharge Gallagher has been writing letters to the mayor.

Save for the servants, the Gaynor residence in Brooklyn was deserted this morning, all the members of the family, with the exception of Rufus Gaynor, a son, being down at St. James. L. L. Rufus went over to the steamer to say goodbye to his father there.

REPORT OF SHOOTING RECEIVED AT BEVERLY

BEVERLY, Aug. 9.—The reports of the attempted assassination of Mayor Gaynor of New York aroused the deepest interest and sympathy in the summer capital. After the first bulletin Seely Norton got into touch with Boston and New York. The subsequent bulletins indicating that the wound was not serious as at first reported were received with much gratification. Besides that it was kept informed during the day.

THE HEALTH COMMISSIONER SAYS MAYOR IS CHEERFUL

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (Nec)—Coming directly from a consultation of surgeons in attendance on Mayor Gaynor, Health Commissioner Lederer said:

"I have just left the mayor and he seemed very cheerful and in good spirits. His vitality is very good. In my opinion he has a good chance of recovery."

MAYOR IS CONSCIOUS AND RESTING QUIETLY

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The following bulletin was issued by the surgeons attending Mayor Gaynor after a consultation just finished:

"The mayor was shot on the right side of the neck, the bullet entering the posterior and upper part and ranging downward and forward. The position of the bullet has not been definitely located, but will be determined later by x-ray."

"The mayor is conscious and is now resting quietly and there seems to be no immediate danger."

MAN UNDER ARREST HAS MADE CONFESSION

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Gallagher made the following signed confession of his act to Acting Chief of Police Bell of Hoboken:

"I came over to Hoboken at 9.30 this morning. I went to the steamship pier and I saw the mayor. I met a clergyman on board of the steamer and I asked him to point out Mayor Gaynor to me. He did so, and shortly after I fired a shot at the mayor. I do not know if I fired more than one shot or not."

"Knowing that Mayor Gaynor was going to Europe this morning to enjoy himself after depriving me of my bread and butter, but portierhouse steak, I was irritated to the point of committing this act."

"The revolver you show me is the revolver that I did the shooting with. I don't know how many shots were in the revolver when I used it. I have used this revolver a long time in my possession. I carried it when I was in the employ of the city."

Gallagher seemed remarkably cool while making this statement to which he affixed his signature.

Detective Sergeant Closser arrived at the house, 440 Third avenue, about a quarter of nine o'clock and accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, Gallagher's landlady, went at once to Gallagher's room. The room, which is a small one on the third floor, was much littered up. A number of medicine bottles were in evidence and it was clear that Gallagher had spent much of his time recently in reading the newspapers.

It was said in the neighborhood that Gallagher had been drinking a good deal of late and rumor had it that he had lost $300 on the Jeffries-Johnson fight.

Inspector Russell is to take charge of the case against Gallagher.

GOVERNOR HUGHES SHOCKED AT NEWS

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—"I am immensely shocked at the news of the shooting of Mayor Gaynor," said Governor Hughes today. "We hope for the best."

PRESIDENT TAFT WAS GREATLY SHOCKED

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—This afternoon the following telegram was received at the city hall from President Taft:

"Hon. W. J. Gaynor:
I am very glad to hear that the wound inflicted on you is not serious. I earnestly hope and pray your recovery may be rapid. (Signed) William H. Taft."

GAYNOR BEGAN LIFE AS NEWSPAPER REPORTER

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Mayor William J. Gaynor, who is fifty-nine years of age, began life as a Brooklyn newspaper reporter, studying law at night while working days. He entered politics as a democrat and was first appointed an assistant and then elected district attorney of Kings county. That was the time John McKane, the politician, was running for governor and Gaynor was an independent realist, repaying a large fortune from his corrupt political practices. Gaynor aided McKane's farcical election machinery and sent McKane to prison for the rest of his life.

A few years later Gaynor was elected to the supreme court bench and there he served until his appointment to the appellate division of the supreme court, second district, which he resigned after his nomination for mayor last year.

STAFF OF ST. MARY'S SAID GAYNOR SHOWED FORTITUDE

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Dr. William Minford of the house staff of St. Mary's hospital said that the mayor showed great fortitude.

"I gave the mayor strychnine when he first came to the hospital," said Dr. Minford, "because he was suffering from shock, and to remove the blood from his throat. The mayor did not complain of pain."

"He said, 'I will rest and encourage me. Don't tell me it's all right if the wound is serious. I want to know the worst.'"

"The hemorrhage from the mayor's throat ceased at eleven o'clock."

Mrs. Vingt, Mayor Gaynor's daughter, who was recently married, was at the scene of the shooting and she reached the hospital.

Shortly after Mrs. Vingt arrived Gallagher was brought by the police to the hospital to have him identified by his victim as the police had heard that the mayor was in a dying condition. Commissioner Edwards and friends of the mayor, however, backed up by the physicians put a prompt veto on this move. Commissioner Edwards declared that he and a hundred others could make all the indication that was necessary and the mayor's physicians declared that the patient was in no condition to undergo such an ordeal.

Gallagher was taken back to the police station and later was brought before Recorder McGovern, where he was formally arraigned. The recorder warned him that any statement he might make would be used against him. Gallagher shifted uneasily and said:

"I hardly know what to say, as I have no counsel."

"In that case," said Recorder McGovern, "I will hold you without bail to await the action of the grand jury and the outcome of Mayor Gaynor's injuries."

Gallagher was again locked up, but not before he had been repeatedly photographed by a large company of camera men who crowded the court room. He seemed rather pained by the attention he was attracting and in getting ready to pose before the camera straightened his collar and necktie and stood erect and placid while the light was flashed.

Gallagher had been sent to Mrs. Gaynor at her country place in St. James, R. I., of the serious injury to her husband and she started in an automobile on a long ride to the hospital. Her chauffeur was instructed to proceed with all possible speed and directions were given the police all along the route not to interfere with the speeding of the car and to let the mayor's party up well under the shock of the news of Mayor Gaynor's injury. The couple's young daughters remained at their home in St. James, it being decided not to call them to their father's bedside at the hospital unless his condition should become critical.

Commissioner Thompson of the department of water supply, gas and electricity, who left the mayor's bedside during the noon hour, said that the patient was bearing up bravely. Mr. Thompson was standing within two feet of the mayor when the shots were fired.

"When the mayor was shot," said Commissioner Thompson, "I placed his hand over his head and said 'don't be a pesty.' Then he calmly asked to be taken to his stateroom."

It was announced shortly before one o'clock that all the physicians in attendance on Mayor Gaynor will hold a consultation at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when it will be determined whether or not the mayor is able to stand the strain of an x-ray examination.

Dr. Caldwell of New York has been directed to bring the necessary x-ray apparatus to the hospital at Hoboken.

THE PRISONER ARRAIGNED AND HELD WITHOUT BAIL

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—With Mayor Gaynor being the Commissioner Lederer, Dock Commissioner Tompkins and Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards.

PACKAGE TRUST

Morgan Said to Be the Man Behind It

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The dream of the monopoly maker, a trust that will take its tribute from everybody, is about to be realized. J. Pierpont Morgan and about thirty other eminent trust builders are behind it.

This trust is known as the "Single Service Package Corporation of America." The ultimate consumer of anything that comes in a package, from phonograph records to spaghetti, will pay its tribute.

The trust already has started to accomplish the purpose for which it was organized. This is to buy and control all the patents covering the machinery used in the manufacture of "paper," or "other containers," including a perfected paper milk bottle, and then to "lease," instead of "sell" the machines constructed under such patents to the manufacturers and other dealers who use packages.

The profits are likely to be enormous. Every machine in use will bring royalty. Politics will be used to force certain products on the public; as, for instance, the paper milk bottle. One city, Boston, has already paved the way for the paper milk bottle by orders regarding the sale of milk in stores in "original packages." Others will be whipped into line.

In a letter to John Markle, the Pittsburgh millionaire coal operator, the promoter, with the frankness that seems to characterize trust builders, says: "Several cities stand ready, as soon as we can supply the demand, to pass ordinances prohibiting the distribution of milk and cream for household use in anything but single service containers. We will meet with delays and have fights on this point, but if we hold hard to our policy we will no doubt, within a few years, have complete control of the field."

The plan is identical with that being pursued by identical trusts which will return more than one-third of its entire capital stock annually.

One of its directors and principal advisers is Frederic W. Upham of Chicago, president of the City Fuel company, of that city and assistant treasurer of the republican national committee.

Some idea may be formed of the amount of tribute to be exacted from the public by means of this latest of monopolistic schemes when it is realized that fourteen concerns in the United States alone use 355,000,000 of these containers every year, and the Single Service Package Corporation expects to charge all users of its patents $1 royalty on every 1000 containers made.

Incidentally it may be said that the machines built by the corporation under the patents it owns cost only $2000 each. The prospectus of the corporation shows that each one of these $2000 machines that it has in operation will bring it in an annual revenue of $6000, or a single unit of 100 machines being purchased will return more than one-third of its entire capital stock annually.

SITUATION PRECARIOUS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Invasion of American property in Nienranga by soldiers of Matriz has called forth a formal protest from the United States. The situation of the Matriz government is precarious.

VISITORS BY APPOINTMENT

BEVERLY, Aug. 9.—President Taft today announced that in the future he will receive visitors by appointment on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The administration's economy plans are occupying a good deal of the president's time just now and he has invited a number of city fiscal experts to come to Beverly for conferences. Among these is Farley of the Boston finance commission.

AGAINST PICKETING

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—An injunction restraining members of Boston lodge, number 264, International Association of Machinists, from picketing or patrolling the streets in the vicinity of the works of the S. A. Woods Machine Co., South Boston, was issued by Judge D. E. Hitchcock in the superior court here today.

MORE MILLS CLOSING

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—It was announced here today that the Pepperell cotton mills of Biddeford, Me., would be shut down from September 3 to September 12. The York mills of Saco, Me., will be closed during the same time. Both corporations, which employ about 5000 operatives, have already curtailed the output by a two weeks' stoppage.

shows the marks of the struggle which took place on the liner's deck as he had shot down the mayor's assailant, who someone had hit him a powerful blow with bare knuckles and black and blue finger marks can be seen on the throat where a strong hand throttled him.

In Gallagher's possession was found a letter which doubtless was the direct incentive for the shooting. It is dated August 4 and the mayor's office and is addressed to Gallagher at his Third avenue residence. It read:

"Dear Sir: The mayor has instructed me to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the first instant and to state that he can do nothing in the matter on which you dwelt. The letter is signed by Seely Robert Adamson."

SLICK STRANGER

Worked Landlady for Money and Decamped

He was a gentle soul, of classy appearance and a soft manner that resembled the tender pussy wail and he blew into a house in ward seven a few evenings ago, from the window of which was displayed a "Furnished Room to Let" sign.

To the good natured and "easy" landlady he said: "I am Professor Parker of Nashua, teacher of music, and I am about to open a studio in this city. I desire to engage a room of moderate price. I am decidedly modest in my way of living. I shall live on all its forms, do not smoke, and keep good hours." Then he rubbed into the porch of the house and seeing a fine piano, said: "Is your piano a fine piano?" Then he saw a fine home furniture.

Victims of a real star roomer came to the landlady as she proceeded to

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Conditions Were Dubious for the Events Today

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 9.—Somebody threw a thick blanket of fog over the sonder aspirants for Spanish-American yachting honors about dawn today and at 8 a. m. it looked as if the yachtsmen would spend the day on the clubhouse veranda instead of at sea. Baker's Island foghorn bellowed dolefully and off shore was heard the low growl of the coasting steamers. A light easterly breeze kept up the supply of mist from the big fog factory somewhere off Cape Ann and early conditions were particularly dubious for the continuation of the elimination trials.

Yachtsmen spent the hours awaiting for the mist to rise in discussing the results of yesterday's racing in which the Harpoon, owned by C. F. Adams and the Clma, owned by Guy Lowell, finished the two races at the head of their respective divisions and prepared for today's contests with clean sheets. It was rumored here today that the committee might see fit to change the divisions before the eliminations began on Thursday night but the members of the committee were particularly reticent about the matter and no authoritative statement could be obtained.

Both of yesterday's winners are this year's production, as is the Beaver, which finished second in the second division. But the Lady, which was second out with the Harpoon in the first division, is a 1906 boat and did not even reach the semi-finals in last year's trial races.

"Dick" Boardman, her owner, however, has made slight changes in his boat and now the Lady is looked upon as a dangerous rival, especially as she made a better showing yesterday than the Beaver.

The standing of the yachts before today's race, according to the point score, was as follows:

Lady	0
Beaver	2
Demon	2
Ellen	5
Don'te	6
Sally XI	7
Joyelle	8
Wolf	10

STRUCK BY AUTO Man Nearly Blind Was Injured

Patrick Flynn, an elderly man who is nearly blind, was struck and knocked down by a big automobile at the corner of Gorham and Appleton streets shortly before six o'clock last night. Owing to the fact that the machine was traveling at a slow rate of speed Flynn escaped with minor bruises and a slight cut on the left temple.

The automobile is a big Packard touring car, belonging to Lyman E. Gordon of Grafton, Mass., and was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and a chauffeur. The machine was coming through Appleton street and just about to turn into Gorham street when Flynn stepped off the curb directly in front of the auto. The chauffeur applied the emergency brake at once but the action of Flynn was so sudden that the machine could not be brought to a stop before it struck the old man and knocked him down.

The occupants of the car got out and carried the man into Moore's drug store, where an examination showed that he was suffering from a slight cut over the left temple and had minor bruises. The cut was bandaged and later he was removed to his home.

The occupants of the car, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and a chauffeur, at once reported to the police station but were not held.

FUNERALS

BADMINGTON.—The funeral services of the late Amos Badmington were held yesterday afternoon from his home, 38 Island street, and were largely attended. Rev. John T. Ullom, pastor of the Lawrence Street Primitive Methodist church, officiated. Mrs. John William sang "The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The floral offerings were profuse, including a pillow inscribed "Father from the family," spray of asters from Mr. and Mrs. David Williams, spray of asters and sweetpeas from Mr. and Mrs. Emil Woessner; spray of white asters and pink from Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey; spray of lavender and white asters from Elmer P. Mooney; spray of sweetpeas and asters from Mr. and Mrs. Perry Mooney; spray of pink and sweet peas from Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brown; spray of pink and sweetpeas from C. H. Howell; spray of sweetpeas from Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stoughton, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Buckley and Miss Ellen Berry. The bearers were Messrs. David Williams, Emil Woessner, Perry Mooney and John D. Williams. Burial took place in the family lot in the Edison cemetery, where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Ullom. Undertaker William H. Saunders had charge of the funeral arrangements.

WELCH.—The funeral of Mary Elizabeth Welch took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, George P. and Catherine Welch, 48 Cross street. There were sprays of flowers from Mr. and Mrs. Michael Welch. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertaker Peter H. Savage.

WILSON.—The funeral of Daniel E. Wilson took place yesterday morning from the rooms of Undertaker Peter H. Savage. Burial was in the Edison cemetery.

BURIED A MAN

Woman Thought He Was Her Brother

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—An indignant woman in Los Angeles, Mrs. H. G. Donnelly, threatens to bring suit against the city of New York unless the city refunds to her the money she spent in providing burial for the body of a man, which through the mistake of a city clerk, she thought was that of her brother.

In a letter received by the charities department yesterday Mrs. Donnelly says that New York must settle the bill.

June 19 last John Doyle, Mrs. Donnelly's brother, was admitted to the city home and was discharged on July 18. He gave as references the name of John Donnelly and her sister, who live in Cincinnati. There was another John Doyle in the city home at the same time. This John Doyle seems to have had no friends or relatives and he died July 8.

Mrs. Donnelly was notified that her brother was dead and she sent money for the funeral expenses. A little later she received a letter from her brother saying that he had recovered.

RURAL SOCIAL WORKERS

AMHERST, Aug. 9.—For the purpose of discussing rural problems, a conference of agricultural educators and rural social workers opened here today in connection with the summer school of the Massachusetts Agricultural college. Prominent workers in the study of agriculture were today's speakers. The general topic at the opening session of the conference was "Agricultural Organization." This session was divided into six sectional meetings, at which the subject was discussed in its different phases. The visitors also inspected the college farm this forenoon. Another meeting was held this afternoon.

LOWELL WOMEN

TO BE ENTERTAINED BY CAPT. AND MRS. GREIG

Mrs. A. P. Mitchell of 70 Chestnut street and Mrs. E. A. Barnes of Harrison street have gone to New York on a three weeks' visit. They will be the guests of Capt. and Mrs. Alexander Greig at Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., for several days. The captain and Mrs. Greig are personal friends of Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Barnes and their husbands and will be delighted to meet and entertain the two Lowell ladies. The Lowell women will visit Connetquot, Brighton and Manhattan beaches and Atlantic City before they return home.

There will be a meeting of the membership committee of the board of trade at the War hotel, Wednesday at 12 m., Aug. 10th.

FOUGHT THE POLICE Riot in Street in New York City Yesterday

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—As a result of the cloak manufacturers' attempt to open their shops yesterday there was a riot on West 21st street, and in almost every precinct in lower Manhattan reserves were held ready if occasion required.

The trouble that grew into a riot, with bloodshed and cracked heads, was at the shop of Bernstein & Co., 250 West 21st street. Fifteen hundred persons charged the police there and smashed and heads were broken in an hour's fight. The factory is on the 12th floor of the building, and in the mix-up sewing machines were dropped from windows, material flung out and shears sent clattering to the street as the shop was wrecked.

The disturbance began in the afternoon when a few policemen and special officers intercepted strikers endeavoring to reach strike breakers going into a building to join others at work. In a few minutes there were several hundred strikers battling to reach the strike breakers.

The police arrested 20 of them and started for the station. The crowd, which was growing steadily, charged the police, broke the lines they had formed, with the prisoners inside, and rescued 18 of the 20.

The crowd managed to get to John Hunter, one of 300 specials employed by the cloak manufacturers. Hunter was beaten so badly that he was attended by an ambulance surgeon. A mounted policeman had saved him from the crowd that was kicking and beating him.

While this crowd was fighting with the police a hundred or more rushed into the building and reached the 12th floor. There Jacob Kopsky sprang upon a table and yelled to the strike breakers to "come out and be men."

A dozen of the 150 at work in the loft ran to the window and cried "Murder" and "Police!" Several shouted, "Look out below!" and the machines, scissors and shears went to the sidewalk.

Tables and work benches were overturned and the legs pulled out and used as weapons. The 20th street station reserves fought their way up the stairs, the strikers having possession of the elevator.

The police going into the building were showered with rocks from behind and met by the crowd in the hall. They reached the shop of Bernstein after it had been wrecked. Fifteen strikers were arrested.

It was estimated that the strikers did damage to the amount of $500, in addition to the wreck of the tables and chairs and windows.

The police with their prisoners, formed a hollow square and took them to the station, while the crowd bombarded them with stones and whatever else could be obtained.

The manufacturers issued a statement yesterday that they were prepared to open their shops, and would protect their workmen. More trouble was expected today.

Many independent shops, it was announced, had given in to the strikers. The coat makers' general strike was extended yesterday, and concessions were made that sent men back to other shops where they had been on strike.

LARCENY CHARGE ROOSEVELT BOOM

Bigamy Also Is Hinted
At

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—William J. Blake, who says he is an agent, was held in Adams street court, Brooklyn, yesterday, in $500 by Magistrate Tighe on a charge of petit larceny. The specific complaint is that Blake swindled Otto Holmensee, of No. 68 Court street, Brooklyn, out of $12.50.

The police say this charge is likely to be changed to grand larceny upon complaint of Margaret D. Easton, of No. 49 Schermerhorn street, and that from letters found in the pockets of the prisoner they believe him a bigamist. Letters were found from Mrs. Margaret Blake, of No. 72 School street, Buffalo, and one from another Mrs. Blake in Chicago, who signed herself Freda.

The police have telegraphed to both cities, and when Blake is arraigned August 29 they will have investigated the case.

Blake, who is thirty years old, is a good talker. He is charged he sold some exclusive territory to Holmensee, who was to have the right of a patent window fastener. Holmensee says Blake had no right to sell the territory.

The arrest developed that Blake had sold stock in the window fastener company, which is situated in Chicago, to Mrs. Easton, a widow with whom he is boarding. She says he got $1250 from her and endeavored to induce her to dispose of a stock farm she has in Manitoba and invest it all in the window fastener concern. About this time she became suspicious and wrote to the Chicago house. The reply came by special delivery, and she says Blake tried to get it before she could see it.

The concern said he had no interest in the business and was no longer connected with the house, according to her story to the police. Mrs. Easton was in court yesterday but made no complaint.

As to the letters from the woman calling him husband, Blake says he has been married three times.

"My first wife is dead," said he. "The one in Buffalo divorced me, and the third one, in Chicago, and myself have separated. That is all there is to that."

A letter written by the wife in Buffalo said their two children were in want and she could take care of herself if he would provide for the children. The Chicago woman writes that she has not heard from him in weeks, and that she is heartbroken at having to part from their little son, who thinks only of his father. She says she knows she will never hear from him again, but if he is ever in trouble she will go to him.

SITUATION IN SPAIN

ROME, Aug. 9.—It was reported today that Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary, was trying through official, semi-official, and private channels to reach an understanding with the Spanish government.

A good omen was found today in the presence of the Marquis de Gonzalez, the Spanish charge d'affaires to the Vatican, and the staff of the Spanish legation at the Vatican, celebrated by Cardinal Merry del Val in honor of the anniversary of the coronation of Pope Pius X. In view of the strained relations between the Holy See and Spain the decision of the Spanish representatives to be present at the mass or to absent themselves was awaited with great interest.

May Result From Western Trip

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Theodore Roosevelt's forthcoming trip to the west is expected to shed much light on the question of just how far he is going to have to be considered as a possibility for the presidential nomination in 1912. Regular and insurgent leaders alike realize the importance of the coming trip of Roosevelt. The men who want President Taft re-nominated and the men who would like to see some other man named will note everything the former president says and do so with the keenest kind of attention.

The interest in his trip will not be lessened because of the fact that a good deal of political gossip is going the rounds that in some of his western speeches Roosevelt will show he is in sympathy with the insurgents. Should he do this, it is inevitable that many of his insurgent admirers will set about promoting a boom for him for the presidency in 1912.

The likelihood of a Roosevelt presidential boom is the greater because just now the insurgents are flushed with their victories in Kansas and Iowa and are intent on keeping the movement going in the hope that they will be in control of the next national convention.

President Taft is assured of the support of the regular elements of the party in 1912, and it is not doubted here that the president's friends are already busying themselves laying the foundations for his re-nomination. A sign of this was given when the Ohio convention met at Columbus and endorsed him for re-nomination. The trip of Senator Crane is looked on as of more far-reaching importance than applying only to the congressional situation or to Secretary Ballinger.

The belief is that the president and his advisers are taking precautions to see that as little chance as possible is given the insurgents in control political machinery in various states, and thus to be enabled to select delegates to the 1912 convention who are not Taft supporters.

As things stand now, it looks as if the insurgents and anti-Taft forces in the republican party, if they have any candidate for president in 1912, cannot hope to head off the re-nomination of Mr. Taft by use of any other name than that of Roosevelt. None of the prominent insurgent leaders apparently can get enough delegates to prevent Mr. Taft's re-nomination. It is not a certainty that Roosevelt could, even if he would, lend his name to a movement of this kind. But it is certain he would have powerful support.

THEATRE VOYONS

An unusual story of the Civil war is told in "Under Both Flags" at the Theatre Voyons today. A young southerner, a graduate of West Point, retains his allegiance to the Union cause though all of his family supports the rebel army. As the war goes on his sister in trying to pass through the Union lines with secret dispatches is captured and sentenced to death as a spy. Terror stricken, her brother discovers he is to be her jailer and executioner. Resulting in sacrifice his life for hers, he changes clothes with her and takes her place in prison while she tries to make her escape disguised in his uniform. A battle occurs as she is trying to get away and she is compelled to lead her brother's command into the thickest of the fight. There she performs several feats of bravery and it is only after she is slightly wounded and disguised is discovered. The general in command who had sentenced her to death after learning of her heroism signs a reprieve and thereby saves both her life and that of her brother who is about to be executed in her stead.

MURDER CHARGED

Warrant Issued for Former Inmate of State Hospital

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—A warrant charging William R. Remington with the murder of Max Sorokien in the latter's grocery store in Harrison avenue on July 31st last, was issued today and later Remington was taken into the municipal court. Remington while an inmate at the state farm at Tewksbury declared that he had killed Sorokien, the cause of whose death had been variously surmised as murder or suicide. When his story was made known the authorities took him in charge and yesterday brought him to Boston. While awaiting the calling of the case Charles Mandell, of Springfield, held as a government witness, dashed from the courthouse corridor. He was half way across Pemberton square before officers captured him and took him back.

Remington was held without bail for a hearing August 17. Mandell was held as a witness in $50, which he was unable to furnish. Both men were taken to the Charles street jail. The court appointed Martin T. Hall as attorney for Remington.

MISSED DEATH BY HAIR

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Missing death by a hair was literally true in the case of Charles Lewis, of Grantwood, N. Y., who fell while running for a train yesterday, and had his arm cut off by the wheels of the rear car. Lewis was late for the train and jumped the iron fence. The train was under way. Those who saw the accident thought his head had been cut off. He was so close that the wheels cut off the rim of his hat and locks of his hair.

AEROPLANE RACES

The Flight From Troyes to Nancy

NANCY, France, Aug. 9.—Leblanc and Aubrun again led the van on today's leg of the cross country aeroplane race. The second section of the flight was from Troyes to Nancy, a distance of 105 kilometers, or approximately 102.5 miles.

The race between the leaders was an exciting one. Aubrun started five minutes earlier than Leblanc and the air men were within sight of each other until they landed here. Leblanc's machine proved the swifter and he gradually overhauled the other, reaching the goal 30 seconds ahead of his rival.

Both men used Cleriot monoplanes, and steered by compass, checking their positions from the flags which had been attached to steeples in the villages over which they passed and by the smoke of bonfires that marked the course over the country stretches.

The circuit which the contestants must cover in six stages is 48 miles and extends from Paris to Troyes and Nancy, Bezieres, Charleville, Douai, Amiens, and back to Paris.

Twenty thousand dollars is offered for the aviator who makes the distance in shortest elapsed time. Aubrun's time for the distance was 1 hour 37 minutes and 25 seconds.

The international balloon race will start from St. Louis on Oct. 17. Leblanc represented France in the race from the same city in 1907 and finished second. He landed at Herbertsville, N. J., after covering a distance of 867.4 miles.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reid, business manager, and Alfred Pilotta, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The directors of savings banks are becoming more and more watchful of their clerks, tellers and treasurers. There is a reason. This belated vigilance will do no harm.

To throw a man out of work, or to refuse him employment, simply because he is a member of a labor union is a form of tyranny that is only equalled by the tyranny which would prevent a man from earning a living because he refuses to join a union and pay tribute to the same. One is as bad as the other, look at it whichever way you please?

CONDEMN THE FIRE TRAPS

There are a number of buildings on our principal streets that should be torn down and rebuilt because of their unsightliness if for no other reason. But the cost of construction is yet too high to justify any very extensive rebuilding except where old structures have become unsafe for habitation and are a menace to adjoining property. When building material reaches a lower level we look for very extensive building alterations in our principal thoroughfares which will follow as a matter of investment. But there are a few tumbled down, rotting, ramshackle structures right in the very heart of the city that should be condemned. Not only are they unsightly, but they are dangerous; and they are saturated with filth and disease germs. They are little better than nuisances, because of the odors emanating from them, and worst of all, they are fire traps that threaten good property in their immediate vicinity.

These eye sores are well known, and no one knows them better than the superintendent of public buildings, who has power to condemn them. We would not for a moment suppose that our worthy superintendent of buildings is influenced in the least in the discharge of his duty by the fact that most of these tumbled down, ill-smelling, ramshackle fire traps are owned by men of wealth and influence. Not at all. He is simply waiting for time to get around to a proper consideration of these cases, and then we have no doubt he will issue an order to either put these ramshackles into modern and habitable condition, or tear them down as menaces to health and adjoining property. But we do hope he will see the point before it is too late.

THE GRAND OLD CITY OF SPINDLES

After all Lowell is a good place in which to live. We may lack some of the wonderful things that other cities in the world possess, but we still have a great deal to be proud of. If the men who persist in saying that Lowell is played out; that she has seen her best days; that she is all in, would stop and think a little they would change their tune. Instead of belittling their city they should start in to sing her praises.

Lowell is a good place for business. Store rents are extremely low considering the size and population of the city, and people are noted for paying their bills in Lowell as a rule. We have fewer of the so-called dead beats in Lowell than you will find in any other manufacturing city in the country. Then Lowell is a good labor market. Our employees are intelligent, law-abiding, of good average morals, and generally willing to work for fair wages. Furthermore, we are comparatively free from needless labor troubles.

No city in the country has a better system of drainage than we have right here in Lowell. This is made possible by our excellent system of canals, and the proximity of two big rivers. Our drinking water taken from driven wells is pure and wholesome. We have good fire protection, as our fire department has been considered for years one of the models of New England. Food is cheap and good in Lowell. In fact one can live cheaper in Lowell than in any city of its size in the country. We have some good public parks already, and our park system is developing at a rapid rate. No city in the world has a better trolley system than we have and few cities equal it. The fares are cheap, the rides are long, and the service is good. Lowell is an excellent railway centre. Goods can be shipped from this city without breaking bulk to any part of the United States. The suburbs of Lowell are beautiful. Within five minutes' ride or fifteen minutes' walk from Merrimack square, in almost any direction one finds himself in the midst of the most beautiful country scenery. Two grand rivers meet in the center of Lowell. Both are beautiful and historical, while one has an industrial record in its trip from the mountains to the sea that is hardly equalled by any other river in the world.

Our schools are the equal of any in the country. We have a police department that compares with the best of its class anywhere. The city is healthy, it is clean, and its people enjoy a reputation for intelligence, culture, good morals and obedience to the laws. We never suffer from the serious industrial depressions that come to many other cities. Although we are confined to but few industries yet the products of Lowell find a ready market because of their world-wide reputation. When newer and less experienced localities find it hard to secure orders, Lowell sells her entire output in the markets and employment is generally steady for all who want to work.

We have fine churches and public buildings, wide awake merchants, public spirited men, and the loveliest women in all the world. Last but not least we have the best newspapers of any city of its size in the country.

Then why should men go out of their way to say an unkind word of the grand old spindle city?

Young man stop and ponder. Before concluding to take a chance in green fields far away, don't shut your eyes to the prospect of success which the city of spindles offers to every well disposed man who is willing to work and to make the most of his opportunities. Lowell is not in the experimental stage, neither is she in a state of decline. She will be flourishing and famous when some of the boom cities of which we now hear so much are gone to decay. She was great before they were thought of, and she will be greater still after they are forgotten.

SEEN AND HEARD

Did you ever observe how many little incidents of the street may be applied as examples of the larger scopes of life? Here is an example and the application to the more important things of life is so obvious that it needs no explanation. Only a day or two ago the pedestrians on Merrimack street were amused to see two dogs running down the street. Ordinarily there is nothing unusual or amusing in such a common incident, but the circumstances in this case were peculiar. One of the dogs was a Great Dane of almost gigantic size, and he was trotting very quietly down the street, apparently with his mind fixed on some destination, and untroubled by anything that was going on around him. Close behind the big dog ran a little one, whose size was in about the same ratio to that of the Great Dane as the extent of a South American Republic to that of the United States. The smaller dog was barking furiously at his gigantic friend, and evidently had the idea that he was driving him before him in an ignominious flight. But he found out his mistake when the big fellow met a man he knew and then apparently noticing for the first time that the little one was trying to worry him, with a gentle push of his head sent the pigmy dog rolling across the pavement. That ended the pursuit then and there, and the barking for the small dog, had found his real place, as many a man and nation has done before him.

Eleanor, aged six, had been going to school only a few weeks. She had learned to raise her hand if she wanted anything. One day she put this into effect when she was sent to the chicken house to get the eggs.

Just as she reached the chicken house door her mother heard her say, "All you chickens that have laid an egg, raise your hands!"—The Delineator.

"Joseph," said his mother, reprovingly, "I should think you'd be ashamed to be in the same class with boys so much smaller than yourself."

"Well, mother," replied Joe, "I look upon the matter a different way altogether. It makes me feel fine to see how proud the small boys are to be in the class with a big boy like me!"—The Delineator.

Considerate Motorist—"I'm awfully sorry I knocked you down—hope you aren't hurt. Now, what can I give you?"

"Yokel—" "Well, zur, 'ow much do 'e generally give?"—Tilt Bits.

"THE HAND THAT SMITES" They say this world is round, and yet I often think it square;

So many little hurts we get From corners, here and there.

But one great truth in life I've found, While journeying to the west— The only folks who really wound Are those we love the best.

Love does not grow on every tree, Nor true hearts yearly bloom; Alas, for those who only see This truth across the tomb!

But soon or late, the fact grows plain To all, through Sorrow's test, The only folks that give us pain Are those we love the best!

—Anonymous.

Two young ladies boarded a crowded tramcar and were obliged to stand. One of them, to steady herself, took hold of what she supposed was her friend's hand. They had stood thus for some time when, on looking down, she discovered that she was holding a man's hand. Greatly embarrassed, she exclaimed: "Oh, I've got the wrong hand!" Whereupon the man, with a smile, stretched forth his other hand, saying: "Here is the other one, miss."

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of New York, president of Columbia university; Thomas F. Among the questions under consideration are open air schools and the introduction of systematic instruction for girls in household economics and the care of children.

Great Britain has three newspapers and two magazines devoted to the interests of woman suffrage. Holland, Denmark, Norway, Germany, Austria, Russia, Finland, Ireland, France, Switzerland, Bulgaria, Hungary and Poland have one paper each, while Belgium and Turkey have each one woman's magazine which advocates giving woman the ballot.

The newspapers and women in some parts of the east are greatly exercised over the problem of educating the youth of Washington and Oregon. Reports are being published in the New York and New England papers to the effect that there is a great shortage of teachers on the Pacific coast. Several hundred young women went west from New York state last year, and it is announced that as many more will leave during August; yet the ranks of those who went last year have been thinned so greatly by matrimony that conditions are no better than twelve months ago. Says the St. Paul Pioneer Press: "It is considerable of the easterners to worry about the welfare of the west, but they should realize that they are being worked by an endless chain game. The teachers who go out this summer to educate the young will have children of their own to be educated in a few years, and it will be necessary to send more teachers, and so on until the entire coast is populated or the teacher supply in the east is exhausted."

Harrison S. Morris of Philadelphia, commissioner of the United States to the great international woman art exhibition next year, when the Elmer City will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the proclamation of United Italy, is in Rome making all the arrangements for the American pavilion.

He was the last to arrive, as the commissioners of France, Austria, Germany, England, Japan, etc., had all preceded him, taking the places which they considered best, but he, with American shrewdness, managed to obtain a place whence the United States will dominate all other exhibitors, being also the only spot which possesses the beautiful background formed by the century-old cypresses and pine trees of historic Villa Borghese, against which the typical American colonial buildings will stand out most effectively. It is said that, while nothing definite has yet been decided, the construction of the American pavilion will be undertaken by the New York firm of Carrere & Hastings.

An amusing story comes from the little village of Luzern in Germany, of the election of the local burgomaster.

The polling took place in February, and the largest number of votes had been given to a peasant named Simon Berzan. Unfortunately, he was found to be ineligible for the office, as he could neither read nor write.

The provincial authorities accordingly declared the election void, and July 16 was fixed as the date for a fresh election. Berzan, nothing daunted, set to work to learn his alphabet and worked at his lessons so assiduously that he very quickly learned to read and write.

He was again chosen at the second election, and on informing the inspecting committee that he now possessed all the necessary qualifications, had to submit to a written and oral test of his newly acquired knowledge. He acquitted himself to the satisfaction of his judges, and now is one of the most popular burgomasters in Germany.

Maurice Hewlett, who has just escaped being chosen as one of the first list of "immortals," or members of the English literary academy, has explained the lack of great poets in the nation. "We are too comfortable and too prosperous," he said, "to be moved by the poet's forces, which have always been love, religion, and the spirit of the race." "England's Maytime," called the Saturday Review, is not likely to return, and the forces which made it and its literature great can never again manifest themselves, or at any rate in the combination peculiar to that glowing, expansive period. Nevertheless, he "experiments" his cultivation, and has succeeded in bringing into the lives of nations forces which shall inspire new singers. Meantime poetry is more than ever the possession of the few "private souls."

Judge John W. Maddox of the Georgia superior court is quoted as saying that in the last six months he has presided at more murder trials than were held before him in six years in his early experience on the bench. "We will have a first-class hanging in this county yet," he said, "and it will be a white man, too."

"RATS" AND "PUFFS"

Prevailing Hair Styles Cause Many Scalp Diseases.

Women who cover their heads with masses of false hair and fibre should understand that it is only a question of time when those masses will be dislodged by doctors as "unhygienic dust and germ catchers." The air is excluded from the scalp, and the pressure on the delicate network of veins soon results in the loss of hair. Girls and women should clean their hair frequently with Birt's Head Dressing, which is the only hair dressing that is hygienic. This is a delicately perfumed antiseptic shampoo made of neutral soap, glycerine, white of eggs, coconut oil and salicylic acid. It gives a gloss and sheen to the hair that nothing else will, and restores the scalp to a healthy, healthy condition, removing every trace of dandruff or scales. 25c and 50c.

BURGLARS BUSY

Home of Ex-Rep. Luce Ransacked

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—Patrolman Taylor while going his rounds last night discovered that the house of ex-Representative Robert Luce at 140 Highland avenue, Somerville, had been broken into and overhauled and robbed.

Ex-Representative Luce and Mrs. Luce have been away a week on a vacation and as the police do not know where they are they were unable last night to communicate with them.

It is feared that the burglary is an extensive one, for there was much of value in the house. The thief gained an entrance by forcing open a cellar door and then after getting into the cellar he went to the kitchen door, sawed out a panel and turned the key and opened the door.

The burglar evidently took his time and ransacked the rooms, closets, trunks and sideboard.

Patrolman Taylor sent word to the police station and Lieut. Carter and Sergt. Ray joined him and together they went through the house and found it in a disorderly condition.

The police were unable to determine what had been taken, but they feared that the burglary must have been an extensive one and they made the house secure and sent an officer to guard it.

An effort will be made to communicate with Mr. Luce and have him return and furnish the police a list of the property that is missing.

FORGERY CHARGE

Made Against 19 Year Old Youth

BANGOR, Me., Aug. 9.—After two weeks of high living in the red light district of Bangor, Adelle Smart, 19 years old, of Eagle Lake, was arrested last night on the charge of forgery. The police say that they have evidence that Smart passed at least four checks, aggregating about $100, his method being to make a small purchase and present a check, taking the balance in cash.

Smart confessed to two complaints and said that he was ready to "take his medicine." The checks were all on the Millinocket Trust company and purported to be signed by Rush Bros., a well known Millinocket business house. Smart came to Bangor on one of the checks, which was cashed by a Bangor & Arctostock conductor, who is one of the complainants. Smart says that he spent the money in having a good time. Upon his person was found a check made out like the others.

HE WAS HELD UP

Man Says He Lost Money and Watch

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—J. W. O'Bannon, a member of the New York athletic club, with R. L. Gilman, one of his employees, was returning from a trip to Providence by automobile last night.

"We had just reached the top of the hill on the outskirts of New York," said Mr. Gilman yesterday, "when a man appeared in the middle of the road waving a lantern to and fro. Rudolph White, the chauffeur, brought the car to a stop.

"Stop, gentlemen, you will greatly oblige us by stepping down and handing us your money," was the startling invitation that came to us from behind the ugly looking revolvers, so we started to step down. That is what Mr. O'Bannon did. The chauffeur made a flying leap for one of the highwaymen and rolled over to the side of the road with him and succeeded in wrestling his gun from the man, but he took to the woods. Mr. O'Bannon also ran for help.

When left alone with the highwaymen, they took my pocketbook, which contained $55, and my dollar watch. They overlooked a valuable diamond ring which I had on my finger. After searching me they tried to escape with the automobile, but somehow the engine would not work for them, so they left me and walked for a short distance down the road and disappeared in the woods. Mr. O'Bannon soon arrived with five men and a policeman, but no trace of the robbers could be found."

BILLS HELD UP

Because They Were Not Itemized

Two bills were held up by the committee on accounts at a meeting held last night. Both bills were from the school department. One was an account with G. C. Prince & Son, and called for $145 for kindergarten supplies for twelve schools. The other bill was from F. S. Baldwin and amounted to $33.10. It was for the repair of curtains in schoolhouses. The bills were held up because they were not itemized and the committee returned them asking that they be itemized before being again presented.

RECEIVERS ARE NAMED

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 9.—Upon application of Louis K. Amy, Ernest J. G. Amy and the Continental Trust company, all of New York, Judge Cross in the United States district court here yesterday appointed Herman R. Harcourt of Elizabeth and Frank P. McDermott of Jersey City receivers for the American farm products company, which the petitioning creditors claim is insolvent.

The company is a large manufacturer and dealer of butter and lard plants in Illinois, Ohio and Michigan. The petition states that the company has defaulted in the payment of its interest on its bonded indebtedness in both January and July.

RESTELLI SUSPECT

Made Good His Escape at St. Georges Bay

QUINCY, Aug. 9.—A good part of yesterday was spent on the Restelli case in trying to find out "Who is Griffin?"

Griffin appeared in the case Saturday night, when he sent a telegram to Mayor Shea and Chief Inspector Watts of Boston, stating that Restelli was in Sydney, C. B., and was so cornered that escape was impossible. Griffin asked that instructions be wired him.

Mayor Shea sent the telegram to Chief Burrell and the latter wired Griffin to get in touch with the police of Sydney and also wired the police there to cooperate with Griffin.

The police here didn't know who Griffin was, but they weren't taking any chance of letting Restelli get by. Later additional telegrams were sent to both Griffin and the chief of police, but no answer was received until yesterday. Yesterday morning Griffin replied that the Sydney police would not cooperate with him and that the suspect left Sydney for Port aux Basques on the steamship Bruce at 10.30 Saturday night.

Chief Burrell was not willing to believe that the Sydney police refused to cooperate with Griffin in an important case, so he wired police headquarters at Sydney asking what had been done about the pursuit of Restelli. Yesterday afternoon Chief Duncan McEachern of Sydney replied:

"No pursuit of Restelli that I know of. No information about him here except Griffin said he was on train with him Friday night."

Just before this telegram came Griffin telegraphed Chief Burrell, saying: "Griffin is having a joke at expense of Canadian and American police." Later they will find the joke serious. Call up Chief Burrell, Lynn, Mass. Have Chief Burrell confer with James Coughlin as to character. Respectfully, "Griffin."

Chief Burrell was glad to get the tip, as he had been puzzled since Saturday to find out who his correspondent was. The chief communicated with the Lynn police, and from them learned that Griffin is a Lynn man who had done work in liquor investigations for the department. It is presumed here that Griffin may be on a vacation trip to Cape Breton and thought he saw Restelli on the train.

The authorities here say it is evident that there is some feeling between Griffin and the Sydney police about the case.

It is also believed, from Griffin's last telegram, that the Sydney papers are criticizing Griffin, and the latter has suggested to Chief Burrell that he look up Griffin's character in Lynn.

The man who was suspected by Griffin got away Saturday night after the Sydney police got the first telegram from Chief Burrell. The steamship Bruce arrived at Port aux Basques, N. F., at 6.30 Sunday morning. A train from Port aux Basques left at 6 o'clock and arrived at St. Georges Bay at 12.45 p. m., and from there all trace of the man suspected by Griffin was lost.

The U. S. consul at St. Johns, N. F., was wired to get the cooperation of the Newfoundland police in an attempt to find out who this suspect is. The police of the larger places in Newfoundland were sent circulars last week containing photographs and a description of Restelli.

No word was received yesterday from Inspector McKay, who has been in New York since Saturday, and it is supposed he is following a clue which he suggested in a telegram Sunday. Inspector McKay is working with the Italian-speaking detective of the New York police and Sunday he believed he was on the right track.

"JOKER" IN BILL

Law Grants Delay in the Big Land Cases

BEVERLY, Aug. 8.—A vigorous prosecution to reclaim title to a vast amount of Indian land in Oklahoma is being planned by the department of justice for the coming autumn.

One of the principal actions in prospect is to overcome the effect of an ingenious "joker," which was written into the Indian appropriation bill just before that measure was handed to the president for his signature.

The "joker" was discovered by Solicitor General Bowers, but it was agreed between the president and Mr. Bowers that it was too late to send the bill back to congress and that a means of offsetting the joker could be devised.

This "joker," which is now a law, granted the right of appeal to the U. S. supreme court in a case involving more than 30,000 acres of land which had been decided in favor of the government by the court of appeals of the eighth circuit.

As the matter had been taken into the circuit court on a demurrer the defendants had no right to appeal to the U. S. supreme court.

Delay Means Millions
It is the belief of the government officials that the authority to appeal was sought not with any idea that the case might be won in the court of final resort, but simply to gain a delay of a year or 18 months.

This belief is based on the fact that the lands involved are practically all coal and oil lands and every day that passes they are being stripped of these natural resources as fast as the coal can be mined and oil pumped.

A year and a half delay means millions to the claimants.

The plan to offset this move by the possessors of the land is to apply to the U. S. court in Oklahoma for a receiver for the lands just as soon as the autumn term begins. In this way the court will exercise full control over all the operations and secure the benefits to the final successful litigants.

Prominent Persons Involved

Investigating the contracts by which it is claimed the Indians have been defrauded of lands granted to them by the government, it is said, that the department of justice officials have unearthed a startling condition of affairs involving many well known persons, which will come out fully when the cases are heard.

The government is fighting the cases for the Indians and once they are claimed it is proposed to throw further protection out to them if congress can be prevailed upon to do so.

The defendants in some of the actions that are pending have offered unique legal propositions to be met by the government.

In the first place they claim that having granted the land to the Indians, the government has no constitutional right to restrict this land. The court of appeals decided against this claim, however.

Knows Sherman's Views

It is now claimed in another case that the Indians have been granted citizenship and have become citizens of the state and congress has no right to act respecting them.

A government is preparing a novel answer. It will be claimed that while Indians may have been granted the right of citizenship under the United States they do not become citizens under the 14th amendment, which will make them citizens of states, and therefore congress still has authority over them.

The 14th amendment provided that

The Harpoon led her division throughout and finished nearly four minutes in the lead, with the Bonlieu second. The Spokane was closely pressed and finished only about a minute and a half ahead of the Joyette.

AUTO HITS CAR

Three Injured in the Accident

STOCKBRIDGE, Aug. 9.—An automobile driven by Dr. H. W. Luchinsinger of Housatonic and containing Charles M. Hayden of Housatonic and three children, Helen and Caroline Luchinsinger, the doctor's daughters, and Inga Cook, a daughter of S. M. Cook of Glendale, ran into a northbound Berkshire trolley car at the McBurney crossing at 11:50 o'clock yesterday morning.

All of the occupants were thrown out of the automobile, the three girls being tossed to feet over a high fence upon a putting green of the Stockbridge golf course. Hayden received a probable concussion of the brain, Dr. Luchinsinger's hip was sprained and he was cut on the head and body. None of the children was badly hurt, although all three received bruises.

The auto struck the forward end of the trolley car with such force that the car tender was carried away. The automobile was ruined. Motorman Fred Finney and Conductor Harry Hawkins were in charge of the car. Mrs. Albert Daniels, a passenger on the car, jumped off when she heard the crash and her back was injured. The car took fire from the gasoline in the bucket brigade was formed and saved the car.

SENT TO PRISON

Man Found Guilty of Robbery

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—On the charge of robbing Dr. Antonio Vrahos, a physician of Grace hospital, of $12 in the Fenway on the night of June 23, James F. Crombie, 22 years old, of Brookline, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Sanderson to the state prison for a term of from 10 to 12 years.

Dr. Vrahos was sitting on one of the seats in the Fenway with a young woman named Margaret Gavin when two men approached and assaulted him, taking the money from him. He at once went to the street, and boarding a car went to station 13 and made complaint.

Upon his return to the Fenway Patrolman Flaherty accompanied him and other officers followed in the patrol wagon. In the meantime Crombie's associate made his escape. When Flaherty reached the spot he called upon Crombie to stop, and after he had fired several shots Crombie stopped and was overhauled.

He was indicted for robbery and also for assault with serious intent, but the latter charge was placed on file and on the robbery charge, to which he pleaded guilty, he was given the sentence announced above.

SERGT. MCCARTHY

LOWELL BOY HAS GONE TO CAMP

Lowell, Ohio
Sergeant W. H. McCarthy, who is at this time a member of the Salem (Mass.) Co. C. Second corp., left yesterday with the rifle team which will shoot at Camp Perry, Ohio. Sergeant McCarthy, while only a short time a member of the cadets, has through his prominence with the rifle attained a prominent position among the rifle experts of the state. Before becoming a cadet, Sgt. McCarthy served during the first years of his enlistment gave evidence, through his thorough marksmanship, of becoming one of the jerks of the state. It was after the expiration of his enlistment with the local company that he decided to become a more active worker with the rifle and therefore enlisted with the cadets. His marksmanship did not remain long in obscurity and promotion followed upon his being discovered.

The work of Sergeant McCarthy and Lieut. Burns, the other Lowell boy taking part in the shoot, will be watched keenly by the friends of both, and it is said, that during the days when both were members of the local companies a rivalry existed between them which has not been lived down although Sergeant McCarthy has not taken an active part in local shoots for some years.

BADLY BURNED

HAVERHILL WOMAN IS IN A SERIOUS CONDITION

HAVERHILL, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Veranda Basso, wife of Joseph Basso of 24 Grove street, was terribly burned at her home yesterday morning when her clothing caught fire from a gas range. She ran to the street, thereby fanning the flames. Neighbors pulled the burning dress from her back and pooled with it. The woman was taken to the Hahn hospital, where it is said she will die. Her two-month-old child, which was left in the kitchen, was rescued by neighbors before the fire reached it.

THE CITY COUNCIL

Meetings of Both Branches to be Held Tonight

Resolution That Lowell Citizens be Given Preference on City Work — Appropriations Committee to Hold a Session This Evening

There will be meetings galore at city hall tonight. Both branches of the city council will meet; the aldermen will hold an adjourned meeting and the council will meet in special session. The special session of the lower board is called for the purpose of cleaning matters up for vacation. Neither of the boards will meet again, perhaps, until September.

Councilman Charles F. Donahoe of ward four is a firm believer in the employment of local labor and just for that he will introduce the following resolution at tonight's meeting:

Resolution relating to employment of laborers and mechanics on municipal work.

That it be the sense of the city council that in the employment of laborers and mechanics on any municipal work, heads of departments should give preference to citizens of Lowell, and that in contract work, heads of departments should take every reasonable measure to require, wherever possible, that Lowell citizens be given preference when laborers and mechanics are employed.

Councilman Chapman will probably introduce an order for $10,000 as a starter for the Sheed park. Mr. Chapman believes, with many others, that it is best to start the Sheed park as soon as possible as it will require years to complete it.

Councilman Chapman will also introduce an ordinance providing for license on municipal autos. The ordinance will stipulate that the words "City of Lowell" must be worn on the hood, together with the name of the particular department and that the signs must be at all times displayed.

STORY OF MURDER

Was Told by Remington to a Female Nurse

William R. Remington, who positively declared that he is the murderer of Max Sorokian, who died from a bullet wound inflicted at the latter's grocery store, at 208 Harrison ave., on Sunday July 31, was placed in a cell in the city prison in Boston yesterday afternoon after Inspector Morris Wolf had taken record and written "suspected of murder" beside his name on the headquarters' journal.

Chief Inspector Joseph Dugan and Special Officer John F. Mitchell of division 4, arrested Remington, who is a state institution at Tewksbury yesterday morning after he had daily told them that he had killed the Hebrew storekeeper.

It was a female nurse at the hospital to whom Remington first confided that he was the slayer of Sorokian. His act, he told the woman, was premeditated on his mind and he was not equal with Sorokian, he declared. He wanted the reward, he added, his conscience was troubling him.

Remington left Tewksbury with the police at 12:10. He is a small fellow, 30 years old, and stated candidly to the chief of the detectives that the excessive use of various drugs had ruined his life. He has had no quarrel with Sorokian, he declared. He went to his shop to sell a revolver that he might secure money to purchase drugs, he said, and while there the revolver, which he was exhibiting, was discharged several times.

Calmly Re-enacts Scene
Remington and his police guard arrived at the North terminal station in Boston at 1:14. Desiring to experiment with him, the police took him to the scene of the tragedy, which the police heretofore have claimed was a suicide but which the relatives of the dead man have insisted was a murder.

When the party was within a block of Sorokian's little shop Dugan asked Remington if he knew where the store was and the latter walked ahead of him, pointing it out.

Entering the store Remington calmly re-enacted with a "dummy" pistol the scenes of nine days ago that ended in the death of the storekeeper. The man, who insists that he is a murderer, called his conversation with the storekeeper, indicated where Sorokian stood when he shot him and the position he held himself when he exhibited the gun and when he shot.

Dugan and Mitchell stood by absolutely silent as Remington reviewed the incidents that have caused him great mental pain and after he had described to them the type of revolver he used (and his description tallied with that of the weapon found in the store after the shooting of Sorokian was discovered), he was taken to police headquarters and formally placed under arrest.

Certain statements that Remington made will be investigated. Chief Dugan said, for purposes of corroboration. There are several persons, including a boy named Charles Broderick, who saw a man running away from the store of Sorokian immediately after the shooting, who will be asked to look at the man in custody.

Fined for Selling Cocaine

Remington is a native of Wabuna and has been employed on newspapers as a typewriter operator. Five years ago he began to use drugs, according to the statements he made to the police. Now, he says, he is unable to get along without them. His body is a mass of perforations as a result of many morphine injections.

In November of last year he was arrested on the complaint of agents of the Watch and Ward society for selling cocaine. A municipal court justice fined him $50, and being unable to pay he was forced to remain in jail for three months. His health improved while he was in custody and he left the jail weighing 140 pounds. Yesterday he weighed but 107 pounds, and is but a shadow of his former self.

Everything that Remington, who has been known as James Riley, said, was jotted down by Stenographer Heaver. Remington did not intend to kill the storekeeper, he asserts. He wanted money and went to the store, hoping that he could sell the revolver, and while exhibiting it to Sorokian, the latter began to shout. Remington said that he was in a terribly nervous condition himself at the time, owing to the fact that his lack of money had deprived him of drugs. He declared that he was standing so close to Sorokian that he is positive that at least two of the shots struck him.

Sticks to His Story

Associate Medical Examiner Walters, and Chief Dugan one week ago both firmly declared that Sorokian was a suicide. Yesterday Chief Dugan, figuring the state charge might be wishing to get into the limelight through the press, questioned him concerning what he had read relative to the Harrison avenue mystery. The police could not shake the story of Remington.

Remington lived at 30 Ash street, a short distance from the store of the man he claims to have killed. He was photographed and measured at police headquarters yesterday afternoon and after he had been locked up the police resumed their investigation.

According to Chief Inspector Joseph Dugan, Remington told such a circumstantial story that the police had the police felt justified in placing him under arrest. Three times Remington has secured admission to the hospital at Foxboro seeking a cure from the drug habit.

Remington was the picture of dejection as he was led to his cell in the early afternoon yesterday, but his confidence, he said, was clearer than it had been at any time since a week ago Sunday. His confession, it seemed, had lifted a great load from his mind.

Larceny Case Puzzles the Manchester Police

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 9.—The Myrtle street $1700 larceny case took on new proportions yesterday, when, following the arraignment of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berry and their being held in $2500 each for the grand jury, a third party, the mother of Mr. Berry, was locked up on suspicion of being an accessory after the fact.

Henry Berry and his wife, Angelina, were arraigned charged with larceny of $1700 from Mrs. Atwood, and through their counsel entered a plea of not guilty and waived examination. Bail was fixed at $2500 each, and when no sureties were forthcoming, they were booked for jail to await the sitting of the September grand jury.

Meanwhile, Berry's mother, Mrs. Mary Jennie Berry, of 42 Church street, had been brought to the station on suspicion. After Berry's alleged confession he took Detectives O'Dowd and Hampton to his mother's home on Church street to show them where the money was hidden, and after burrowing in the sand in the cellar bottom, procured a bundle amounting to $500 in $10-bills. Later the police found $40 at a place designated on the west side and another $10 in the Church street place, but $1150 of the amount Mrs. Atwood claims was stolen is still missing.

THE STATE CENSUS

Supt. Gettemy Expects Work to End On Sept. 1

Charles F. Gettemy, supervisor of the Massachusetts census, last evening issued the following statement explaining the delay in making public the Massachusetts figures as told in a Washington dispatch in yesterday morning's paper. Supervisor Gettemy's explanation is as follows:

"The statement in the Washington dispatch to the effect that the Massachusetts figures are being withheld to accommodate the state in some of its own statistical work," means only that the census office has virtually allowed the supervisor of Massachusetts to adopt such methods in checking up the work of the enumerators as the experience of our state censuses has demonstrated to be desirable.

"The Massachusetts district is the largest district in the whole country under the jurisdiction of one supervisor, which means that the supervisor of this state is responsible for more population and the supervision of a larger number of enumerators than any of the other 330 supervisors in the United States, and is obviously impossible to complete a large job as quickly as a small one.

"The census figures for Rhode Island, for example, which were announced some time ago, were based upon the work of, I believe, about 312 enumerators in that state, whereas we had more than 400 in Boston alone and a total of over 1000 in the state.

"The majority of supervisors throughout the country, indeed, I believe, have had not more than between 200 and 300 enumerators under them. Probably at the time the census figures were announced for Rhode Island the examinations of the work of a corresponding number of enumerators, or more, in Massachusetts had been completed, but they were for districts scattered all over the state.

Immense Amount of Detail

"The amount of detail work which is involved in properly checking up the work of so large a number of enumerators as we have in Massachusetts cannot be appreciated by any one who has not been through a census as part of its working machinery; and the particular methods to be adopted are left by the census office largely to the judgment of the supervisor.

"In Massachusetts this has involved scrutinizing each of the millions of entries on thousands of schedules reported by the enumerators throughout the state for the purpose of ascertaining whether the information called for has been properly entered; a comparison of the count as returned by the enumerators with the figures of the last census, wherever districts were comparable; a comparison of each one of the 1908 portfolios, some of which contained thousands of names each, with maps, directories, street books, etc., in the 33 cities and towns where maps could be procured, for the purpose of making reasonably certain that the enumerators have canvassed all the streets in their respective districts.

"This has been supplemented in many cases by further comparison with assessors' lists and in Boston with the police lists. There are, furthermore, about 300 officially listed institutions of various kinds in the Commonwealth—hospitals, jails, insane asylums, etc., which must be properly checked up, and this particular branch of the work has involved numerous complications which had to be straightened out, due to the fact that in some cases enumerators did not understand that they were to count the population of these institutions; and this, of course, had to be obtained before the population of a given district could be regarded as complete.

Expects to Finish Sept. 1

"If all the supervisor had to do was to forward the schedules to Washington as rapidly as the enumerators sent them in upon the normal completion of their field work, and only a count of the names as actually returned were involved, the announcement of results would be a very simple matter and could be made almost immediately; but the supplementary field and clerical work necessary to make sure that the enumeration has been complete as possible, and the incidental clerical work necessary to putting the schedules into proper shape for tabulation before being shipped to Washington, it will be seen, if carefully and conscientiously performed for the more than 1900 enumeration districts of the 33 cities and 321 towns of Massachusetts, something of a task.

"About 70 clerks have been rushing this work forward to completion as rapidly as possible, under the supervision of trained experts in census work. The heaviest part of this is now over; most of the portfolios have been shipped to Washington, but there still remains a considerable amount in the aggregate of cleaning-up work to be done here and there.

"In every census there is always a certain number of districts in which peculiar difficulties have arisen which must be straightened out before the work is in condition to be finally accepted, and while the great bulk of work in Massachusetts, so far as the supervisor is concerned, has been completed, it is obvious that so long as the portfolio of a single district in any given city or town is not in condition to forward, the population total for that city or town cannot be given out at the census office. The work is thus of such a character that while there are numerous unavoidable delays which temporarily impede its progress, it reaches its culmination very quickly, making it possible to complete the totals for a very large number of communities almost simultaneously.

"If I can get the last of the few remaining portfolios of the 1908 Massachusetts districts sent to Washington by Sept. 1 I shall be very well satisfied. This, I believe, will mark the completion of this stage of the census work in Massachusetts at a much earlier date than has usually been the case in the past, which has generally not been until late in the autumn or winter following the actual enumeration."

JOHN C. ROURKE

Honored by Members of Div. 8, A. O. H.

Division 8, A. O. H., held an interesting smoke talk and social in Hibernian hall last night in honor of their president, John C. Rourke, who has returned as a delegate from the national A. O. H. convention which was held in Portland, Oregon. There was a large attendance and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner.

One of the features of the evening was the presentation to President Rourke of a substantial purse of money showing the esteem in which he is held by the members of the division. The presentation speech was made by John W. McEvoy and President Rourke responded with appropriate remarks, thanking his brethren for their kindness.

Other presentations were made during the evening. Miss Helen Conway, of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the A. O. H., who was one of the most energetic workers during the recent bazaar given by the division, was presented a gold ring and Mrs. Patrick Sheridan, who also rendered valuable assistance at the bazaar, was presented a gold locket and chain.

After the presentations there were several addresses, among the speakers being Hon. James B. Casey and James O'Sullivan of this city; William J. Burke of Somerville, and Mrs. William J. Burke, state president of the A. O. H. Ladies' Auxiliary.

President Rourke gave a most interesting account of the national convention, which, he said, besides being most enjoyable, was productive of many excellent results.

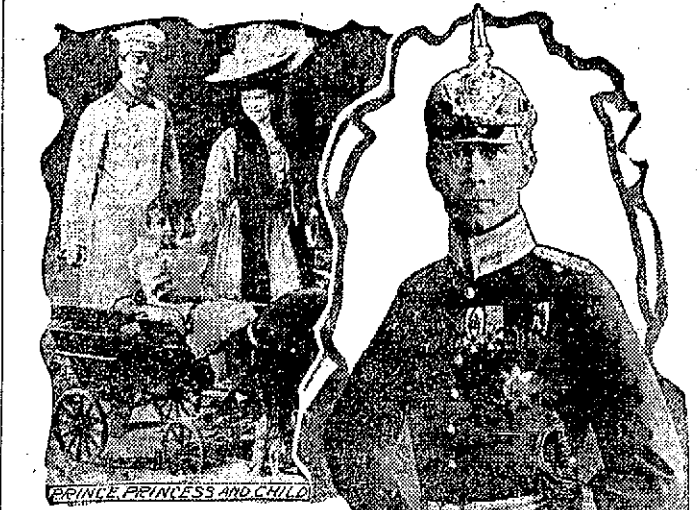

In the business session, presided over by Daniel F. Reilly, vice president, arrangements were made for the coming state parade and convention.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

"Way Out West." The attraction at Lakeview theatre this week, the glow of its first series of presentations last night to an appreciative audience.

GERMANY'S NEXT EMPEROR PLANS TOUR OF THE WORLD SOON

PEINLE PRINCESS AND CHILD

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Crown Prince Frederick William is to soon start on an official tour of the world, going first to India, China and Japan, as the personal representative of his father, Emperor William. Arrangements have been made for the reception of the heir to Germany's throne in India through the British foreign office. The complete program for the royal trip has not been made up, but it is practically settled that Prince William will enter the United States from a Pacific coast port and visit all important parts of the nation. Crown Princess Cecilie will not accompany him, it is now said. The mode of travel, whether it be by war vessel or regular passenger steamer, has not been announced.

CANNOT ENTER SALOONS

DENVER, Aug. 9.—An order was issued yesterday by the local fire and police boards prohibiting Salvation Army women entering saloons to solicit aid and sell their literature. The order is based on the theory that the practice is demoralizing as the girls are thrown into temptation.

GILLIS AFTER THE RECORD

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—John Gillis, a policeman of Vancouver, B. C., who is to take part in the national all-round athletic championships at Marshall field next Saturday, arrived yesterday much disappointed at Martin Sheridan's failure to enter as it was reported in Vancouver that the eastern star would participate.

Gillis is six feet four inches tall, weighs 170 pounds and is 26 years old. He is the tallest athlete entered. In a recent trial of ten events Gillis came within a few points of the record.

STATUE OF REED

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 9.—The pedestal on which will be placed the statue of former Speaker Reed is now in position on the western promenade and in a short time the bronze statue will be placed on it. In a few days the final details for the unveiling of this memorial on August 31 will be completed. The officers of the Memorial association are quite sure President Taft will be present but he has not as yet formally accepted the invitation.

that are found in the western melodrama, and then some more.

James Thatcher, who plays the role of the "westerner," played, as did Florence Parr, who also had a good part. Other members of the company who were good were Don Harold, Jack Rowe, Ben Johnson, Bob Lee, Francis Williams and Mrs. Don Harold. Matinees are given every day except Monday at 2:30, evenings at 8:15. Seats in advance can be secured at Carior and Sherburne's drug store.

CHELMSFORD

The residence of R. B. Harbour in High street, Chelmsford Centre, was entered by a burglar some time Sunday night, but so far as can be learned nothing was taken, the visitor apparently being in search of money, for silver and articles of value lying about were left untouched.

The contents of drawers and desks were overhauled and papers disarranged in the search. The occupants of the house heard unusual noises during the night, but the cause was not learned until morning.

NORWOOD CLUB RAIDED

LYNN, Aug. 9.—After watching the rooms of the Norwood club at 88 Willow street for a long time from the roofs of neighboring blocks, Officers Crowley and Sears of the Lynn police last night jimmied open a rear door and arrested ten men on a charge of being present where gambling impositions were. One man, who said he would jump out of the window, was persuaded to change his mind by the officers.

The apartment, which is in reality a flat, was stripped of its pool tables and all its furniture, valued at about $500. The raid was made at 9 o'clock, and up to a late hour friends of the arrested men were trying in all ways to get bail for them.

RAINFALL CAUSED FLOODS

TOKIO, Aug. 9.—A torrential rainfall that continued today has caused devastating floods principally in Shizuoka province on the southern coast. Hundreds of houses have been submerged and one occupied by a number of students in the province of Shizuoka was buried with its tenants beneath a landslide.

Washouts along the railway lines are reported and several trains have been derailed as a consequence.

NOTORIOUS BURGLAR ESCAPED

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 9.—An automobile was heard to pass the county jail just before midnight last night and Sheriff Dewey entertains the belief that this was the vehicle used in aiding the escape of Timothy A. Sheedy, the notorious burglar. The prisoner was under a thirty years' sentence, but as there is no room for more prisoners in the state prison he was being held in the county jail. Sheedy cut the steel bars of his cell, made his way through the corridor toward the north end of the prison and then passed through the hospital. There James Carroll, a short term prisoner, had sawed the bars from a window and both between the rounds of the watchman made their escape. Before the street was reached a ten-foot fence was scaled. Sheedy is a very dangerous man and had served long terms in various prisoners. He was armed with an automatic revolver when arrested here.

LAWRENCE ALDERMEN

Ask Court Aid In Order to Get a Mayor

LAWRENCE, Aug. 9.—One more effort to straighten out the majority situation in this city caused by the conviction of ex-Mayor William P. White to serve three years in the house of correction on a charge of conspiracy to bribe, was taken by the board of aldermen last night when they passed an order asking City Solicitor Daniel J. Murphy to apply for a writ of mandamus compelling acting Mayor Thomas M. Jordan, chairman of the board, to call a session of both branches of the city government for the purpose of electing a mayor.

Jordan has been serving as acting mayor since Mayor White's incarceration and subsequent resignation. Under the circumstances the city government must elect a successor, and a city statute says that no member of that body can be a legal candidate for the mayoralty. Jordan has so far failed to call a meeting to elect a successor to ex-Mayor White.

JORDAN TO EXPLAIN

LAWRENCE, Aug. 9.—Acting Mayor Jordan last night declined to give to the board of aldermen his reasons for ignoring the vote requesting him to call a session of the lower branch of the city council to hold a joint convention for the election of a successor as mayor to William P. White, resigned.

Alderman Moss, who raised the question, did not press the subject further than to ask if the acting mayor intended to give his reasons. The latter said that he would when he considered the proper time had arrived.

QUEER TANGLE

In Democratic Ranks in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 9.—The most remarkable political situation in the history of the democratic party in Texas exists since the result of the recent primaries was made known. O. B. Colquitt, the victor in the primary battle, was named through the activity of the anti-prohibitionists, while a majority of the delegates chosen to the state convention are in favor of state wide prohibition. The question of the platform on this subject makes the situation quite interesting, for the people have voted in favor of Mr. Colquitt, making the action of the state convention delegates almost mandatory. It cannot possibly endorse or run on a platform endorsing prohibition, and yet that is just what the delegates promised to do. It is a situation such as never before has arisen in Texas politics. Developments of a startling nature are not only possible, but in the opinion of many well informed and close observing people, they are highly probable. Of course some peace-maker who is equal to the momentous occasion may arise and quiet the threatening disturbance before it gets to the point of a volcanic outbreak, but at this time there seems to be little chance of any peaceful solution of the problem.

CRIPPEN'S MAIL

Held Up by the Jail Officials

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.—Letters and telegrams addressed to Dr. Crippen are accumulating at the provincial jail, but he is allowed to receive and answer only the cable messages from Arthur Newton, his London attorney, relating to the preparation of his defense at his approaching trial for murder.

Fully a dozen letters and many messages have never reached the prisoner, because Jailor Morin had adjudged them improper to deliver to a man in Crippen's situation.

All are from the United States or Canada, and most of them from attorneys, but at least one or two are enclosed in dainty square envelopes and addressed in distinctly feminine hands.

Inspector Dew returned to Quebec yesterday after a sightseeing trip in central Canada. He visited the jail yesterday afternoon and carried a cable message, but did not see the prisoner. Like others the message did not pass the censorship of the jailer and its contents have not been revealed.

During his absence the Scotland Yard inspector was not so successful as he hoped in preserving his incognito and his opinion of American newspapers does not improve. He expressed it freely when he found reporters still on the watch here, but otherwise he was uncommunicative as ever.

For the first time since her arrest, Miss Lennox asked yesterday for something to read. The jailer sent her some magazines. A fresh batch of magazines was also sent to Crippen, who reads omnivorously.

The French-American people of this city are very much enthused over the convention of L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique, which will open on Labor day.

A question which is being talked about, and even, is that of the official adoption of the Carillon or Sacred Heart flag to replace the French tricolor in the turning out of the union councils.

The Lowell delegates to the convention are: Joseph A. Proulx for Carillon council, substitute F. X. Dufort; Pierre A. Brousseau; J. N. Jacques; council, substitute Elphage Beaudet; J. B. Blouet for Laval council; substitute Omor Forest.

THE TAX RATE

Reduction of 10 Cents in Boston

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The assessors last night officially announced that the tax rate for 1910 was to be $15.40, of which $2.40 will be for the state, $1.10 for the county and $11.90 for the city. Of the $11.90 for the city, $2.54 will be for schools.

The total of the tax warrant was $22,557,612.42, of which $17,611,084.74 will be raised for the city, $1,499,049.24 for the county and $3,447,478.44 for the state.

The total valuation of real estate in the city was $1,115,939,100, which was a gain of $26,381,100 over last year. The total personal was $274,776,323, which was a gain of $19,400,000 over last year.

The total of real and personal for this year was $1,390,715,423, which showed a gain over last year of $14,817,196.

The total polls this year was 795,932, which is 6093 more than last year.

THAT SHE STOLE MONEY FROM MAN

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 9.—Miss Minnie White of Roxbury, Mass., young and ardent in the latest style of somber outing gowns, denied in court yesterday that she had hypnotized Francis Farney of 13 Pleasant street, Londonderry, and so stealthily transferred $100 of his cash from his pockets to her own possession that he failed to realize his loss for some time after.

A number of policemen said the girl confessed to taking the money, but said she did not recall where she had placed it for safe keeping.

In court Miss White denied that she took the $100 and she was sure she never told the police that she did so, even under coercion. She was held in $200 for trial Aug. 12.

BALDWIN HELD

Money Order Theft Is Charged

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The Boston post-office inspectors attach a good deal of importance to the arrest of William Baldwin, aged 30, at Greenwich, Conn., where he is charged with the theft of six blank money orders from the post-office at Romford, Conn.

The inspectors say Baldwin has several aliases, including William Walter Clay, Homer Chadwick and C. W. Woods.

The inspectors say Baldwin secured the money orders two weeks ago. They say he sent one to Shreve, Crump & Low of Boston, the other being for $100, and directed the firm to send him a gold watch valued at $35, a diamond ring valued at $50 and a watch chain at $10, making a total of $100.

The goods were sent and according to the inspectors were received by Baldwin. The firm recovered the watch, but the ring had been sold.

According to the inspectors Baldwin sent another order to a large department store on Washington street, Boston, asking that a suit of clothes, a traveling bag, shoes and various other things be sent him, amounting to the total of the order he had sent. The inspectors say Baldwin forged the name of the postmaster at Romford to the orders.

The second order he had sent to him at Stratford, Conn., but by the time the goods arrived the inspectors, whose suspicions had been aroused, were also on hand. Baldwin had gone to Greenwich.

Inspector Hosel and Rapp were on the lookout for Baldwin. The Boston end of the case was worked up by inspectors Perkins and H. W. Robinson.

Meanwhile the officers say Baldwin had sent to Daniel Lowe & Co., at Fall River, another postoffice order, but the firm misunderstood the order and wrote to the sender for further instructions. Before an answer was received they learned that the order was bogus.

When arrested Baldwin said he had lived at 127 Prospect street, Cambridge, but the inspectors say there is no such number on the street.

Baldwin will either be brought to Boston for arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Hayes, or taken to Hartford and there arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Marvin.

NARROW ESCAPE

Two Men Near Death at West Roxbury

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—James F. Sheehan, 39 Union park street and a man who was riding with him had a narrow escape from serious injury or death about 9.30 last evening, when Mr. Sheehan's automobile left the roadway on West street, West Roxbury, ran over level ground a distance of about 15 feet and then dashed down a decline, finally bringing up against a stone wall.

The car was overturned, throwing both men out clear of the car, they escaping with slight bruises. Before either could do anything to prevent the gasoline tank becoming ignited, and exploded, and in a flash the car was in flames and quickly destroyed.

An automobile party driving along the road stopped and went to the assistance of the two men and immediately ran their car back to box 563 and sent in an alarm. The firemen had a
